Econometrics Of Panel Data A Handbook Of The Theory With Applications:

The Econometrics of Panel Data László Mátyás, Patrick Sevestre, 2013-12-01 The aim of this volume is to provide a general overview of the econometrics of panel data both from a theoretical and from an applied viewpoint Since the pioneering papers by Kuh 1959 Mundlak 1961 Hoch 1962 and Balestra and Nerlove 1966 the pooling of cross section and time series data has become an increasingly popular way of quantifying economic relationships Each series provides information lacking in the other so a combination of both leads to more accurate and reliable results than would be achievable by one type of series alone Over the last 30 years much work has been done investigation of the properties of the applied estimators and test statistics analysis of dynamic models and the effects of eventual measurement errors etc These are just some of the problems addressed by this work In addition some specific difficulties associated with the use of panel data such as attrition heterogeneity selectivity bias pseudo panels etc have also been explored The first objective of this book which takes up Parts I and II is to give as complete and up to date a presentation of these theoretical developments as possible Part I is concerned with classical linear models and their extensions Part II deals with nonlinear models and related issues logit and probit models latent variable models incomplete panels and selectivity bias and point processes

Essays in Panel Data Econometrics Marc Nerlove, 2005-11-10 This volume collects seven of Marc Nerlove's previously published classic essays on panel data econometrics written over the past thirty five years together with a cogent essay on the history of the subject which began with George Biddell Airey's monograph published in 1861 Since Professor Nerlove's 1966 Econometrica paper with Pietro Balestra panel data and methods of econometric analysis appropriate to such data have become increasingly important in the discipline The principal factors in the research environment affecting the future course of panel data econometrics are the phenomenal growth in the computational power available to the individual researcher at his or her desktop and the ready availability of data sets both large and small via the Internet The best way to formulate statistical models for inference is motivated and shaped by substantive problems and understanding of the processes generating the data at hand to resolve them The essays illustrate both the role of the substantive context in shaping appropriate methods of inference and the increasing importance of computer intensive methods

Analysis of Panels and Limited Dependent Variable Models Cheng Hsiao, M. Hashem Pesaran, Kajal Lahiri, Lung Fei Lee, 1999-07-29 This important collection brings together leading econometricians to discuss advances in the areas of the econometrics of panel data The papers in this collection can be grouped into two categories The first which includes chapters by Amemiya Baltagi Arellano Bover and Labeaga primarily deal with different aspects of limited dependent variables and sample selectivity The second group of papers including those by Nerlove Schmidt and Ahn Kiviet Davies and Lahiri consider issues that arise in the estimation of dynamic possibly heterogeneous panel data models Overall the contributors focus on the issues of simplifying complex real world phenomena into easily generalisable inferences from individual outcomes As the contributions of G S Maddala in the fields of limited dependent variables and panel data were particularly influential it is a fitting tribute that this volume is dedicated to him

Econometrics of Panel Data Erik Biørn, 2017 Panel data is a data type increasingly used in research in economics social sciences and medicine Its primary characteristic is that the data variation goes jointly over space across individuals firms countries etc and time over years months etc Panel data allow examination of problems that cannot be handled by cross section data or time series data Panel data analysis is a core field in modern econometrics and multivariate statistics and studies based on such data occupy a growing part of the field in many other disciplines The book is intended as a text for master and advanced undergraduate courses It may also be useful for PhD students writing theses in empirical and applied economics and readers conducting empirical work on their own The book attempts to take the reader gradually from simple models and methods in scalar simple vector notation to more complex models in matrix notation A distinctive feature is that more attention is given to unbalanced panel data the measurement error problem random coefficient approaches the interface between panel data and aggregation and the interface between unbalanced panels and truncated and censored data sets The 12 chapters are intended to be largely self contained although there is also natural progression Most of the chapters contain commented examples based on genuine data mainly taken from panel data applications to economics Although the book inter alia through its use of examples is aimed primarily at students of economics and econometrics it may also be useful for readers in social sciences psychology and medicine provided they have a sufficient background in statistics notably basic regression analysis and elementary linear algebra

Econometric Analysis Sharif Hossain, 2024-02-08 For the last four decades the uses of econometric tools and techniques irrespective of discipline have been increasing rapidly for solving problems appropriate decision making and policy formulation Generally it is accepted that the study of modern business and economics is incomplete without a proper knowledge of econometric tools and techniques In view of the increasing complexity and variety of problems in business and economics students and researchers may not be able to cope and hence may remain unfamiliar with many aspects of business and economic problems Thus this book was written to explore basic and advanced studies of econometrics for undergraduate and graduate students of business and economics as well as for researchers already engaged in these fields who require an introduction to econometric methods and their application for solving of real life problems The book offers a balanced presentation of fundamental and advanced levels of econometric concepts and methods along with practical examples of their effective application in real life problems Credit, Investments and the Macroeconomy Marco Mazzoli,1998-01-22 This book relates the literatures of finance industrial economics and investment to the theoretical framework of the credit view Firstly it is assumed that banks decisions concerning their assets are seen as at least as relevant as their decisions concerning their liabilities Secondly securities and bank credit are considered to be highly imperfect substitutes In this regard it is important to investigate the way industrial and financial sectors interact In particular how is the macroeconomy affected by the phenomenon of securitization and by exogenous changes in the industrial structure of the credit market The interactions between real and financial sectors are also analysed from the point of view of the industrial firm in a model where the investment and financial decisions of the firm are taken simultaneously

Canadian Journal of Fisheries and Aquatic Sciences ,1999-10 The Role of Foreign Direct Investment in East Asian Economic Development Takatoshi Ito,Anne O. Krueger,2007-12-01 The international flow of long term private capital has increased dramatically in the 1990s In fact many policymakers now consider private foreign capital to be an essential resource for the acceleration of economic growth This volume focuses attention on the microeconomic determinants and effects of foreign direct investment FDI in the East Asian region allowing researchers to explore the overall structure of FDI to offer case studies of individual countries and to consider their insights both general and particular within the context of current economic theory The Kalman Filter in Finance C. Wells,2013-03-09 A non technical introduction to the question of modeling with time varying parameters using the beta coefficient from Financial Economics as the main example After a brief introduction to this coefficient for those not versed in finance the book presents a number of rather well known tests for constant coefficients and then performs these tests on data from the Stockholm Exchange The Kalman filter is then introduced and a simple example is used to demonstrate the power of the filter The filter is then used to estimate the market model with time varying betas The book concludes with further examples of how the Kalman filter may be used in estimation models used in analyzing other aspects of finance Since both the programs and the data used in the book are available for downloading the book is especially valuable for students and other researchers interested in learning the art of modeling with time varying coefficients A System-Wide Analysis of International Consumption Patterns S. Selvanathan,2012-12-06 The modern system wide approach to applied demand analysis emphasizes a unity between theory and applications Its firm foundations in economic theory make it one of the most impressive areas of applied econometrics This book presents a large number of applications of recent innovations in the area The database used consist of about 18 annual observations for 10 commodities in 18 OECO countries more than 3 100 data points Such a large body of data should provide convincing evidence one way or the other about the validity of consumption theory A PREVIEW OF THE BOOK The overall importance of the analysis presented in the book can be seen from the following table which shows the significant contribution of the OECD to the world economy As can be seen the 24 member countries account for about 50 percent of world GDP in 1975 In this book we present an extensive analysis of the consumption patterns of the OECD countries
