

Elements of an Essay

Introduction

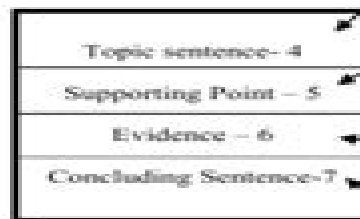

Grab your reader's attention with an anecdote, quote, or interesting fact related to your topic

Provide any background info necessary for your readers to understand the topic and/or appreciate its significance

State your arguable claim and include the specific ideas your paper will address as justification for that claim

Body Paragraphs

Include as many body paragraphs as needed to fully develop your ideas. Also, don't be afraid to split a main idea into multiple paragraphs if one will be too large!

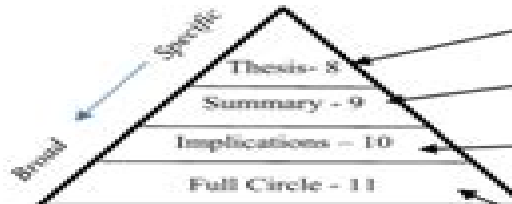

Indicate the specific point to be addressed in a single paragraph. Include key words that connect directly to the thesis

Specific points/examples that prove the topic sentence's claim true. You can have as many supporting points in your paragraph as needed, as long as each one is backed up by evidence.

Provide justification for the topic sentence's claim. Evidence can come in the form of data, quotations, charts, facts, or other cited information

Reinforce the main point of the topic sentence and connect the paragraph's ideas directly to the thesis

Conclusion

Use new words to restate original thesis

BRIEFLY remind readers of major points of the argument

Answer the "so what?" question by suggesting any consequences, recommendations, predictions, and/or calls to action that stem from the paper's overall argument

Provide a note of finality by touching back on the hook that started everything

A History of Poetics Sandra Richter,2010-02-23 Since the 1990s following the end of postmodernism literary theory has lost much of its dynamics This book aims at revitalising literary theory exploring two of its historical bases German poetics and aesthetics Beginning in the 1770s and ending in the 1950s the book examines nearly 200 years of this history thereby providing the reader with a first history of poetics as well as with bibliographies of the subject Particular attention is paid to the aesthetics and poetics of popular philosophy of the Hegel school empirical and psychological tendencies in the field since the 1860s the first steps towards a plurality of methods 1890 1930 theoretical confrontations during the Nazi period as well as the rise of formalist and anthropological approaches from the 1930s onwards All approaches are evaluated regarding their relevance for academia as well as for the general history of education If possible international references and contexts of the relevant theories are taken into account In sum the analysis not only shows how differentiated historical accounts in the field were but also reflects how current literary theory could move forward through the rediscovery of sunken ideas English Language
