Education For A Change:

Change Forces Michael Fullan, 2012-11-12 Knowledge of the processes of educational change is said to be the missing ingredient in attempts to bring about educational innovation and reform Whether these efforts involve grass roots innovation or large scale societal reform failure to understand and act on existing knowledge of the change process has accounted for the widespread lack of success in making educational improvements This volume analyzes what is known about successful or productive change processes and identifies corresponding action strategies at the individual school local and state levels Included in this book is a major treatment of the topic of the ethics of planned change a neglected topic in recent literature especially since strategies for intervening in the change process are receiving more attention This book is intended to be used by teachers in training and in service teacher trainers educational researchers education historians and administrators

Education for Social Change Douglas Bourn, 2021-12-16 This book introduces students to education as a vehicle for social change Douglas Bourn begins by providing historical context of how education has been linked to social change around the world and moves on in the second section of the book to discuss potential theoretical and conceptual frameworks for thinking about education for social change The third section covers how social change has been explored and promoted within different areas of learning including schooling youth work and higher education The fourth section looks at the opportunities and challenges for promoting education for social change and reviews current international initiatives including those of global citizenship and climate change Key theorists are introduced throughout the book including bell hooks Dewey Giroux Gramsci and Freire Each chapter begins with an opening question and ends with bulleted concluding points questions for discussion and a further reading list The book includes a foreword written by Tania Ramalho State University of New York USA

Can Education Change Society? Michael W. Apple, 2013 Despite the vast differences between the Right and the Left over the role of education in the production of inequality one common element both sides share is a sense that education can and should do something about society to either restore what is being lost or radically alter what is there now The question was perhaps put most succinctly by the radical educator George Counts in 1932 when he asked Dare the School Build a New Social Order challenging entire generations of educators to participate in actually to lead the reconstruction of society Over 70 years later celebrated educator author and activist Michael Apple revisits Counts now iconic works compares them to the equally powerful voices of minoritized people and again asks the seemingly simply question of whether education truly has the power to change society In this groundbreaking work Apple pushes educators toward a more substantial understanding of what schools do and what we can do to challenge the relations of dominance and subordination in the larger society This touchstone volume is both provocative and honest about the ideological and economic conditions that groups in society are facing and is certain to become another classic in the canon of Apple's work and the literature on education more generally in Developing Countries and Indigenous Peoples in Developed Countries Gaëtane Jean-Marie, Steve Sider, Charlene Desir, 2015-07-01 Democratizing educational access and building capacity in developing countries and amongst indigenous peoples in developed countries may be elusive but are hopeful goals Many developing countries are striving to reengineer their incoherent education systems at a time when they are most vulnerable particularly with susceptibility to natural disasters political unrests and economic instabilities UNESCO 2007 Similarly indigenous peoples in developed countries are seeking more control over education as they consider the long term effects of educational policies that have been forced on them Research on education and social change in developing countries has a long history Glewwe 2002 Hanushek 1995 Sider 2011 However there is limited research on educational capacity building in developing countries such as Kenya Honduras Haiti Ghana Hong Kong India Peru China and Thailand Further the educational frameworks by which Indigenous peoples M ori Canada s First Nations and American Indian Alaska Natives have been educated have some significant similarities to those encountered in developing countries The compilation of chapters illuminates research and collaborative initiatives between the authors and local leaders in developing countries and Indigenous peoples in developed countries efforts to solve the complexity of social inequities through educational access and quality learning The authors draw on theoretical lens knowledge bases and strategies and identify trends and developments to provide the scope of educational improvement in a globalization context Brooks Jean Marie Normore Brooks 2009

Emancipatory Change in US Higher Education

Kenneth R. Roth, Felix Kumah-Abiwu, Zachary S. Ritter, 2022-12-07 This edited volume explores and deconstructs the possibilities of higher education beyond its initial purpose The book contextualizes and argues for a more robust interrogation of persistent patterns of campus inequality driven by rapid demographic change reduced public spending in higher education and an increasingly polarized political landscape It offers contemporary views and critiques ideas and practices such as micro aggressions implicit and explicit bias and their consequences in reifying racial and gender based inequalities on members of nondominant groups The book also highlights coping mechanisms and resistance strategies that have enabled members of nondominant groups to contest primarily racial and gender based inequity In doing so it identifies new ways higher education can do what it professes to do better in all ways from providing real benefit to students and communities while also setting a bar for society to more effectively realize its stated purpose and creed
