Future For Palliative Care Issues Of Policy And Practice:

The Future for Palliative Care David Clark, 1993 The hospice movement has become an established method of caring for the dying in Europe its challenge to the power and income of conventional medicine led to its early death in the US and ten studies speculate on whether the principles can be translated into other settings such as hospitals residential and nursing homes and the community Contributors from a variety of fields discuss the quality and cost of care bereavement services HIV AIDS euthanasia pain management and other issues Paper edition 15764 5 32 50 Distributed by Taylor and Francis Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR

Art Therapy in Palliative Care Mandy Pratt, Michele Wood, 2015-11-17 This book provides a comprehensive and accessible introduction to the practice and results of art therapy in palliative care It includes first hand accounts from both therapists and clients in a variety of palliative care settings including hospices and hospitals patients own homes prisons AIDS patients adolescent griefwork groups These case studies include examples of client art work and illustrate clearly how art therapy can allow patients to regain feelings of control over their lives

Textbook of Palliative Medicine and Supportive Care Eduardo Bruera, Irene Higginson, Charles F. von Gunten, Tatsuya Morita, 2015-01-15 the thoroughness of the text has to be admired It is an excellent starting point for students of palliative care which makes an important contribution to any library British Journal of Hospital Medicine covers a plethora of topics ranging from the development of palliative medicine in different countries to clinical topics and bioethics an

Textbook of Palliative Medicine Eduardo Bruera, Irene Higginson, Charles F von Gunten, 2009-01-30 Textbook of Palliative Medicine provides an alternative truly international approach to this rapidly growing specialty This textbook fills a niche with its evidence based multi professional approach and global perspective ensured by the international team of editors and contributing authors In the absence of an international curriculum for the study of palliative medicine this textbook provides essential guidance for those both embarking upon a career in palliative medicine or already established in the field and the structure and content have been constructed very much with this in mind With an emphasis on providing a service anywhere in the world including the important issue of palliative care in the developing nations Textbook of Palliative Medicine offers a genuine alternative to the narrative approach of its competitors and is an ideal complement to them It is essential reading for all palliative care physicians in training and in practice as well as palliative care nurses and other health professionals in the palliative care team

Death, Dying and Bereavement Donna Dickenson, Malcolm Johnson, Malcolm Lewis Johnson, Jeanne Katz, 2000-12-08 This second edition which has also been edited by Samson Katz utilizes around half of the original text of which a significant portions has been revised and updated The remainder comprises new material reflecting both the changes in attitudes generally towards death and dying and also designed to meet the needs of students undertaking the revised curriculum of the K260 This book will stimulate thinking and challenge the personal views of both academics and those in practice A valuable tool for both those new to the area of palliative and cancer care and those experienced professionals searching for a new angle on several key topics in relation to ethical issues occurring in this speciality An excellent balance of theoretical contents and moving prose This book is directed towards all professionals working in health and social care This book is a must for pre registration students wishing to gain greater understanding of the psychosocial issues faced by those with a terminal illness and their significant others Nurse Education Today The fully revised and updated edition of this bestselling collection combines academic research with professional and personal reflections Death Dying and Bereavement addresses both the practical and the more metaphysical aspects of death Topics such as new methods of pain relief guidelines for breaking bad news and current attitudes to euthanasia are considered while the mystery of death and its wider implications are also explored A highly distinctive interdisciplinary approach is adopted including perspectives from literature theology sociology and psychology There are wide ranging contributions from those who come into professional contact with death and bereavement doctors nurses social workers and councillors In addition there are more intimate personal accounts from carers and from bereaved people Death Dying and Bereavement is the Course Reader for The Open University course Death and Dying which is offered as part of The Open University Diploma in Health and Social Welfare Praise for the First Edition The book does give a broad overview of many of the issues around death dying and bereavement It raises the reader's awareness and encourages deeper investigation at every level It is easy to read and therefore accessible to a wide audience Changes Provides a richly woven tapestry of personal professional and literary accounts of death dying and bereavement Health Psychology Update Offers a unique collection of fascinating information research stories poems and personal reflections It is unusual to experience such a diversity of writings in one book Nursing Times It brings together the knowledge and skills from a multi occupational group and thereby offers and opportunity to whoever reads it to enable better experiences for those who are dying and bereaved Journal of Interprofessional Care For those trying to help the dying and bereaved this volume will inspire and move you as much as it will inform and guide your work Bereavement Care Provides a unique overview and in many areas penetrating insights into various aspects of death dying and bereavement One of its major strengths is that it brings together a wide and varied discourse on death across cultures and through time British Journal of Sociology Palliative Care in Europe H. ten Have, Rien Janssens, 2001 This text is concerned with the organization ideas and problems of palliative care in the European context As a result of a BIOMED project various organizations concepts and problematic issues of palliative care have been studied and described End of Life in Care Homes Jeanne Samson Katz, Sheila M. Peace, 2003-04-03 In our society the overwhelming majority of people die in later life They typically die slowly of chronic diseases with multiple co existing problems over long periods of time They spend the majority of their final years at home but many will die in hospitals or care homes This book explores the possibilities for improving the care of older people dying in residential care and nursing homes It argues that there are aspects of palliative care that given the right circumstances are transferable to dying people in settings that are not domestic or hospice based End of Life in Care Homes describes what happens in nursing and residential care homes when a resident is dying how carers cope and the practical health and emotional challenges that carers face on top of their day to day work Based on detailed research from both the UK and US the book shows how the situation can be improved

The Production of Hospice Space Sarah McGann, 2016-03-03 Challenging the widely held notion of a hospice as a building or a place this book argues that it should instead be a philosophy of care It proposes that the positive and negative impact that space can have in the pursuit of an ideal such as hospice care has previously been underestimated Whether it be a purpose built hospice part of a hospital a nursing home or within the home a hospice is anchored by space and spatial practices and these spatial practices are critical for a holistic approach to dying with dignity Such spatial practices are understood as part of a broad architectural social conceptual and theoretical process By linking health social and architectural theory and establishing conceptual principles this book defines hospice as a philosophy that is underpinned by space and spatial practice In putting forward the notion of hospice space removed from the bounds of a specific building type it suggests that hospice philosophy could and should be available within any setting of choice where the spatial practices support that philosophy be it home nursing home hospice or hospice friendly hospitals

Death, Gender and Ethnicity David Field, Dr David Field, Jenny Hockey, Neil Small, 2002-01-04 Death Gender and Ethnicity examines the ways in which gender and ethnicity shape the experiences of dying and bereavement taking as its focus the diversity of ways through which the universal event of death is encountered It brings together accounts of how these experiences are actually managed with analyses of a range of representations of dying and grieving in order to provide a more theoretical approach to the relationship between death gender and ethnicity Though death and dying have been an increasingly important focus for academics and clinicians over the last thirty years much of this work provides little insight into the impact of gender and ethnicity on the experience The result is often a universalising representation which fails to take account of the personally unique and culturally specific experiences associated with a death Drawing on a range of detailed case studies Death Gender and Ethnicity develops a more sensitive theoretical approach which will be invaluable reading for students and practitioners in health studies sociology social work and medical anthropology

The Dying Process Julia Lawton, 2002-01-04 Taking as its focus a highly emotive area of study The Dying Process draws on the experiences of daycare and hospice patients to provide a forceful new analysis of the period of decline prior to death Placing the bodily realities of dying very firmly centre stage and questioning the ideology central to the modern hospice movement of enabling patients to live until they die Julia Lawton shows how our concept of a good death is open to interpretation Her study examines the non negotiable effects of a patient's bodily deterioration on their sense of self and in so doing offers a powerful new perspective in embodiment and emotion in death and dying A detailed and subtle ethnographic study The Dying Process engages with a range of deeply complex and ethically contentious issues surrounding the care of dying patients in hospices and elsewhere

EBOOK:

Carers Perceived Julia Twigg, Karl Atkin, 1994-01-16 Carers are the bedrock of community care and yet our understanding of how they do and do not fit into the care system is limited Concern is often expressed about the need to support carers but the best way to do this is not always clear This book breaks new ground in exploring the reality of how service providers the doctors social workers and community nurses respond to carers It looks at which carers get help and why analyzing how age relationship class and gender structure the responses of service providers and carers It examines the moral and policy issues posed by trying to incorporate carers interests into service provision What would services look like if they took the needs of carers seriously How far can they afford to do so Is this only achieved at the expense of disabled people What is the proper relationship between carers and services Carers pose in acute form many of the central dilemmas of social welfare and the account presented here has the widest significance for the analysis of community care Focusing on the views of carers as well as service providers the book looks at caring across a variety of relationships and conditions including people with mental health problems and learning disabilities      Reflections on Palliative Care David Clark, Jane Seymour, 1999 By drawing on a wide range of sources Clark and Seymour offer a set of reflections on the development of palliative care and its place within a wider social context This work considers ethical questions and palliative care s history too      Hospice Care and Culture Teresa Chikako Maruyama, 2018-12-21 First published in 1999 Maruyama explores some significant difficulties and differences in bringing the western hospice philosophy to the Japanese medical culture Whilst not giving any definite answers this study determines what some of the critical questions that need to be considered into Japanese medicine as Mayuyama argues without defining these questions to begin with we cannot find appropriate solutions      Partnerships in Community Mental Health Nursing & Dementia Care John Keady, Charlotte Clarke, Sean Page, 2007-08-16 How useful is this book I have referred to it often and found myself quoting information and models of care from it I lent it to a colleague to prepare a presentation on challenging behaviour to our local carers group and he thought it was an excellent resource It is key reading for any mental health professional with an interest in improving the quality of life of people with dementia I would recommend that all community teams have a copy Dementia Overall this book is useful It is well indexed and has helpful summaries and sections on lessons for practice It is to be hoped that the title will not deter clinicians other than nurses from reading it as it will be of interest and of use to them too mentalhealth today This is an excellent reader aimed at a wide readership I believe it is particularly appropriate for qualified staff in CMHTs but also for mental health occupational therapy and social work students as a comprehensive introductory text for mental health for older people in community settings Mark Vincent University of Northampton UK A very useful foundation book for those wishing to understand the challenges of dementia care Anthony Fraher University of the West of England UK What is the role of the community mental health nurse CMHN in dementia care What knowledge and frameworks influence the way CMHNs practice in dementia care How will community mental health nursing be driven forward in the future This exciting and long awaited new book is a companion volume to the respected Community Mental Health Nursing and Dementia Care Practice Perspectives Open University Press 2003 edited by Keady Clarke and Adams The book enhances the link between theory and practice providing a rounded and evidence based account of the complexity breadth and diversity of community mental health nursing practice in dementia care The text is divided into three distinct sections Models of community support and practice values Professional roles and clinical work Moving forward Changing and developing CMHN practice The book includes coverage of key contemporary issues such as service user involvement nurse prescribing younger people with dementia social exclusion and vulnerability Partnerships in Community Mental Health Nursing and Dementia Care Practice Perspectives is key reading for students of dementia care at all levels It is also of relevance to professionals within the field of community mental health nursing and all other mental health or gerontology related areas Contributions to this book are drawn from practising CMHNs in dementia care researchers and commentators who are working at the forefront of their respective fields

Hospital-based Palliative Care Teams Robert J. Dunlop, J. M. Hockley, 1998 When the first edition of this book Terminal Care Support Teams the hospital hospice interface 1990 was written there were only a few advisory palliative care teams working in hospitals Since then the number of teams has grown rapidly The concept of these teams is now widely accepted but there is an increased need for information about setting up a team how they work and how effective they are This book looks at the need for hospital based palliative care teams and the challenges of bringing palliative care into the acute hospital setting It reviews the needs of patients their families and their professional carers and also looks at the theoretical and practical problems which may be encountered For example there is practical advice on setting up hospital based palliative care teams the selection of team members as well as coverage of team dynamics and the role of the pain clinic and palliation oncology
