Developmental State of Africa in Practice Steve Kayizzi-Mugerwa, Charles Leyeka Lufumpa, 2020-12-03 This book is the product of research undertaken at the African Development Bank AfDB on the lessons that the continent of Africa can draw from the role of the state in Asia's rapid economic development in the last 50 years The book applies a cross national comparative framework to analyse Africa's performance drawing broadly on the developmental states of Asia i.e Japan China India Vietnam etc with focus on South Korea The book argues that for Africa to replicate Asia's developmental success it may require more than just tweaking the public sector machinery Dedicated institutions and a citizenry capable of demanding accountability from governments must become key ingredients of the development strategy The book also provides insight into the learning experiences of Asia in addressing key national policy challenges i.e land reform and quality of public administration at the federal and local levels enhancing technical skills boosting capabilities for sciences engineering and mathematics and industrialization

Economic and Social Development in South China Stewart MacPherson, Joseph Yu-Shek Cheng, 1996-01-01 Economic and Social Development in South China brings together research by a pioneering team of academic researchers and includes statistical data on the Pearl River Delta as well as analysis of the metropolitan development in Guangzhou municipal city civil service reform and social policy in Shenzhen Guangzhou's municipal leadership and the basic level elections in the region since 1979 Other issues discussed include foreign outward direct investment from Guangdong the creation of effective environmental law foreign investment in Guangdong and the emergence of private education in the Pearl River Delta Southern China's creative approaches to the difficulties and problems encountered since reforms began in the 1970s is rigorously analysed and explored by scholars with exceptional access to local sources and data Economic and Social Development in South China shows how the use encouraged by the authorities of competing models of economic development will influence and shape the future of the country as a whole

Welfare Regimes in South-Eastern Europe Michael Sauer, 2015 This dissertation is a contribution to comparative welfare state research It offers an account of labor market and long term care policies in Serbia and Croatia and it illuminates issues that have thus far not been at the center of international research interest despite the pressing need The book provides a comprehensive picture of the structures processes and key challenges as well as respective links to recommended reforms Dissertation Series Human and Social Affairs in the EU Mensch und Sozialordnung in der EU Vol 3 Subject Sociology European Studies Labor Studies

Education in South Asia and the Indian Ocean Islands Hema Letchamanan, Debatri Dhar, 2017-12-14 Education in South Asia and the Indian Ocean Islands is a critical reference guide to development of education in Bangladesh Bhutan India Nepal Sri Lanka Comoros Islands Maldives Mauritius Seychelles and Zanzibar The chapters provide an overview of the education system in each country focusing particularly on contemporary education policies and some of the problems countries in this region face during the processes of development

Key themes include the practice of implementation of educational policy and the impact of global and local educational decisions on societies. Due to the demographic scale and the cultural diversity of India, the volume contains a particularly extensive coverage of the distinctive educational issues in this country. Including a comparative introduction to the issues facing education in the region as a whole, this book is an essential reference for researchers, scholars, international agencies and policy makers.

Skills for Human Development Lesley Joy Powell, Simon McGrath, 2019-03-15. Focusing on reimagining the purpose of vocational education and training (VET) and grounded in the reality of a small cohort of young South Africans and an institution seeking to serve them, Skills for Human Development moves beyond the inadequacies of the dominant human capital orthodoxy to present a rich theoretical and practical alternative for VET. Offering a human development and capability approach, it brings social justice to the forefront of the discussion of VET's purpose at the national, institutional and individual levels. In doing so, this book insists that VET should be about enlarging people's opportunities to live a flourishing life rather than simply being about narrow employability and productivity. It argues that human development approaches, while acknowledging the importance of work in its broadest sense, offer a better way of bringing together VET and development than the current human capital inspired orthodoxy. Offering a transformative vision for skills development, this book considers the potential contribution skills development could make to broader human development as well as to economic development. Points to an alternative approach to the current and flawed deficit assumptions of VET learners. Presents for the first time an alternative evaluative frame for judging VET purpose and quality. Presents a timely account of current vocational and education training that is high on the agenda of international policymakers. Taking a broad perspective, Skills for Human Development presents a comprehensive and unique framework which bridges theory, policy and practice to give VET institutions a new way of thinking about their practice and VET policymakers a new way of engaging with global messages of sustainable human development. It is a vital resource for those working on the human development and skills approach in multiple disciplines and offers a grounding framework for international policymakers interested in this growing area.

The Delusion of Knowledge Transfer Susanne Koch, Peter Weingart, 2016-12-13. With the rise of the knowledge for development paradigm, expert advice has become a prime instrument of foreign aid. At the same time, it has been object of repeated criticism: the chronic failure of technical assistance, a notion under which advice is commonly subsumed, has been documented in a host of studies. Nonetheless, international organisations continue to send advisors promising to increase the effectiveness of expert support if their technocratic recommendations are taken up. This book reveals fundamental problems of expert advice in the context of aid that concern issues of power and legitimacy rather than merely flaws of implementation. Based on empirical evidence from South Africa and Tanzania, the authors show that aid-related advisory processes are inevitably obstructed by colliding interests, political pressures and hierarchical relations that impede knowledge transfer and mutual learning. As a result, recipient governments find themselves caught in a perpetual cycle of dependency continuously advised by experts who convey the shifting paradigms and agendas of their respective donor governments For young democracies the persistent presence of external actors is hazardous ultimately it poses a threat to the legitimacy of their governments if their policy making becomes more responsive to foreign demands than to the preferences and needs of their citizens      The Delusion of Knowledge Transfer Susanne Koch, Peter Weingart, 2016-12-13 With the rise of the knowledge for development paradigm expert advice has become a prime instrument of foreign aid At the same time it has been object of repeated criticism the chronic failure of technical assistance a notion under which advice is commonly subsumed has been documented in a host of studies Nonetheless international organisations continue to send advisors promising to increase the effectiveness of expert support if their technocratic recommendations are taken up This book reveals fundamental problems of expert advice in the context of aid that concern issues of power and legitimacy rather than merely flaws of implementation Based on empirical evidence from South Africa and Tanzania the authors show that aid related advisory processes are inevitably obstructed by colliding interests political pressures and hierarchical relations that impede knowledge transfer and mutual learning As a result recipient governments find themselves caught in a perpetual cycle of dependency continuously advised by experts who convey the shifting paradigms and agendas of their respective donor governments For young democracies the persistent presence of external actors is hazardous ultimately it poses a threat to the legitimacy of their governments if their policy making becomes more responsive to foreign demands than to the preferences and needs of their citizens      Reorienting Educational Efforts for Sustainable Development Rajeswari Namagiri Gorana, Preeti Rawat Kanaujia, 2016-07-01 Education in South Asia has a renewed agenda which can enable societies to leapfrog development that is sustainable such that the individual is prepared for his her involvement responsibility and commitment to local and global discussions of our common future This book on South Asia will focus on initiatives under the Education for Sustainable Development ESD umbrella and discuss the challenges opportunities issues and strategies in the countries of the region It presents these initiatives of Environmental Education ESD vis vis the administrative economic social cultural and ecological realities of each country at various levels of policy planning implementation and evaluation The discussions in this book extend beyond formal education systems like schools higher education pre service and in service teacher preparation to community education and education initiatives conceptualized with the goal of sustainability All initiatives will demonstrate how each country in its own pace contributing to move ESD from the periphery to the core of education initiatives
