A History of Islamic Schooling in North America Nadeem A. Memon, 2019-09-24 This insightful text challenges popular belief that faith based Islamic schools isolate Muslim learners impose dogmatic religious views and disregard academic excellence This book attempts to paint a starkly different picture Grounded in the premise that not all Islamic schools are the same the historical narratives illustrate varied visions and approaches to Islamic schooling that showcase a richness of educational thought and aspiration A History of Islamic Schooling in North America traces the growth and evolution of elementary and secondary private Islamic schools in Canada and the United States Intersecting narratives between schools established by indigenous African American Muslims as early as the 1930s with those established by immigrant Muslim communities in the 1970s demonstrate how and why Islamic Education is in a constant ongoing process of evolution renewal and adaptation Drawing on the voices perspectives and narratives of pioneers and visionaries who established the earliest Islamic schools chapters articulate why Islamic schools were established what distinguishes them from one another and why they continue to be important This book will be of great interest to graduate and postgraduate students researchers academics teaching professionals in the fields of Islamic education religious studies multicultural education curriculum studies and faith based teacher education Muslims as Actors Jacques Waardenburg, 2012-02-13

This book deals with Islamic studies and with the question how the scholarly study of religion can contribute to the study of Islam The author advocates studying Islamic phenomena as signs and symbols interpreted and applied in diverse ways in existing traditions He stresses the role of Muslims as actors in the ongoing debate about the articulation of Islamic ways of life and construction of Islam as a religion A careful study of this debate should steer clear of political religious and ideological interests Research in this area by Muslims and non Muslim scholars alike should address the question of what Muslims have made of their Islam in specific circumstances Current political contexts have created an unhealthy climate for pursuing an open approach to Islam based on reading observing listening and reflecting Yet precisely nowadays we need to look anew at ways of Muslim thinking and acting that refer to Islam and to avoid certain schemes of interpreting Muslim realities that are no longer adequate for present day Muslim life situations Muslim recourse to Islam can be studied as human constructions of value and meaning and relations between Muslims and others can be seen in terms of human interaction without blame always falling on Islam as such
