Environmental and Energy Law Karen Makuch, Ricardo Pereira, 2012-07-23 Despite bringing prosperity industrialisation generally leads to increasing levels of pollution which has a detrimental impact on the environment In response legislation which seeks to control or prevent such impact has become common Similarly climate change and energy security have become major drivers for the regulatory regimes that have emerged in the energy field Given the global or regional scope of many environmental problems international cooperation is often necessary to ensure such legislation is effective The EU and the UK have contributed to the development of the environmental and energy law regimes currently in force spanning across international transnational and national levels At the same time practical responses to environmental and energy problems have largely been the focus of engineers scientists and other technical experts Environmental Energy Law attempts to bridge the knowledge gap between legal developments designed to achieve environmental and or energy related objectives and the practical scientific and technical considerations applicable to the same environmental problems In particular it attempts to convey a broad range of topical issues in environmental and energy law from climate and energy regulation technology innovation and transfer to pollution control environmental governance and enforcement In addition the book outlines key sector specific legal regimes including water waste and air quality management focusing on issues or topics that are particularly relevant to both environmental and energy lawyers and engineering science and technology oriented professionals and students In this vein the book guides the reader on some basic practical applications of the law within scientific engineering and other practical settings The book will be useful to all those working or studying in the environmental or energy arena including law students legal professionals engineering and science students and professionals By adopting a multi disciplinary approach to environmental and energy law the book embraces all readerships and helps to address the often thorny problem of communication between scientists engineers lawyers and policy makers

Jetties and Wharfs Crow, 2021-04-04 For centuries jetties and wharfs have been designed and built around the world and play an important role in contemporary ports The difference in the use of jetties piers and wharfs is that jetties are frequently used for the transshipment and storage of light materials and ro ro traffic while piers are generally used for heavy loads like iron ore That is why piers are mostly designed and constructed like quay walls which are beyond the scope of this handbook The designs were originally based on trial and error and the insights of those who dared to conquer local conditions such as wind waves currents and soil composition Design and construction techniques have since evolved into the designs we see on the coast or in river ports and seaports nowadays The purpose of this handbook is to provide insight and guidelines regarding aspects that are important in the design of jetties and wharfs Jetty specific issues such as loads interfaces between materials installations on jetties and wharfs as well as detailing aspects are also covered This handbook is part of a series of Dutch port infrastructure design recommendations that include the Quay Walls handbook and Jetties and Wharfs handbook Criminal Practice 2010 Supp 3 Duncan Atkinson,2010-07-23 Fairness in Academic Course Timetabling Moritz Mühlenthaler,2015-01-16 This monograph deals with theoretical and practical aspects of creating course timetables at academic institutions The task is typically to create a timetable that suits the requirements of the stakeholders students lecturers and the administration as well as possible The book presents an exposition of the basic combinatorial problems and solution methods for course timetabling and related tasks It provides a rigorous treatment of fairness issues that arise in the course timetabling context and shows how to deal with the potentially conflicting interests of the stakeholders The proposed methods are also readily applicable to other classes of scheduling problems such as staff rostering Finally it presents a comprehensive case study on the implementation of an automated course timetabling system at the school of engineering of the University of Erlangen Nuremberg The case study includes a detailed description of the problem model as well as an evaluation of stakeholder satisfaction Miscellaneous Publication ,1939 Bibliography of Scientific and Industrial Reports ,1946
