Endangered Human Animal:

The Human Animal Earthling Identity Carrie P. Freeman, 2020-12-01 With The Human Animal Earthling Identity Carrie P. Freeman asks us to reconsider the devastating division we have created between the human and animal conditions leading to mass exploitation injustice and extinction As a remedy Freeman believes social movements should collectively foster a cultural shift in human identity away from an egoistic anthropocentrism human centered outlook and toward a universal altruism species centered ethic so people may begin to see themselves more broadly as human animal earthlings To formulate the basis for this identity shift Freeman examines overlapping values supporting life fairness responsibility and unity that are common in global rights declarations and in the current campaign messages of sixteen global social movement organizations that work on human civil rights nonhuman animal protection and or environmental issues such as Amnesty International Human Rights Watch CARE People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals the World Wildlife Fund the Sea Shepherd Conservation Society the Nature Conservancy the Rainforest Action Network and Greenpeace She also interviews the leaders of these advocacy groups to gain their insights on how human and nonhuman protection causes can become allies by engaging common opponents and activating shared values and goals on issues such as the climate crisis enslavement extinction pollution inequality destructive farming and fishing and threats to democracy Freeman's analysis of activist discourse considers ethical ideologies on behalf of social justice animal rights and environmentalism using animal rights respect for sentient individuals as a bridge connecting human rights to a more holistic valuing of species and ecological systems Ultimately Freeman uses her findings to recommend a set of universal values around which all social movements campaign messages can collectively cultivate respectful relations between human animal earthlings fellow sentient beings and the natural world we share

The Endangered Human Animal Kurt Dreifuss, 1984 Humans, Animals and Biopolitics Kristin Asdal, Tone Druglito, Steve Hinchliffe, 2016-07-01 Human animal co existence is central to a politics of life how we order societies and to debates about who we humans think we are In other words our ways of understanding and ordering human animal relations have economic and political implications and affect peoples everyday lives By bringing together historically oriented approaches and contemporary ethnographies which engage with science and technology studies STS this book reflects the multi sited multi species multi logic and multiple ways in which lives are and have been assembled disassembled practised and possibly policed and politicized Instead of asking only how control and knowledge are and have been extended over life the chapters in this book also look at what happens when control fails at practices which defy orders escape detection fail to produce or only loosely hang together In doing so the book problematises and extends the Foucauldian notion of biopolitics that has been such a central analytical concept in studies of human animal relations and provides a unique resource of cases and theoretical refinements regarding the ways in which we live together with more than human others studies is an academic field that has grown exponentially over the past decade. It explores the whys, hows, and whats of human-animal relations: why animals are represented and configured in different ways in human cultures and societies around the world; how they are imagined, experienced, and given significance; what these relationships might signify about being human; and what about these relationships might be improved for the sake of the individuals as well as the communities concerned. The Routledge Handbook of Human-Animal Studies presents a collection of original essays from artists and scholars who have established themselves internationally on the basis of specific and significant new contributions to human-animal studies. This international interdisciplinary handbook will be of interest to students and scholars of human-animal studies, sociology, anthropology, biology, environmental studies, geography, cultural studies, history, philosophy, media studies, gender studies, literature, psychology, ethology, and visual studies.

Humans and Animals Julie Urbanik, Connie L.

Johnston, 2017-01-26 An engaging and at times sobering look at the coexistence of humans and animals in the 21st century and how their sometimes disparate needs affect environments, politics, economies, and culture worldwide. There is an urgent need to understand human-animal interactions and relations as we become increasingly aware of our devastating impact on the natural resources needed for the survival of all animal species. This timely reference explores such topics as climate change and biodiversity, the impact of animal domestication and industrial farming on local and global ecosystems, and the impact of human consumption of wild species for food, entertainment, medicine, and social status. This volume also explores the role of pets in our lives, advocacy movements on behalf of animals, and the role of animals in art and media culture. Authors Julie Urbanik and Connie L. Johnston introduce the concept of animal geography, present different aspects of human-animal relationships worldwide, and highlight the importance of examining these interconnections. Alphabetical entries illustrate key relationships, concepts, practices, and animal species. The book concludes with a comprehensive appendix of select excerpts from key primary source documents relating to animals and a glossary.

The Human-Animal Relationship as a Subject of Citizenship Education Jennifer Bloise, 2025-09-26 The aim of this book is to explore the human-animal relationship as a new subject of political education and to make it accessible for critical reflection. A guiding thesis is that society's relationship with animals is both political and problematic as it is shaped by power structures and rarely recognized as an issue due to its status as an unexamined norm. To explore this topic, the model of didactic reconstruction is employed. A problem-centered interview study is used to reconstruct students' everyday conceptions of animals, humans, and their political relationship. These conceptions are then compared with academic perspectives, particularly from Human-Animal Studies, in order to uncover contradictions and taken-for-granted assumptions and to identify exemplary didactically fruitful approaches to the subject. The author concludes that future engagement with the human-animal relationship in the context of political education should be critically oriented toward power structures. This would enable reflective and multi-perspective political judgment on the human-animal relationship, making the invisible visible.

Perceptions of Human-Animal Relationships and their Impacts on Animal Ethics, Law and Research Cédric

Sueur, Marie Pelé, Tetsuro Matsuzawa, Jean-Yves Georges, 2021-02-09 Companion Animals in Everyday Life Michał Piotr Pręgoski, 2016-09-14 This book is an interdisciplinary collection shedding light on human animal relationships and interactions around the world The book offers a predominantly empirical look at social and cultural practices related to companion animals in Mexico Poland the Netherlands Japan China and Taiwan Vietnam USA and Turkey among others It focuses on how dogs cats rabbits and members of other species are perceived and treated in various cultures highlighting commonalities and differences between them Neoliberalism and Young Adult Fiction Sean P. Connors, Roberta Seelinger

Trites, 2025-03-17 In the twenty first century the influence of neoliberalism the belief that society benefits when both individuals and corporations are free to maximize their talents in the service of responding to social needs and problems resonates through all domains of human life And yet little critical study has been given to the reproduction of a neoliberal social order in YA literature Neoliberalism and Young Adult Fiction Exceptionalism Exploitation and Erasure examines how some YA literature naturalizes neoliberalism in positioning teenagers as self enclosed competitive individuals At the same time however the authors also examine other YA novels as potential sites of resistance that acknowledge teenagers agency to reject neoliberalism s destructive impulses and to work for social justice and equality through collective action With that in mind the authors of Neoliberalism and Young Adult Fiction analyze such concepts as how the exceptionality of specific characters who embody neoliberal ideals leads to self enclosed individualism and how environmental exploitation and consumerism lead to destructive effects The book progresses to an in depth examination of how racism undergirds US neoliberalism and environmental exploitation From scrutinizing racism and the rejection of neoliberalism inherent in the antiracism movement the study turns to an examination of gender specifically focusing on the relationship between sexism exploitation and embodied rejections of patriarchal thinking Indeed erasure is implicated in racism sexism and all forms of discrimination that are borne of exploitation Finally youth activism with its rejection of neoliberal ideologies leads to a culminating chapter about how global youth link YA literature to their protest movements Love in a Time of Slaughters

Susan McHugh, 2019-05-07 Love in a Time of Slaughters examines a diverse array of contemporary creative narratives in which genocide and extinction blur species lines in order to show how such stories can promote the preservation of biological and cultural diversity in a time of man made threats to species survival From indigenous novels and Japanese anime to art installations and truth commission reports Susan McHugh analyzes source material from a variety of regions and cultures to highlight cases where traditional knowledge works in tandem with modern ways of thinking about human animal relations In contrast to success stories of such relationships the narratives McHugh highlights show the vulnerabilities of affective bonds as well as the kinds of loss shared when interspecific relationships are annihilated In this thoughtful critique McHugh explores the potential of these narratives to become a more powerful urgent strategy of resistance to the forces that work to dehumanize people eradicate animals and threaten biodiversity As we unevenly contribute to the sixth great extinction this timely compelling study sheds light on what constitutes an effective response from a humanities focused interdisciplinary perspective McHugh s work will appeal to scholars working at the crossroads of human animal studies literature and visual culture as well as artists and activists who are interested in the intersections of animal politics with genocide and indigeneity

Animal Ethics in the Age of Humans Bernice Bovenkerk, Jozef Keulartz, 2016-09-21 This book provides reflection on the increasingly blurry boundaries that characterize the human animal relationship In the Anthropocene humans and animals have come closer together and this asks for rethinking old divisions Firstly new scientific insights and technological advances lead to a blurring of the boundaries between animals and humans Secondly our increasing influence on nature leads to a rethinking of the old distinction between individual animal ethics and collectivist environmental ethics Thirdly ongoing urbanization and destruction of animal habitats leads to a blurring between the categories of wild and domesticated animals Finally globalization and global climate change have led to the fragmentation of natural habitats blurring the old distinction between in situ and ex situ conservation In this book researchers at the cutting edge of their fields systematically examine the broad field of human animal relations dealing with wild liminal and domestic animals with conservation and zoos and with technologies such as biomimicry This book is timely in that it explores the new directions in which our thinking about the human animal relationship are developing While the target audience primarily consists of animal studies scholars coming from a wide range of disciplines including philosophy sociology psychology ethology literature and film studies many of the topics that are discussed have relevance beyond a purely theoretical one as such the book also aims to inspire for example biologists conservationists and zoo keepers to reflect on their relationship with animals

Tourism, Heritage and Commodification of Non-human Animals: A Posthumanist Reflection Álvaro López López, Gino Jafet Quintero Venegas, Carol Kline, 2023-12-19 Heritage is a social construction rooted in modern and contemporary societies It is commonly a positive assessment of many elements of the physical and human environment e g ecosystems and landscapes monuments customs gender norms religious practices gastronomy and livelihoods Heritage and tourism are strongly related to each other in that heritage gives rise to tourist attractions and activities and tourism enhances the designation of heritage sites A post humanist perspective the moral valuation of equality between humans and other animals demands that both are sentient beings and self aware of their pain and pleasure Thus the involvement of animals as heritage elements by themselves or as an element of tourist consumption in heritage sites implies their commodification and lack of agency As such these practices are usually unethical since they threaten the animals primary interests not to suffer not to feel pain and to be able to live their freedom This book contains chapters that reveal both the unethical interactions between humans and animals within heritage tourism and those that show experiences in which efforts are made to minimize damage within the commercialization of animals involved as heritage themselves
