The Rise of an African Middle Class Michael O. West, 2002-08-19 An in depth look at Africans who challenged the status quo in colonial Zimbabwe Impeccable and original scholarship American Historical Review Tracing their quest for social recognition from the time of Cecil Rhodes to Rhodesia's unilateral declaration of independence Michael O West shows how some Africans were able to avail themselves of scarce educational and social opportunities in order to achieve some degree of upward mobility in a society that was hostile to their ambitions Though relatively few in number and not rich by colonial standards this comparatively better off class of Africans challenged individual and social barriers imposed by colonialism to become the locus of protest against European domination This extensive and original book opens new perspective into relations between colonizers and colonized in colonial Zimbabwe Offers an extremely sophisticated nuanced view of the social and political construction of an African middle class in colonial Zimbabwe Elizabeth Schmidt

Missions and Empire Norman Etherington, 2005-07-14 The explosive expansion of Christianity in Africa and Asia during the last two centuries constitutes one of the most remarkable cultural transformations in the history of mankind Because it coincided with the spread of European economic and political hegemony it tends to be taken for granted that Christian missions went hand in hand with imperialism and colonial conquest In this book historians survey the relationship between Christian missions and the British Empire from the seventeenth century to the 1960s and treat the subject thematically rather than regionally or chronologically Many of these themes are treated at length for the first time relating the work of missions to language medicine anthropology and decolonization Other important chapters focus on the difficult relationship between missionaries and white settlers women and mission and the neglected role of the indigenous evangelists who did far more than European or North American missionaries to spread the Christian religion belying the image of Christianity as the white man s religion

In the Footsteps of the Masters

Dickson Mungazi, 2000-02-28 The height of colonial rule on the African continent saw two prominent religious leaders step to the fore Desmond Tutu in South Africa and Abel Muzorewa in Zimbabwe Both Tutu and Muzorewa believed that Africans could govern their own nations responsibly and effectively if only they were given the opportunity In expressing their religious views about the need for social justice each man borrowed from national traditions that had shaped policy of earlier church leaders Tutu and Muzorewa argued that the political development of Africans was essential to the security of the white settlers and that whites should seek the promotion of political development of Africans as a condition of that future security Desmond Tutu and Abel Muzorewa were both motivated by strong religious principles They disregarded the possible personal repercussions that they might suffer as a result of their efforts to alter the fundamental bases of their colonial governments Each man hoped to create a new national climate in which blacks and whites could cooperate to build a new nation Each played a part in eventual independence for Zimbabwe in 1980 and for South Africa in 1994 Mungazi s examination of their efforts reveals how individuals with strong convictions can make a difference in shaping the future of their nations

Education and Development in Zimbabwe Edward Shizha, Michael T. Kariwo, 2012-01-01 The book represents a contribution to policy formulation and design in an increasingly knowledge economy in Zimbabwe It challenges scholars to think about the role of education its funding and the egalitarian approach to widening access to education The nexus between education democracy and policy change is a complex one The book provides an illuminating account of the constantly evolving notions of national identity language and citizenship from the Zimbabwean experience The book discusses educational successes and challenges by examining the ideological effects of social political and economic considerations on Zimbabwe s colonial and postcolonial education Currently literature on current educational challenges in Zimbabwe is lacking and there is very little published material on these ideological effects on educational development in Zimbabwe This book is likely to be one of the first on the impact of social political and economic meltdown on education The book is targeted at local and international academics and scholars of history of education and comparative education scholars of international education and development undergraduate and graduate students and professors who are interested in educational development in Africa particularly Zimbabwe Notwithstanding the book is a valuable resource to policy makers educational administrators and researchers and the wider community Shizha and Kariwo s book is an important and illuminating addition on the effects of social political and economic trajectories on education and development in Zimbabwe It critically analyses the crucial specifics of the Zimbabwean situation by providing an in depth discourse on education at this historical juncture The book offers new insights that may be useful for an understanding of not only the Zimbabwean case but also education in other African countries Rosemary Gordon Senior Lecturer in Educational Foundations University of Zimbabwe Ranging in temporal scope from the colonial era and its elitist legacy through the golden era of populist universal elementary education to the disarray of contemporary socioeconomic crisis covering elementary through higher education and touching thematically on everything from the pernicious effects of social adjustment programmes through the local deprofessionalization of teaching this text provides a comprehensive wide ranging and yet carefully detailed account of education in Zimbabwe This engagingly written portrayal will prove illuminating not only to readers interested in Zimbabwe s education specifically but more widely to all who are interested in how the sociopolitical shapes education how ideology policy international pressures economic factors and shifts in values collectively forge the historical and contemporary character of a country s education Handel Kashope Wright Professor of Education University of British Columbia

development of societies is an important life perspective that is promoted by families institutions and governments In today s globalized world this reality may presume a worldwide platform where what is termed knowledge societies could gain at the expense of the educationally less endowed There is also the case where postcolonial systems of education in Africa Asia Latin America and other places did not lead to the expected social and technological progress that was promised with independence The 17 chapters in this volume attempt to analyze these complex and interlinked contexts of education and development The book contains important criticisms of the historical developments of education the meanings and changing intersections of development schooling citizenships and their exclusions and the important interplays of globalization knowledge culture and languages Beyond the theoretical focus the book examines learning systems and possibilities in specific regions and countries of the world These include Africa with a specialized focus on women s education and advancement as well as individual country studies on Ghana Burkina Faso Zimbabwe and Somalia In the Asian context the specific chapters analyze the training of teachers in China and women s education and education and the caste system in India These are complemented by select treatments of education and social development in Chile in South America postcolonial post communist Europe Russia and the Caribbean region Together the book s contents should selectively respond to some of the most important social and educational development ideas and debates in our world today

The Last British Liberals in Africa Dickson Mungazi,1999-05-30 A study of the clash of two traditions British liberalism and African nationalism and an examination of how Michael Blundell in Kenya and Garfield Todd in Zimbabwe used their liberal backgrounds to further the future of their adopted countries despite threats and detention Both Blundell and Todd believed that political leaders had a responsibility to serve the needs of the people as a condition of national development By the time each came to power European colonization had had a profoundly negative effect on the lives of Africans Blundell and Todd sought to correct this by putting their positive views of Africans into practice While colonial governments designed strategies for controlling Africans to serve political and economic interests at home in Europe Africans themselves established their own effective strategy not only to ensure their survival in the colonial setting but also to initiate a process for the restoration of their sense of self Michael Blundell and Garfield Todd with their liberal beliefs served as excellent allies in this period of a rising African consciousness Using sources obtained in Kenya and Zimbabwe over the past 15 years this work examines democratic traditions that have survived tumultuous times in recent years

Zimbabwe's Economy Kenneth Mahuni,James Zivanomoyo,Puruweti Siyakiya,Simba Mutsvangwa,2025-02-17 This book traces the economic history of Zimbabwe from independence to the present day Through a comprehensive historical examination it highlights the short lived successes in the early years after independence and the dwindling colonial economy as well as the economic problems of the decades that followed The authors identify crucial flaws in the country s economic policies and highlight several dilemmas in the implementation of policies that exacerbated the country s deep seated structural problems The book provides deep insights into the economic and social realities of post colonial states in Africa and offers important lessons for other African countries

International Handbook of Urban Education William T. Pink, George W. Noblit, 2008-09-03 It is evident that urban education has become the central focus of educators at the present time In the U S for example almost one third of all school age children attend schools in large urban school districts It is in these urban schools where the diversity of cultures and languages is highest and where student learning is most problematic What has emerged from recent work to improve urban schools is the insight that there is no one size fits all panacea Rather we have discovered that the local context shapes in critically important ways what will be effective at the school level The universality of the problematics with urban education together with the importance of understanding the local or situated context of improvement interventions brings into sharp focus the importance and timeliness of an undertaking like the International Handbook of Urban Education An important focus of the International Handbook of Urban Education will be the interrogation of both the social and political factors that lead to different problem posing and subsequent solutions within each region An important question to be answered for example is what it takes in terms of resources political will and policy actions to improve urban education Race,

Resistance, and the Boy Scout Movement in British Colonial Africa Timothy H. Parsons, 2004-11-01 Conceived by General Sir Robert Baden Powell as a way to reduce class tensions in Edwardian Britain scouting evolved into an international youth movement It offered a vision of romantic outdoor life as a cure for disruption caused by industrialization and urbanization Scouting's global spread was due to its success in attaching itself to institutions of authority As a result scouting has become embroiled in controversies in the civil rights struggle in the American South in nationalist resistance movements in India and in the contemporary American debate over gay rights In Race Resistance and the Boy Scout Movement in British Colonial Africa Timothy Parsons uses scouting as an analytical tool to explore the tensions in colonial society Introduced by British officials to strengthen their rule the movement targeted the students juvenile delinquents and urban migrants who threatened the social stability of the regime Yet Africans themselves used scouting to claim the rights of full imperial citizenship They invoked the Fourth Scout Law which declared that a scout was a brother to every other scout to challenge racial discrimination Parsons shows that African scouting was both an instrument of colonial authority and a subversive challenge to the legitimacy of the British Empire His study of African scouting demonstrates the implications and far reaching consequences of colonial authority in all its guises The Politics of Economic Reform in Zimbabwe Tor

Skalnes, 2016-07-27 In 1990 Zimbabwe embarked on economic liberalisation The country's economic associations notably that erstwhile proponent of protectionism the Confederation of Zimbabwe Industries had successfully lobbied for gradual reform While state autonomy has often been regarded as a vital condition for reform in Zimbabwe societal groups have induced an initially recalcitrant government to reconsider its basic policies After 1980 the government tried to limit political competition However because of the perceived need for racial reconciliation following the guerrilla war it maintained dialogue with settler dominated interest groups along the pattern of societal corporatism established in the 1930s By contrast African associations particularly labour unions have regularly been subjected to regimentation The government however has listened more closely to the demands of African farmers who want to preserve parastatal marketing and governmental determination of prices In Zimbabwe key urban groups support liberalisation while key rural groups do not Theories of urban bias must therefore be qualified The International Journal of African Historical Studies ,1989

African Education and Globalization Ali A. Abdi,Korbla P. Puplampu,George Jerry Sefa Dei,2006-01-01 Containing both theoretical discussions of globalization and specific case analyses of individual African countries this collection of essays examines the intersections of African education and globalization with multiple analytical and geographical emphases and intentions The Challenge of Educational Innovation and National Development in Southern Africa Dickson A. Mungazi,1991 This study shows that the problems of national development in Southern Africa that part of Africa south of the Equator are caused primarily by the absence of educational innovation The steady decline of the economy political conflict and social disintegration are intimately related to the lack of innovation in education The book begins by discussing the problems of contemporary Southern Africa as a legacy of the policies defined and pursued by the colonial governments The unwillingness of the colonial governments to operate by democratic principles influenced their replacements African leaders who found it politically expedient to perpetuate this practice This created the enormous problems that Southern Africa now faces Educational innovation would help to resolve these problems
