Elements Of Ethology:

Elements of Ethology D. Wood-Gush, 2012-12-06 The object of this book is to introduce ethology to agricultural and veterinary students Today ethology covers many approaches to the study of animal behaviour which are connected by one unifying concept all behaviour must be considered in relation to the ecology and evolutionary history of the species under investigation This may seem to some to put domesticated animals beyond the scope of classical ethology but while domestication has involved some behavioural changes we shall see that much of the behaviour of our species of farm livestock differs little from that of their putative ancestors It is assumed that students using this book will already have studied some physiology It is also assumed that they are essentially practically minded and with this factor in mind I have discussed behaviour in terms of its function introducing the principles of ethology within functional categories of behaviour In order to best illustrate these principles I have taken examples from a variety of species and not confined myself to farm livestock and domestic animals for fundamental ethological research with these species has been patchy However at the end of each chapter I have given a list of papers pertaining to farm livestock so that the principles of ethology can be seen in a more practical context and to develop this approach further I have also added some practical problems for discussion at the end of each chapter Elements of Ethology David Grainger Marcus Wood-Gush, 1983 Neuroethology J.-P.

Ewert, 2012-12-06 Historically the search for the neural bases of behavior goes back a long way Neuroethology which is concerned with the experimental analysis of the releasing and control mechanisms of behavior is a young discipline Results from this multidisciplinary branch of research which uses physical chemical and mathematical methods have not yet been extensively treated in textbooks of neurophysiology and ethology This book is intended as a first attempt to pose major questions of neuroethology and to demonstrate by means of selected research examples some of the ways by which these questions are being approached Inevitably this cannot be a complete and in depth detailed treatment of all of the neurobiology examples and I realize that such a selection is of a subjective nature The overall goal of the book is to present an introduction After outlining some of the very basic neurophysiological and ethological concepts Chaps 2 and 3 neuroethological questions and methods are demonstrated extensively by means of a particular example Chap 4 There are two reasons to choose the visually guided prey catching and avoidance behavior of the Common Toad 1 it is a system which I have investigated for about fifteen years and therefore know best 2 the toad story is one of the most comprehensive neuroethological approaches so far Thus it is possible here to outline the major concepts of neuroethology and to pose the basic questions Aims and Methods in Neuroethology David Maltby Guthrie, 1987 Perspectives in Ethology N.S.

Thompson, 1995-05-31 A book rich and various in ideas and substance It belongs on the shelf of anyone wanting to keep up with what is happening in ethology Bioscience from a review of an earlier volume Beginning with Volume 11 Nicholas S Thompson takes over the editorship of this remarkable series For this volume contributors bring fresh perspectives to the subject of natural design Emotions in Command Frank K. Salter, 2017-09-08 This book is part of a quest for a general theory of organizations valid in all cultures Central to Frank Salter's investigation is the question of social power why people obey their superiors His approach is to locate the nature of organizational power in the behavioral details of hierarchical interactions in the institutional settings in which they occur The Life Region Per Raberg, 2005-10-09 This book launches a strategy for sustainable development starting from a socio ecological position and developing a model for a socially and culturally supportive community or Life Region Special emphasis is placed on the situation of the provincial and peripheral regions of Europe and the world and the introduction of self reliant civic strategies in national and international politics

Cognition and Motivation Shulamith Kreidler, 2013 This collection examines the many internal and external factors affecting cognitive processes Editor Shulamith Kreidler brings together a wide range of international contributors to produce an outstanding assessment of recent research in the field These contributions go beyond the standard approach of examining the effects of motivation and emotion to consider the contextual factors that may influence cognition These broad and varied factors include personality genetics mental health biological evolution culture and social context By contextualizing cognition this volume draws out the practical applications of theoretical cognitive research while bringing separate areas of scholarship into meaningful dialogue The Concise Corsini Encyclopedia of Psychology and Behavioral Science W. Edward Craighead, Charles B. Nemeroff, 2004-04-12 Edited by high caliber experts and contributed to by quality researchers and practitioners in psychology and related fields Includes over 500 topical entries Each entry features suggested readings and extensive cross referencing Accessible to students and general readers Edited by two outstanding scholars and clinicians Reader's Guide to the History of Science Arne Hessenbruch, 2013-12-16 The Reader's Guide to the History of Science looks at the literature of science in some 550 entries on individuals Einstein institutions and disciplines Mathematics general themes Romantic Science and central concepts Paradigm and Fact The history of science is construed widely to include the history of medicine and technology as is reflected in the range of disciplines from which the international team of 200 contributors are drawn Maladapting Minds Pieter R. Adriaens, Andreas De Block, 2011-03-10 Ever since Darwin psychiatrists have been tempted to put evolutionary theory to use in their efforts to understand and explain mental disorders Varying in success scope and scientific rigour these attempts have often caught the attention of philosophers There are many studies about how the philosophy of psychiatry has been informed by twentieth century continental philosophy in focusing on topics such as embodiment narrativity and gender as well as analytic philosophy in focusing on more conceptual issues Thus far however there are simply no studies about how philosophical issues in psychiatric theory and practice can be and have been informed by evolutionary theory Maladapting Minds explores the relationship between evolutionary theory and philosophy of psychiatry In particular it discusses a number of reasons why philosophers of psychiatry should take an interest in evolutionary explanations of mental disorders and more generally in evolutionary thinking The many chapters deal with evolutionary accounts of various mental disorders including phobias fetishism developmental disorders depression autism spectrum disorders and schizophrenia Written by both world class philosophers psychologists and evolutionary psychiatrists this volume illustrates that many debates in contemporary philosophy of psychiatry are profoundly influenced by evolutionary approaches to mental disorders In doing so it represents the very first attempts to critically explore the interface between evolutionary theory and philosophy of psychiatry It is important reading for psychiatrists philosophers of mind and evolutionary psychologists

Human-Robot Interaction Céline Jost,Brigitte Le Pévédic,Tony Belpaeme,Cindy Bethel,Dimitrios Chrysostomou,Nigel Crook,Marine Grandgeorge,Nicole Mirnig,2020-05-13 This book offers the first comprehensive yet critical overview of methods used to evaluate interaction between humans and social robots It reviews commonly used evaluation methods and shows that they are not always suitable for this purpose Using representative case studies the book identifies good and bad practices for evaluating human robot interactions and proposes new standardized processes as well as recommendations carefully developed on the basis of intensive discussions between specialists in various HRI related disciplines e g psychology ethology ergonomics sociology ethnography robotics and computer science The book is the result of a close long standing collaboration between the editors and the invited contributors including but not limited to their inspiring discussions at the workshop on Evaluation Methods Standardization for Human Robot Interaction EMSHRI which have been organized yearly since 2015 By highlighting and weighing good and bad practices in evaluation design for HRI the book will stimulate the scientific community to search for better solutions take advantages of interdisciplinary collaborations and encourage the development of new standards to accommodate the growing presence of robots in the day to day and social lives of human beings

Intersections With Attachment Jacob L. Gewirtz,William M. Kurtines,Jacob L. Lamb,2013-05-13 Attachment has long been a key area of social development Work on attachment processes has involved a variety of species as well as humans in diverse cultures and at various points in the life cycle This volume presents research devoted to the meaning and implications of the attachment concept including possible indices of attachment the role of learning whether or not attachment is best treated as continuous or discontinuous and considerations for viewing attachment as a trait across environmental settings or as a process with functions that operate differently in disparate settings Other psychological process concepts such as imprinting relationships and identification are also discussed Because the contributors are active researchers and theorists this volume may help establish trends and determine directions to shape literature on attachment for years to come
