Ageless Nation Michael G. Zey, 2017-07-05 In this intriguing volume futurist and author Michael G Zey imagines a time in which technology has stretched human life spans to four hundred years or more Genetic engineering cloning and stem cell technology will eradicate diseases and allow for nanoscopic repair and maintenance of the body Smart drugs and caloric restriction programs will largely stop aging and ensure healthy bodies and sharp minds indefinitely Grounding his speculation in contemporary scientific research Zey's optimistic vision sees retirement replaced by hiatuses between careers and leisure time spent in multi generational homes Key players in the debate include supporters like Cambridge University scientist Aubrey de Grey who envisions five thousand year life spans and the radical futurist author Ray Kurzweil who foresees the merging of humans and computers Organizations such as the Coalition to Extend Life lobby the government for immortality research funding and find opposition in the President's Council on Bioethics and deep ecologists advocating zero population growth Criticizing current environmental trends as anti progress and anti human Zey's own solutions include controversial measures like human control of weather colonization of outer space and genetically modifying food He concludes that the eventuality of a modern Fountain of Youth is closer than we think Zey's predictions about the future are thoughtful and fascinating

Cosmic Society Peter Dickens, James Ormrod, 2007-11-08 Space weaponry satellite surveillance and communications and private space travel are all means in which outer space is being humanized incorporated into society's projects But what are the political implications of society not only being globalized but becoming cosmic Our ideas about society have long affected and been affected by our understanding of the universe large sections of our economy and society are now organized around humanity's use of outer space Our view of the universe our increasingly cosmic society and even human consciousness are being transformed by new relations with the cosmos As the first sociological book to tackle humanity's relationship with the universe this fascinating volume links social theory to classical and contemporary science and proposes a new cosmic social theory Written in a punchy student friendly style this timely book engages with a range of topical issues including cyberspace terrorism tourism surveillance and globalization

Futuring Edward Cornish, 2004 Chinese Culture, Western Culture Tai Ng, 2007-02 This book explores how complementary Chinese and Western cultures are how they should learn from each other to establish a dynamic balance and how institutions need constant redefinition and renewal in order to prosper By studying the history and development of thought and philosophy in these cultures it suggests lessons from our past that may shed light on current events and help us in handling future challenges The book presents answers to the following important questions Do Chinese people think differently from Westerners and if so how and why What are the key differences between Chinese and Western culture and why How did China become the most technologically advanced and sociologically sophisticated nation in the world until the seventeenth century and why did it ultimately decline What are the key characteristics of political institutions in historical China and Europe and how were they significant In this postmodern time and era of globalization what can we learn from

Chinese culture and experiences As China rapidly industrializes what can it learn from the West without repeating some of the mistakes that Europeans and North Americans made in their periods of industrialization The Futurist ,2001
