Theories and Methodologies in Postgraduate Feminist Research Rosemarie Buikema, Gabriele Griffin, Nina Lykke, 2012-03-29 This volume centers on theories and methodologies for postgraduate feminist researchers engaged in interdisciplinary research In the context of globalization this book gives special attention to cutting edge approaches at the borders between humanities and social sciences and specific discipline transgressing fields such as feminist technoscience studies Globally Networked Teaching in the Humanities Alexandra Schultheis Moore, Sunka Simon, 2015-04-10 As colleges and universities in North America increasingly identify internationalization as a key component of the institution's mission and strategic plans faculty and administrators are charged with finding innovative and cost effective approaches to meet those goals This volume provides an overview and concrete examples of globally networked learning environments across the humanities from the perspective of all of their stakeholders teachers instructional designers administrators and students By addressing logistical technical pedagogical and intercultural aspects of globally networked teaching this volume offers a unique perspective on this form of curricular innovation through internationalization It speaks directly to the ways in which new technologies and pedagogies can promote humanities based learning for the future and with it the broader essential skills of intercultural sensitivity communication and collaboration and critical thinking What's Wrong with Stereotyping? Erin Beeghly, 2025-02-20 What's Wrong with Stereotyping offers a refreshing and accessibly written philosophical take on the ethics of stereotyping Stereotyping is woven into every aspect of human experience conversation psychology algorithmic systems and culture It relates to generalization and induction core aspects of rationality But when and why it is morally wrong to stereotype This book tackles this deep and enduring puzzle To solve it Erin Beeghly delves into the relationship between stereotyping and another phenomenon discrimination Not only does stereotyping cause discriminatory treatment she argues stereotyping can itself be discriminatory This insight that to stereotype is to discriminate enables a novel philosophical methodology which builds towards a theory of wrongful stereotyping by analyzing the lived experiences of marginalized groups and existing theories of wrongful discrimination Core chapters evaluate important ethical wrongs the failure to treat persons as individuals disrespect harm prejudice threats to freedoms and the failure to treat persons as equals One finds that there is no essence of wrongful stereotyping a single property or set of properties that all problematic cases share in common Nor are the wrongs of stereotyping reducible to an elegant number two or three Instead wrongful stereotyping is a messy normative kind characterized by clusters of wrong making properties including all the ones noted here and perhaps more Readers will come away with a radically pluralistic open ended theory of wrongful stereotyping that they can use to identify wrongful stereotyping in their own lives and our contemporary world Filled with thought provoking examples and models for social change this book emphasizes the messiness of moral reality and the importance of looking to the past in order to understand the ethical perils of stereotyping Local Theories of

Argument Dale Hamble, 2021-03-25 Argumentation is often understood as a coherent set of Western theories birthed in Athens and developing throughout the Roman period the Middle Ages the Enlightenment and Renaissance and into the present century Ideas have been nuanced developed and revised but still the outline of argumentation theory has been recognizable for centuries or so it has seemed to Western scholars The 2019 Alta Conference on Argumentation co sponsored by the National Communication Association and the American Forensic Association aimed to question the generality of these intellectual traditions This resulting collection of essays deals with the possibility of having local theories of argument local to a particular time a particular kind of issue a particular place or a particular culture Many of the papers argue for reconsidering basic ideas about arguing to represent the uniqueness of some moment or location of discourse Other scholars are more comfortable with the Western traditions and find them congenial to the analysis of arguments that originate in discernibly distinct circumstances The papers represent different methodologies cover the experiences of different nations at different times examine varying sorts of argumentative events speeches court decisions food choices and sound explore particular personal identities and the issues highlighted by them and have different overall orientations to doing argumentation scholarship Considered together the essays do not generate one simple conclusion but they stimulate reflection about the particularity or generality of the experience of arguing and therefore the scope of our theories The programmes citizenship and women s studies Wendy R. Kohli,Nicholas C. Burbules,2012-07-01 The latest book in the Philosophy Theory and Educational Research series introduces the main philosophical and theoretical ideas of recent western feminisms as it applies to educational research Unlike other books that focus on these topics the authors present a balanced overview of the issues instead of pushing a particular perspective Feminisms and Educational Research Wendy R. Kohli,Nicholas C. Burbules,2011-12-29 Feminist theory has come a long way from its nascent beginnings no longer can it be classified as liberal socialist or radical It has shaped and evolved to take on multiple meanings and forms each distinct in its own perspective and theory In Feminisms and Educational Research the authors explore the various forms of feminisms tracing their history and their relation to gendered knowledge and identity Unlike other books on feminism the authors do not attempt to push that a particular theory is more correct than another but rather they give a complete overview of each of the forms of feminism The authors then couple the philosophical and theoretical ideas of western feminisms with the aims and conduct of educational research exploring how they interact and influence each other Focusing on more recent feminists both in education and related disciplines the book highlights illustrative examples from research to form a basis of understanding how the different feminisms have changed education The Politics of Method in the Human Sciences George Steinmetz,2005-05-16 Collection of new essays on the past present and future of positivism in the various social sciences International Handbook of Philosophy of Education Paul Smeyers,2018-06-09 This handbook presents a comprehensive introduction to the core areas of philosophy of education combined with an up to date selection of the central themes It includes 95 newly commissioned articles that focus on and advance key arguments each essay incorporates essential background material serving to clarify the history and logic of the relevant topic examining the status quo of the discipline with respect to the topic and discussing the possible futures of the field The book provides a state of the art overview of philosophy of education covering a range of topics Voices from the present and the past deals with 36 major figures that philosophers of education rely on Schools of thought addresses 14 stances including Eastern Indigenous and African philosophies of education as well as religiously inspired philosophies of education such as Jewish and Islamic Revisiting enduring educational debates scrutinizes 25 issues heavily debated in the past and the present for example care and justice democracy and the curriculum New areas and developments addresses 17 emerging issues that have garnered considerable attention like neuroscience videogames and radicalization The collection is relevant for lecturers teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in philosophy of education as well as for colleagues in teacher training Moreover it helps junior researchers in philosophy of education to situate the problems they are addressing within the wider field of philosophy of education and offers a valuable update for experienced scholars dealing with issues in the sub discipline Combined with different conceptions of the purpose of philosophy it discusses various aspects using diverse perspectives to do so Contributing Editors Section 1 Voices from the Present and the Past Nuraan Davids Section 2 Schools of Thought

Christiane Thompson and Joris Vlieghe Section 3 Revisiting Enduring Debates Ann Chinnery Naomi Hodgson and Viktor Johansson Section 4 New Areas and Developments Kai Horsthemke Dirk Willem Postma and Claudia Ruitenberg Global Development, Ethics, and Epistemic Injustice Anna Malavisi, 2022-12-31 Global Development Ethics and Epistemic Injustice Rethinking Theory and Practice presents a critical analysis of global development from a perspective that is both theoretical and practical addressing both ethical and epistemic issues Offering a unique perspective from having worked as a practitioner in global development for several years then left the practice to ponder the deep ethical issues that shadow global development Anna Malavisi argues that one of the problems in global development today is the absence of an ethical analysis ethics in development today is overshadowed by economic and political interests as well as national self interest The book describes how Chagas disease as a Neglected Tropical Disease continues to plague vulnerable populations in poorer countries such as Bolivia due to a very limited way in how it has been conceived understood and addressed Malavisi offers a strong ethical approach comprising a feminist methodology a social ethical praxis political responsibility epistemic justice and deep green theory A strong ethical approach is necessary to address Chagas Disease as well as other development problems in a more effective way Mapping Israel, Mapping Palestine Jess Bier, 2017-06-30 Digital practices in social and political landscapes Why two researchers can look at the same feature and see different things Maps are widely believed to be objective and data rich computer made maps are iconic examples of digital knowledge It is often claimed that digital maps and rational boundaries can solve political conflict But in Mapping Israel Mapping Palestine Jess Bier challenges the view that digital maps are universal and value free She examines the ways that maps are made in Palestine and Israel to show how social and political landscapes shape the practice of science and technology How can two scientific cartographers look at the same geographic feature and see fundamentally different things In part Bier argues because knowledge about the Israeli military occupation is shaped by the occupation itself Ongoing injustices including checkpoints roadblocks and summary arrests mean that Palestinian and Israeli cartographers have different experiences of the landscape Palestinian forms of empirical knowledge including maps continue to be discounted Bier examines three representative cases of population governance and urban maps She analyzes Israeli population maps from 1967 to 1995 when Palestinian areas were left blank Palestinian state maps of the late 1990s and early 2000s which were influenced by Israeli raids on Palestinian offices and the legacy of British colonial maps and urban maps after the Second Intifada which show how segregated observers produce dramatically different maps of the same area The geographic production of knowledge including what and who are considered scientifically legitimate can change across space and time Bier argues that greater attention to these changes and to related issues of power will open up more heterogeneous ways of engaging with the world Family and Gendered Violence and Conflict Ruchi Sinha, Pekham Basu, 2024-11-19 This reference work collates academic discourses and practices around family gender and violence in social work A huge body of discourse is available that categorizes and labels

acts of violence and correspondingly practices that pin blame responsibility for the violence These have led to evolution of intervention strategies to resolve or address the violence Some explanations foreground systemic causes others look at person centric causes The two views bring forth the fundamental ontological divide of structuralism and individualism The question for social workers to debate is what to factor in while working with families experiencing violence and conflict What amongst the person the agency or the structure needs to be addressed to understand the experience of families in conflict and violence Are these positions supplementary complementary or to be understood reflexively With the inclusion of new families the parochial understanding of families has long been dislodged and given way to newer radical and contextual understanding of families Similarly different people agencies and states understand violence and conflict differently Gender too has moved from the binaries of male and female to the gender diverse LGBTQIA identities The book positions the ontological premise on which the epistemological practise is located Simply put the person centric ontology on families and violence epistemologically finds understanding in agency based approaches in individual agency whereas the structure based approaches find the experience of families and violence in society state and the world order The contributors locate their work around identification definition an intervention or empirical study policy analysis historical evolution of concepts and ontological and paradigmatic debates to position their individual chapters Family and Gendered Violence and Conflict Pan Continent Reach provides a paradigmatic prism for practice for social workers who are equipped to interpret context differently The differing and competing paradigmatic lenses cannot be mediated resolved or addressed but they definitely can be understood and debated to provide a 360 degree lens on the issues of families in violence in the gendered context The reference work is a useful resource for social work practitioners educators academicians researchers and other development professionals
