50/20 not only raises the sights for those charged with the development of our future leaders but also provides a clear roadmap for delivering on that ambition As such it is an important contribution to a journey of transformation that affects not only the future of business but the very planet itself Paul Polman Unilever US The 50/20 initiative is an ambitious effort that highlights the urgent need for radical change in what we teach and how management education is delivered today In a world that faces so many different and fast evolving challenges the initiative is indeed timely and needed Peter Bakker World Business Council for Sustainable Development Switzerland We now finally have a blueprint that can be used as a foundation for a new contract between business schools and society Changing the way we educate our business leaders for tomorrow will change the world for the better Rakesh Khurana Harvard Business School US For many years commentators have described what is wrong with business schools characterizing them as the breeding grounds of a culture of greed and self enrichment in global business at the expense of the rest of society and of nature Management Education for the World is a response to this critique and a

handbook for those seeking to educate and create knowledge for a new breed of business leaders It presents a vision for the transformation of management education in service of the common good and explains how such a vision can be implemented in practice The 50 20 vision as it is also known was developed through a collaborative initiative between the Globally Responsible Leadership Initiative the World Business School Council for Sustainable Business and the U N backed Principles of Responsible Management Education and draws on the expertise of sustainability scholars business and business school leaders and thought leaders from many other walks of life This book explores the 21st century agenda of management education identifying three fundamental goals educating and developing globally responsible leaders enabling business organizations to serve the common good and engaging in the transformation of business and the economy It is a clarion call of service to society for a sector lost between the interests of faculty business and the schools themselves at the expense of people and planet It sees business education stepping up to the plate with the ability of holding and creating a space to provide responsible leadership for a sustainable world embodied in the central and unifying element of the 50 20 vision the collaboratory Management Education for the World is written for everyone concerned or passionate about the future of management education consultants facilitators entrepreneurs and leaders in organizations of any kind as well as policymakers and others with an interest in new and transformative thinking in the field In particular teachers researchers students and administrators will find it an invaluable resource on their journey

The future of management education James Morrell,1979 Securing the Future of Management Education Michelle Lee II,2014 Annotation This is the second of two volumes written to celebrate the 40th anniversary of EFMD Drawing on interviews conducted with leaders in the world of management education the first volume took a retrospective view focusing on the evolution of management education and providing the context that led management education to where it stands today It also synthesized respondents views on the strengths and weaknesses of the field the challenges it faces as well as lessons learned and not learned from the past This second volume similarly draws on the very rich data provided by the same respondents but is future oriented and takes on the theme of change It provides the reader with a sense of the challenges on the horizon potential blind spots and new realities of an increasingly competitive environment It discusses a range of alternative future scenarios for management education and urges the field to resist the lures of the dominant paradigm and to develop new models instead The authors contend that given the challenges ahead it is only through transformations and innovations that the future of the field can be secured

Rethinking the Business Models of Business Schools Kai Peters,Richard R. Smith,Howard Thomas,2018-01-17 Business schools around the world have grown and prospered in the last few decades but what does the future hold for business schools This book explores the potential future disruption of the business school tradition by considering funding value chains strategic groups value orientation innovation and business models The Future of Entrepreneurship in Africa Anthony Abiodun Eniola,Chux Gervase Iwu,Abdullah Promise Opute,2022-12-30 For many years

entrepreneurship has been considered as one of the most important solutions to the three pronged challenges poverty unemployment and inequality of most African countries A recent development that has undoubtedly compounded the challenges that African entrepreneurs face and further impede the economic growth impact is Covid 19 This pandemic has exerted severe damage to economies and businesses globally For the African setting the implications of Covid 19 on businesses and individuals would be enormous as African societies are rarely equipped to absorb unexpected shocks of this magnitude as the social and welfare schemes are far below requirements This book illuminates entrepreneurship in the African setting focusing on the prospects challenges and the post Covid 19 pandemic future It aims to offer a rich repository of information on strategies and techniques for sustaining entrepreneurial activities that can enrich African nations and will be of relevance to academics researchers advanced students entrepreneurs governments and government agencies who are interested in understanding issues relating to entrepreneurship development within the African continent From Purpose to Impact Nicholas O'Regan, 2024-07-24 To meet the challenge of closing the gap between academic research and industry practice we need a step change in how the business school and the business scholar engages with business This book presents best practice in the methods of broadening successful academic business engagement on a major scale It presents concrete recommendations for setting programmes creating incentives and structuring recruitment that will transform effective academic business engagement Most universities claim to have significant links with industry and the professions but in reality only a limited number of business scholars are engaged with industry A focus on impact presents an additional potential trap confusing promotion of research and tactical tips and tricks with genuine engagement This book explores the increasing number of new and innovative partnerships and collaborative activities and looks at how academics can adapt to and leverage these new opportunities It focuses on the academic as the primary driver of the external relationship and outlines the skills and capabilities needed to proactively develop engagement Finally the book provides a number of examples of best practice from a range of countries Written by senior business scholars and leaders from around the world and with examples of best practice included from leading universities this book gives universities the insight needed to develop a broader range of relationships with businesses and to have genuine engagement and impact in practice Neuroleadership Development and Effective Communication in Modern Business Kukreja, Jyoti, Saluja, Shefali, Sharma, Sandhir, 2024-04-22 In today's rapidly evolving business landscape leaders face unprecedented challenges in navigating complex organizational dynamics fostering innovation and driving sustainable growth Traditional leadership approaches often must address these multifaceted issues leading to stagnation and missed corporate opportunities The emerging field of Neuroleadership offers a transformative solution by leveraging cutting edge insights from neuroscience and psychology to revolutionize leadership practices Neuroleadership Development and Effective Communication in Modern Business is a comprehensive guide to understanding and implementing Neuroleadership principles offering a groundbreaking approach to leadership development
