Funding Urban Services Options For Physical Infrastructure:

Planning Better Cities Halvard Dalheim, 2023-10-07 This textbook provides an accessible practical guide to the strategic planning process required for the preparation of city plans from entire metropolitan areas to town centres It fills a gap in the academic literature on the topic of strategic planning Its conceptual and practical content together with a student friendly style and high use of practical examples make it accessible to both the student and recent graduate Its presentation in three parts allows the reader or course leader to access those sections relevant to either their learning requirements or day to day work activities The book is clearly structured into three parts and provides flexibility in approach and learning for students taking relevant planning courses The extensive reading list at the conclusion of each chapter provides the student with an opportunity to explore in more detail the individual topics The practical approach equips the recent graduate with a deeper understanding of the purpose of each element of strategic planning from how to prepare a research brief to how to approach community engagement activities

Sustainable Road Infrastructure Project Implementation in Developing Countries Simon Ofori Ametepey, Clinton Ohis Aigbavboa, Wellington Didibhuku Thwala, 2023-11-17 The authors offer road infrastructure stakeholders with a precise and functional tool that promotes collaboration common language and comprehension engagement and interaction among all individuals and institutions involved in sustainable road infrastructure project implementation

Australian Urban Policy Robert Freestone, Bill Randolph, Wendy Steele, 2024-03-19 Urban Australia confronts numerous challenges in the 21st century climate change housing transport greenspace social inequality and governance among them While state and local governments wrestle with these issues they are continent wide and require national leadership direction and participation As a highly urbanised country without a national approach to urban policy Australia is an outlier Contributors to this book argue that this policy gap needs to be addressed They ask How have productive sustainable and liveable cities so far been enhanced Where have aspirations fallen short or produced negative outcomes And what approaches are emerging to challenge existing and devise new urban policy settings In the face of ongoing crises and escalating change the need for policy to quickly transform urban Australia is daunting Problems wicked in their complexity require innovative ethical solutions This book offers new ideas that challenge policy orthodoxy

Financing and Pricing of Urban Infrastructure Kulwant Singh, Behnam Ta'i, 2000 Contributed articles Steering Sustainability in an Urbanizing World Anitra Nelson, 2007 This book approaches the key challenges of achieving urban sustainability in a holistic way discussing broad scale sustainability policies and programmes for achieving sustainable urban futures A Nelson Australia

Water for Agriculture Stephen Merrett, 2003-08-02 World population is set to increase by a third in the next 25 years with no corresponding increase in global rainfall About seventy per cent of the world's abstracted water is used in farming and therefore the economics of irrigation is becoming an increasingly important issue for sustainable development Water for Agriculture provides a thorough overview of this highly topical subject written in a clear and accessible style The Scope of the book is wide both in its analysis and in its geographical coverage Topics covered include the infrastructure operation and maintenance of irrigation service supply the supply of drainage services economic cost benefit analysis water resource planning at the regional scale political economy and irrigation policy The content of Water for Agriculture is enhanced by numerous tables diagrams and in depth case studies This book will be an essential read for those professionals involved in the planning of water resources and for advanced students studying this topic as part of agriculture development studies economics engineering environmental science geography hydrology and planning courses

Very Public Solution Paul Mees, 2015-09-08 Why is public transport so poor in Australian cities Why can't it be more like the fast convenient systems in Europe Unlike Europeans most urban Australians live on far flung suburban blocks rather than in high density apartments Most urban travel is to widespread suburban locations rather than to the city centre It is often argued that fast efficient public transport is impossible in our dispersed cities In A Very Public Solution Paul Mees compares Melbourne's public transport system with the highly successful system in Toronto a dispersed city very like Melbourne with its suburban sprawl and sheds new light on a century old debate This debate is particularly important now as economic rationalists move to privatise public transport in Australian cities We can have European style public transport Mees argues if our different forms of public transport stop competing with each other and start competing with the car A Very Public Solution is the first serious work on public transport planning ever published in Australia It is essential reading for everyone concerned with urban sustainability and our growing traffic problems

Cities in a Sunburnt Country Margaret Cook, Lionel Frost, Andrea Gaynor, Jenny Gregory, Ruth A. Morgan, Martin Shanahan, Peter Spearritt, 2022-05-19 As cities from Cape Town to La Paz face acute water shortages citizens need to know how urban water systems evolved to understand their vulnerabilities and alternatives This volume sheds light on the challenges of water management in Australian cities drawing on environmental urban and economy history

Finding a Common Interest Lindie Clark, 2002-10-08 This important book demonstrates how businesses can operate both profitably and ethically by finding a common interest between all those involved in their operations It does so through the example of Dick Dusseldorp founder of Lend Lease one of Australia's most admired blue chip corporations Arriving in postwar Australia with only one construction contract and a handful of workers on his company's books Dusseldorp built Lend Lease into a billion dollar property development and financial services concern Widely respected for his business success Dusseldorp was equally well known for his commitment to sharing the fruits of that success with the workers shareholders and clients of Lend Lease and the communities where the company conducted its business Not only does this book tell the story of Lend Lease and its founder through them it demonstrates how business can be done inclusively and so provides a workable model for corporate governance

Strategic Options for Urban Infrastructure Management William F. Fox, 1994-01-01 Experience of the past decade confirms that the solution to infrastructure problems is not merely to expand capacity by making new investments Much more systematic changes must be undertaken if service delivery is to attain the standards necessary to improve quality of life and allow economic output to expand more rapidly This paper identifies several broad areas for reform and recommends a series of actions to attain effective service delivery Adapt du r sum de l auteur Sydney's Century Peter Spearritt,2000 In this lively portrait of Sydney s development Peter Spearritt traces a century in the life of the city from the celebrations of the Federation of Australia in 1901 to the 2000 Olympic Games He describes the extra ordinary growth of the city and its sprawling suburbs and the transition from a port and a manufacturing center to an international financial hub Municipal Infrastructure Financing Munawwar Alam,2010 Provides an overview of the municipal finances and the extent of private sector involvement in the delivery of municipal services in selected Commonwealth developing countries Four cities are examined in detail Dar es Salaam in Tanzania Kampala in Uganda Dhaka in Bangladesh and Karachi in Pakistan Canadian Cities in Transition Trudi E. Bunting,Pierre Filion,2006 As the federal government s recent New Deal for Cities suggests the importance of cities is now widely recognized Large urban centres are seen at once as primary engines of the economy and as concentrations of societal problems poverty homelessness criminality environmental degradation Calls are thus mounting not only for the allocation of more resources but for the adoption of new policies grounded in urban realities that will enable Canadian cities to function more effectively This third edition of Canadian Cities in Transition has been completely revised and updated Examining the uneven development and uncertain future of Canadian cities 41 specialists in the field urban geographers political scientists urban planners civil engineers offer state of the art understanding of everything from the evolution of the Canadian urban system to site specific design problems of transportation and infrastructure the containment of urban sprawl the impacts of immigration and gentrification and the sustainability of cities both environmentally and economically The 27 chapters are supported by abundant illustrative material maps tables figures and photographs and followed by two appendices one discussing the changing nature of urban research and the other presenting essential data on Canada s census metropolitan areas In addition for the first time this new edition includes a comprehensive bibliography Required reading for students of Canadian urban geography and urban studies Canadian Cities in Transition Local Through Global Perspectives will also be an invaluable resource for anyone concerned about the future of Canada s cities Book jacket

Strategic Choices in Reforming Public Service Employment C. Dell'Aringa,G. Della Rocca,B. Keller,Giuseppe Della Rocca,2001-09-25 Although many industrialized countries have had to face the same political and economic pressures in reforming their public sectors there have been different reactions and a diversity of solutions to the emerging problems This book examines the most significant initiatives targeted towards the restructuring of public sector employment relations in countries belonging to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development The contributors focus on national and local governments and health education and social services The first section provides an up to date analysis of six European countries The second part considers the USA Canada New Zealand Australia and Japan Financing Infrastructure

Richard M. Bird, Enid Slack, 2017-12-04 Politicians and citizens universally agree that Canada's urban infrastructure urgently needs work. Roads and bridges are overdue for repair, aging water systems should be replaced, sewage must be adequately treated, urban transit needs to be updated and extended, and it is necessary that public housing as well as schools, health centres, and government offices are brought up to current standards. But few cities have room to raise additional revenue, and the federal and provincial governments to which they turn for financial support are already in deficit, so who is going to pay for all of this? Bringing together perspectives and case studies from across Canada, the US, and Europe, Financing Infrastructure argues that the answer to the question "Who should pay?" should always be "users." Headed by two of Canada's foremost experts on municipal finance, this book provides a closer look at why charging user fees makes sense, how much users should pay, how to charge fees well, and where present processes can be improved, and how to convince the politicians and the public of the importance of pricing infrastructure correctly. Across the disciplines of public policy, urban studies, and economics, almost no one is looking at the extent to which users should play a role in infrastructure planning. Financing Infrastructure contends that the users, not federal and provincial taxpayers, should start paying directly for their cities' repairs and expansions. Contributors include Richard M. Bird, University of Toronto; Bernard Dafflon, University of Fribourg, Switzerland; Robert D. Ebel, Local Governance Innovation and Development; Harry Kitchen, Trent University; Jean-Philippe Meloche, Université de Montréal; Alim Siemiatycki, University of Toronto; Enid Slack, University of Toronto; Almos T. Tassonyi, University of Calgary; Lindsay M. Tedds, University of Victoria; François Vaillancourt, Université de Montréal; and Yameng Wang, World Bank.

Equity, Environment, Efficiency Patrick Nicol Troy, 2000 The book offers a timely re-evaluation of the connection between ethics and economics. It argues that efficiency is not an end in itself but rather a means to socially desirable ends. It's essential reading for all those involved in policy development, housing, markets, environment, groups, planning, and housing departments and local authorities.

Agrifood systems in nationally determined contributions Crumpler, K.; Wybieralska, A.; Roffredi, L.; Tanganelli, E.; Angioni, C.; Prosperi, P.; Umulisa, V.; Dahlet, G.; Nelson, S.; Nuutinen, M.; Duchelle, A.; Schiettecatte, L.-S.; Rai, N.; Salvatore, M.; Some, S.; Ayimasse, F.; Totin, E.; Wolf, J.; Bernoux, M., The purpose of this analysis is to present an overview of the status of agrifood systems in NDCs as well as provide insights into the extent to which NDCs are contributing to the climate resilient and low emissions agrifood system transformations needed to achieve the Paris Agreement. It provides an overview of the major climate-related risks and greenhouse gas hot spots in agrifood systems and synthesizes the main climate change adaptation and mitigation strategies being set forth in the nationally determined contributions to address them. It also takes stock of the underpinning governance, knowledge, and capacity and finance needs articulated to enable climate action in agrifood systems. Lastly, it highlights mitigation, adaptation, and climate finance ambition gaps in agrifood systems to inform enhanced ambition, action, and support.
