Michael A. Crew, Paul R. Kleindorfer, 2001-01-31 Future Directions in Postal Reform brings together leading practitioners world wide postal administrations and the courier industry as well as a number of regulators academic economists mailers and lawyers to examine some of the major policy and regulatory issues facing the postal and delivery industry Issues addressed include international postal policy the universal service obligation regulation competition entry and the role of scale and scope economies the nature and role of cost analysis in postal service productivity interaction of law and economics and future technologies and service standards The Liberalization of Postal Services in the European Union Damien Geradin, 2002-06-03

Among the critical matters discussed are the following terminal dues for international mail remail provisions the UPU and WTO constraints on the European postal market EU Commission decisions and ECJ case law interpreting the postal directive the effects of EC Treaty Articles 81 and 82 and the Merger Control Regulation abuse of market power especially by incumbent public postal operators the essential facilities doctrine and funding of universal service obligations In addition there are specific country reports from five EU Member States France Germany Italy Portugal and the United Kingdom and Norway bearing witness to the diversity of means adopted to implement the postal directive Business persons and their counsel regulatory officials practitioners and academics interested in the creation of an EU wide postal market as well as in the ongoing reliability and improvement of postal service should find this text valuable

Regulatory and Economic Challenges in the Postal and Delivery Sector Michael A. Crew, Paul R. Kleindorfer, 2006-07-16 Worldwide there is considerable interest in postal and delivery economics Governments particularly in the European Union are examining closely the roles of the two systems and how best to regulate them This volume brings together 20 essays originally presented at the 12th Conference on Postal and Delivery Economics held in Cork Ireland in June 2004 Contributors include researchers practitioners and senior managers from throughout the world Reforming the Postal Sector in the Face of Electronic Competition Anheuser-Busch, 2013-01-01 Professors Crew and Kleindorfer have once again assembled a valuable collection of essays that address timely and important issues in postal sectors throughout the world The essays employ diverse methodologies to provide useful insights about recent and likely future developments in the postal industry This book will be a valuable resource for researchers industry practitioners and policymakers alike David E M Sappington

University of Florida US In our increasingly technology focused world demand for traditional postal services is steadily shrinking This timely volume examines the many challenges that the worldwide postal sector is facing as a result of growing electronic competition and offers expert recommendations for reshaping postal structures to strengthen their competitiveness in an electronic age Drawn from a selection of papers presented at the 20th Conference on Postal and Delivery Economics in Brighton UK this book showcases expert contributions on the rapidly changing postal sectors in both the United States and Europe Topics discussed include the various financial challenges posed by decreasing demand for postal services recent changes in how postal services are provided and new structures and modes of operation such as privatization that are currently affecting the industry Contributors offer a thorough breakdown of the issues as well as ideas for keeping the postal sector alive in a world that is growing ever more reliant on purely electronic means of communication Economists with an interest in regulatory economics innovation and public sector economics will find this volume useful and informative as will institutional libraries and industry professionals

Progress toward Liberalization of the Postal and Delivery Sector Michael A. Crew, Paul R. Kleindorfer, 2007-05-11 The European Commission and its member states along with many others are wrestling with the problem of how to implement the scheduled liberalization of the postal sector while maintaining the universal service obligation This book addresses some of these concerns It is comprised of original essays chosen from among several dozen presented at the 13th Conference on Postal and Delivery Economics which was held in Antwerp Belgium in June 2005

Forecasting the Internet David G. Loomis, L.D. Taylor, 2012-12-06 David O Loomis Illinois State University The explosive growth of the Internet has caught most industry experts off guard While data communications was expected to be the wave of the future few industry observers foresaw how rapid the change in focus from voice communications towards data would be Understanding the data communications revolution has become an urgent priority for many in the telecommunications industry Demand analysis and forecasting are critical tools to understanding these trends for both Internet access and Internet backbone service Businesses have led residential customers in the demand for data services but residential demand is currently increasing exponentially Even as business demand for data communications is becoming better understood residential broadband access demand is still largely unexplored Cable modems and ADSL appear to be the current residential broadband choices yet demand elasticities and econometric model based forecasts for these services are not currently available The responsiveness of customers to price and income changes and customer s perceptions of the tradeoff in product characteristics between cable modems and ADSL is largely unknown Demand for Internet access is derived from the demand for applications which utilize this access access is not demanded independent of its usage Thus it is important to understand Internet applications in order to understand the demand for access

Cyber Policy and Economics in an Internet Age William H. Lehr, Lorenzo Pupillo, 2013-06-29 Cyber Policy and Economics in an Internet Age is a collection of essays from some of the world s best known experts on Internet public policy

The Encyclopedia of Public Choice Charles Rowley, Friedrich Schneider, 2008-01-25 The Encyclopedia provides a detailed and comprehensive account of the subject known as public choice However the title would not convey sufficiently the breadth of the Encyclopedia's contents which can be summarized better as the fruitful interchange of economics political science and moral philosophy on the basis of an image of man as a purposive and responsible actor who pursues his own objectives as efficiently as possible This fruitful interchange between the fields outlined above existed during the late eighteenth century during the brief period of the Scottish Enlightenment when such great scholars as David Hume Adam Ferguson and Adam Smith contributed to all these fields and more However as intellectual specialization gradually replaced broad based scholarship from the nineteenth century onwards it became increasingly rare to find a scholar making major contributions to more than one Once Alfred Marshall defined economics in neoclassical terms as a narrow positive discipline the link between economics political science and moral philosophy was all but severed and economists redefined their role into that of the humble dentist providing technical economic information as inputs to improve the performance of impartial benevolent and omniscient governments in their attempts to promote the public interest This indeed was the dominant view within an economics profession that had become besotted by the economics of John Maynard Keynes and Paul Samuelson immediately following the end of the Second World War

Heightening Competition in the Postal and Delivery Sector Michael A. Crew, Paul R. Kleindorfer, 2010-01-01 This compilation of original essays by an international cast of top scholars addresses some of the major issues now facing postal and delivery services throughout the world The European Commission and member states wrestle with the problem of how to implement the scheduled liberalization of these sectors and maintain the universal service obligation while the United States Postal Service is coming to terms with the Postal Accountability and Enhancement Act In addition the book addresses the impact of electronic competition as well as other problems facing the field The contributors analyze pressing issues such as access to infrastructure and service elements changes in the national regulations of EU countries forecasting mail volumes and the evolving market environment issues surrounding universal service and others Undergraduate and postgraduate students and researchers in regulation and public sector economics along with industry professionals will find this volume informative and useful
