Elemental Mind Human Consciousness And The New Physics:

Elemental Mind Nick Herbert, 1993 Dark Pool of Light: The neuroscience, evolution, and ontology of consciousness Richard Grossinger, 2012 In books like Embryogenesis and Embryos Galaxies and Sentient Beings author Richard Grossinger brought together the subjects of biological embryology and the esoteric process of human consciousness becoming embodied The embryo is the universe writing itself on its own body In Dark Pool of Light his latest creation Grossinger weaves neuroscience based behaviorism and the phenomenology of being and reality together with psychological and psychospiritual views of that single thing which is most difficult to understand or vindicate our own existence In 2008 Grossinger began studying with noted psychic teacher John Friedlander who helped him refine his vision of cerebral and somatic awareness to still subtler levels Dark Pool of Light began unnamed in the journals of my psychic work with John Friedlander says Grossinger not so much a record of actual practices as insights from them and extensions out of them An expansive inquiry into the nature of consciousness the series examines the tension between the scientific and philosophical and psychic views of the same phenomena and includes field notes and experiential exercises that invite the reader to make their own explorations Dark Pool of Light is divided into three volumes which the author calls movements the allusion to music is apt for the book unfolds in a truly symphonic manner In Volume 1 Grossinger begins with the scientific and philosophical analytical views of reality exploring the science parascience philosophy and psychology of consciousness Covering topics as diverse as current discoveries in neuroscience and the philosophy of the ancient Greeks the book gives a broad overview of the bodies of knowledge concerning the nature of reality and consciousness Models of the Self Shaun

Gallagher, 2013-10-22 A long history of inquiry about human nature and the self stretches from the ancient tradition of Socratic self knowledge in the context of ethical life to contemporary discussions of brain function in cognitive science It begins with a conflict among the ancients On one view which comes to be represented most clearly by Aristotle the issue is settled in terms of a composite and very complex human nature Who I am is closely tied to my embodied existence The other view found as early as the Pythagoreans and developed in the writings of Plato Augustine and Descartes held that genuine humanness is not the result of an integration of lower functions but a purification of those functions in favour of a liberating spirituality The animal elements are excluded from the human essence The modern debate on the problem of the self although owing much to the insights of Locke and Hume can still be situated within the context of the two schools of ancient thought and this has led many to despair over the lack of apparent progress in this problem Today of course we often tend to look to science rather than philosophy to develop our understanding of a wide range of fundamental issues To what extent is the problem of the self a scientific issue Can insights from the study of neuropsychology and cognitive development in infancy provide a new perspective Can the study of schizophrenia and dissociative identity disorders tell us anything about the nature of human self consciousness Many would answer yes to the above questions but then is it not also the case that the study of exceptional self actualised human experience is equally relevant And can the phenomenological tradition dedicated to the systematic study of human experience and contemporary analytic approaches in philosophy help us out of some of the impasses that have bedevilled the empiricist tradition MODELS OF THE SELF includes all these perspectives in an attempt to cast light on one of the most intractable problems in science and the humanities Teaching Mathematics Brent Davis,2013-02-01 This book presents an approach to the teaching of mathematics that departs radically from conventional prescription oriented and management based methods It brings together recent developments in such diverse fields as continental and pragmatist philosophy enactivist thought critical discourses cognitive theory evolution ecology and mathematics and challenges the assumptions that permeate much of mathematics teaching The discussion focuses on the language used to frame the role of the teacher and is developed around the commonsense distinctions drawn between thought and action subject and object individual and collective fact and fiction teacher and student and classroom tasks and real life The discussion also addresses the question of how mathematics teaching can be reformed to better suit current academic and social climates Making use of the theoretical framework of enactivism the book explores the subject through an account of a middle school teacher s appreciation and understanding of her role Teaching mathematics as both the report of this teacher s experience and the discussion make clear demands an embracing of ambiguity uncertainty complexity and moral responsibility Courses for Adoption Education Mathematics for Elementary Teachers Methods for Teaching Elementary Schools Methods for Teaching Secondary Schools Curriculum Studies Critical Pedagogy Special Features Elucidates the importance and relationship between theory and practice Employs reflective teaching techniques to focus students on their own learning knowledge and understanding of mathematics Details a collaborative venture that traces the development of new thinking and insights about math teaching and learning A fine blending of theory with practice

Genealogies of Speculation Suhail Malik,Armen Avanessian,2016-01-14 Genealogies of Speculation looks to break the impasse between the innovations of speculative thought and the dominant strands of 20th century anti foundationalist philosophy Challenging emerging paradigms of philosophical history this text re evaluates different theoretical and political traditions such as feminism literary theory social geography and political theory after the speculative turn in philosophy With contributions from leading writers in contemporary thought this book is a crucial resource for studying cultural and art theory and continental philosophy Emerging Information Technology Kenneth E. Kendall,1999-06-14 Emerging Information Technology explores cutting edge research on emerging information technologies and their specific relevance for professionals in the business world Kenneth E Kendall bridges the gap between the emergence of information technology and its application and relevance for managers consultants decision makers and researchers Educational Horizons Anab Whitehouse,2018-11-06 Educational Horizons explores the nature of the relationship between education and the reality problem from a variety of perspectives In the process of doing so a variety of topics that shape orient and influence the manner in which education is understood and applied are engaged through critical reflection Some of the topics explored during this process of critical reflection are The life and ideas of John Holt cognitive development human nature the construction of social reality reason several landmark court cases involving the evolution v creationism debate Noam Chomsky Sam Harris propaganda sovereignty qualities of a teacher epistemology hermeneutical field theory as well as some rather revolutionary ideas concerning education and the Constitution

The Nature of Man and God Simon S. Godfrey, 2003 The search for understanding the meaning of the self and the nature of the Supreme Being has been the nub problem in history Although these concepts have been expounded in all ages by innumerable philosophers theologians and other writers the fact that they still remain nebulous indicates that more work is warranted in these perennial areas The Nature of Man and God deals with these two fundamental issues in a clear concise and down to earth manner As a psychologist the author has spent some thirty years investigating the issues in question The study of the self led him willy nilly to the reality of something that William James called a More or something that is popularly known as God The author found close affinity between the reality of the self and the reality of the Deity Owing to this affinity the author proposes that a more palpable way of knowing the Deity is to know one's own true self On the subject of the self the author distinguishes between two types a nominal self which is a mere echo of the early experiences of the individual and a transcendental self the latter can be realized only when human beings set themselves to unlearn what they have been taught on such matters rely on their inner resources and become their own gurus instead of following the instructions of self proclaimed authorities Regarding the Divine nature the author puts forth several challenging new theses In particular he enlarges on matters relating to ultimate concerns the human task freedom of will responsibility and theodicy explicating why there is evil and suffering in the world The book invites the reader to reach for a higher plain of humanness The topics covered are pivotal as the whole of humankind does indeed pivot around them It is the author's conviction that none of the current personal or international crises can be effectively resolved until humans first learn who they are and what genre of supratemporal intellect powers the scheme of things in the world The book should appeal to multiple audiences at a time when it seems nothing can disentangle the state of human affairs there is a crying need for this kind of book In particular it should prove of great interest to all those sincerely seeking to know themselves and their God the book also provides a workable tool for those seriously involved in improving the human lot or those weary of on going superficialities and trivialities of modern life

The Observer and the Observed Chris Steed,2024-11-05 This book approaches the God question in a different way than normal from the perspective of psychotherapy In a world of machine intelligence the key idea is an analogy of being between human personhood and divine personhood as the only satisfactory way of showing that our inner conscious awareness nourished by the validation of the self is responded to in ultimate terms It aims to extrapolate from below from our psychological experience to asking ultimate questions drawing lines between Observation in quantum physics The maternal gaze Recognition in social worlds that confer perception in place of invisibility The power of intersubjectivity in relational neurobiology and therapy What has to be accounted for is our sense of personhood and how that fits in with a cosmos that is at best neutral The metaphor of a wifi universe is proposed but rather than a soulless device being switched on how a human psyche comes to a sense of consciousness of its own value is the issue here A personal God is the best explanation for the evidence of how our personhood and subject status requires correspondence As engaging with a neutral AI entity is bound to be soulless the first person perspective requires an I thou relationship A universe constructed from nature by itself or one where the ultimate is impersonal energy just does not cut it or respond adequately to what is inside us This book offers an account of how the realm described by physics and our inner world can tie up perhaps the only way they can Societies of Brains Walter J. Freeman, 2014-03-05 This monograph from a leading neuroscientist and neural networks researcher investigates and offers a fresh approach to the perplexing scientific and philosophical problems of minds and brains It explains how brains have evolved from our earliest vertebrate ancestors It details how brains provide the basis for successful comprehension of the environment for the formulation of actions and prediction of their consequences and for cooperating or competing with other beings that have brains The book also offers observations regarding such issues as how and why people fall in and out of love the biological basis for experiencing feelings of love and hate and how music and dance have provided the ancestral technology for forming social groups such as tribes and clans The author reviews the history of the mind brain problem and demonstrates how the new sciences of behavioral electrophysiology and nonlinear dynamics combined with the latest computer technology have made it possible for us to observe brains in action He also provides an answer to the question What happens to a stimulus after it enters the brain The answer The stimulus triggers the construction of a percept and is then washed away All that we know is what our brains construct for us by neurodynamics Brains are not logical devices that process information They are dynamical systems that create meaning through interactions with the environment and each other The book shows how the learning process by which brains construct meaning tends to isolate brains into self centered worlds and how nature has provided a remedy first appearing in mammals as a mechanism for pair bonding to ensure reproduction of the young dependent on parents The remedy is based in the neurochemistry of sex which serves to dissolve belief structures in order to open the way for new patterns of understanding and behavior Individuals experience these changes in various ways such as falling in love collegiate indoctrination tribal bonding brain washing political or religious conversions and related types of socialization The highest forms of meaning for humans come through these social attachments
