Martin, 2019-05-17 Cardio oncology is a medical subspecialty concerned with the diagnosis and treatment of cardiovascular disease CVD and organ failure mediated by micro to macro circulation defects in cancer patients and survivors The risk of CVD in cancer survivors is eight times higher than the general population and the relative risk of coronary artery disease and heart failure HF is 10 times and 15 times higher respectively compared to their siblings without cancer It is important to note that cancer treatments including chemotherapy and radiation can lead to both short 1 year and long term 5 years

cardiovascular complications Previously Dr Edward T H Yeh initiated the MD Anderson Practice MAP project and published 16 MAPs to provide the current best practice we considered at UT MD Anderson As shown in these MAPs one of the key issues of cardio oncology practice and science is how we can allow cancer patients to receive maximum and uninterrupted treatments for cancer while protecting them from cancer therapy mediated cardiovascular complications Therefore it is crucial to understand not only pathophysiology of CVD but also mechanistic insights of how each cancer treatment can control cancer growth and metastasis Without having the profound knowledge in the pathophysiological clinical and epidemiologic aspects of cardiovascular complications of existing cancer therapy it is impossible to establish the strong evidence based strategies and approaches for both short and long term cardiovascular complications after cancer treatment In addition we believe that cardio oncology science should not be restricted to deal with the side effects of each specific cancer drug because many common cardiovascular phenotypes among the different cancer treatments are also observed This Research Topic provides a comprehensive overview from both of the current research and practice and a platform for obtaining the logical and up to date treatment and prevention of CVD in cancer patients and survivors Health

The idea of producing this book of case histories from general family practice was only a twinkle in the editors eyes until October 1980 when in a room in the Marriott Hotel in New Orleans the editors met with John Fry Joseph Levenstein and Bill Jackson to discuss new book projects The idea was put to the group which endorsed it enthusiastically Encouraged by this and by John Fry's advice the conception of The Nature of General Family Practice took place. It was agreed that to illustrate the universal nature of general family practice it would be useful to collect case histories from all around the world that for preference they should be brief and that they should be accompanied by major questions and sub questions but no answers. The name Vignettes was applied to these cases and their questions. Subsequently well over a hundred family physicians were asked by letter to provide ten vignettes. Sixty doctors from ten countries accepted the invitation and forwarded their contributions during the second half of 1981. Almost all of those who for a variety of reasons were unable to contribute said they liked the idea and looked forward to using the final product. Altogether over 600 vignettes were received and 583 selected for final inclusion.
