Endocrine Aspects Of Successful Aging:

Endocrine Aspects of Successful Aging: Genes, Hormones and Lifestyles P. Chanson, Jacques Epelbaum, S.W.J. Lamberts, 2013-03-09 At the beginning of the 20th century life expectancy at birth in North America and Western Europe was around 50 years of age Nowadays women have gained more than 30 years of age and men are trailing closer However according to several sociologists such as Louis Chauvel the notion of a greying society is not entirely adequate since aging people are physically and socially younger and more active for a longer time Of course the other side of the medal is to tackle the challenge of preventing age associated chronic diseases In this book the extensive field of research on neuroendocrine aging has been reviewed Aging is one of the most complex biological processes determined by the interactions between genetic and environmental factors

Handbook of the Neuroscience of Aging Patrick R. Hof, Charles V. Mobbs, 2010-05-22 A single volume of 85 articles the Handbook of the Neurobiology of Aging is an authoritative selection of relevant chapters from the Encyclopedia of Neuroscience the most comprehensive source of neuroscience information assembled to date AP Oct 2008 The study of neural aging is a central topic in neuroscience neuropsychology and gerontology Some well known age related neurological diseases include Parkinson s and Alzheimer s but even more common are problems of aging which are not due to disease but to more subtle impairments in neurobiological systems including impairments in vision memory loss muscle weakening and loss of reproductive functions changes in body weight and sleeplessness As the average age of our society increases diseases of aging become more common and conditions associated with aging need more attention by doctors and researchers This book offers an overview of topics related to neurobiological impairments which are related to the aging brain and nervous system Coverage ranges from animal models to human imaging fundamentals of age related neural changes and pathological neurodegeneration and offers an overview of structural and functional changes at the molecular systems and cognitive levels Key pathologies such as memory disorders Alzheimer s dementia Down syndrome Parkinson s and stroke are discussed as are cutting edge interventions such as cell replacement therapy and deep brain stimulation There is no other current single volume reference with such a comprehensive coverage and depth Authors selected are the internationally renowned experts for the particular topics on which they write and the volume is richly illustrated with over 100 color figures A collection of articles reviewing our fundamental knowledge of neural aging the book provides an essential affordable reference for scientists in all areas of Neuroscience Neuropsychology and Gerontology The most comprehensive source of up to date data on the neurobiology of aging review articles cover normal sensory and cognitive aging neuroendocrine structural and molecular factors and fully address both pathology and intervention Chapters represent an authoritative selection of relevant material from the most comprehensive source of information about neuroscience ever assembled Encyclopedia of Neuroscience synthesizing information otherwise dispersed across a number of journal articles and book chapters and saving researchers the time consuming process of finding and integrating this information themselves Offering outstanding scholarship each chapter is written by an expert in the topic area and over 20% of chapters feature international contributors representing 11 countries Provides more fully vetted expert knowledge than any existing work with broad appeal for the US UK and Europe accurately crediting the contributions to research in those regions Fully explores various pathologies associated with the aging brain Alzheimer s dementia Parkinson s memory disorders stroke Down s syndrome etc Coverage of disorders and key interventions makes the volume relevant to clinicians as well as researchers Heavily illustrated with over 100 color figures

Physiological Basis of Aging and Geriatrics Paola S. Timiras, 2007-08-16 Extensively revised and updated to reflect the current state of knowledge in the study of aging this Fourth Edition offers a complete profile of the aging process at all levels from molecules and cells to demography and evolution Written by international experts in current basic and clinical aging research this text includes aspects of individual comparative and differential aging and discussions of theories and mechanisms of aging This invaluable reference illustrates how bodily systems organs and functions are affected with aging describes how genetic and environmental factors influence age related changes and addresses some of the clinical consequences of these changes for health and longevity Well illustrated with numerous tables and graphs this book presents up to date information from internationally renowned experts in various bio medical fields

The Cambridge Handbook of Evolutionary Perspectives on Sexual Psychology: Volume 3, Female Sexual Adaptations Todd K. Shackelford, 2022-07-21 The interface of sexual behavior and evolutionary psychology is a rapidly growing domain rich in psychological theories and data as well as controversies and applications With nearly eighty chapters by leading researchers from around the world and combining theoretical and empirical perspectives The Cambridge Handbook of Evolutionary Perspectives on Sexual Psychology is the most comprehensive and up to date reference work in the field Providing a broad yet in depth overview of the various evolutionary principles that influence all types of sexual behaviors the handbook takes an inclusive approach that draws on a number of disciplines and covers nonhuman and human psychology It is an essential resource for both established researchers and students in psychology biology anthropology medicine and criminology among other fields Volume 3 Female Sexual Adaptations addresses theory and research focused on sexual adaptations in human females

The Biology of Ageing Gurcharan Rai, Aza Abdulla, 2022-02-16 One of the problems geriatricians are confronted with in everyday clinical practice is differentiating disease from the process of old age The challenges of ageing require a better understanding of the essential biology of ageing in order to separate ageing from disease and indeed ageing made worse by disease Although the topic is large and diverse this practical and easy to read reference book contains vital information on the biology of ageing It provides a concise understanding of the changes that occur and focuses on the clinical implications of ageing MCQs are featured throughout for revision and examination practice The Biology of Ageing provides the reader with a learning guide on the biology of ageing through an overview of the changes that occur at both cellular and system levels knowledge of how biological changes of ageing impact on physiology and the clinical relevance in medical practice a practical consideration of these changes in disease presentations and how these changes may impact on disease management This full colour guide featuring slides MRIs figures and photographs is ideal for doctors training in geriatric medicine practising geriatricians and those with an interest in management of older people Endocrine Facets of Ageing Derek J. Chadwick, Jamie A.

Goode, 2002-02-15 Social and medical developments have recently led to a dramatic increase in life expectancy This has inspired the study of organismic changes associated with healthy ageing in particular the erosion of homeostatic capabilities in multiple endocrine systems This book reviews advances in the understanding of endocrine facets of ageing It considers the relative magnitudes and time courses of different endocrine adaptations in the ageing human and experimental animal addressing the influence of external factors on the rates of progression of endocrine sequelae in ageing the mechanisms that underlie the disarray of endocrine axes in ageing and the implications of therapeutic reconstitution of hormones in ageing This book Considers the mechanisms of ageing and hormonal changes that occur with age Discusses healthy ageing and the relationships between hormonal changes and pathophysiological conditions such as atherosclerosis and age related bone loss Draws together contributions from basic and clinical research to identify and stimulate promising new research directions

Hormonal Control of Cell Cycle Shlomo Melmed, Henri Rochefort, Philippe Chanson, 2007-11-04 This book covers topics that range from fundamental studies of DNA replication chromosomal and nuclear function through growth factor control of endocrine tumor initiation and progression The basic and translational insights gained from Hormonal Control of Cell Cycle will be of interest to those studying the biology of endocrine tumors as well as those deriving novel therapeutic approaches for these benign and malignant disorders Encyclopedia of Neuroscience, Volume 1 Larry R. Squire, 2009-06-12 The Encyclopedia of the Neuroscience explores all areas of the discipline in its focused entries on a wide variety of topics in neurology neurosurgery psychiatry and other related areas of neuroscience Each article is written by an expert in that specific domain and peer reviewed by the advisory board before acceptance into the encyclopedia Each article contains a glossary introduction a reference section and cross references to other related encyclopedia articles Written at a level suitable for university undergraduates the breadth and depth of coverage will appeal beyond undergraduates to professionals and academics in related fields

Biochemistry and Cell Biology of Ageing: Part I Biomedical Science J. Robin Harris, Viktor I. Korolchuk, 2019-02-18 This new volume in the Subcellular Biochemistry series will focus on the biochemistry and cellular biology of aging processes in human cells The chapters will be written by experts in their respective fields and will focus on a number of the current key areas of research in subcellular aging research Main topics for discussion are mitochondrial aging protein homeostasis and aging and the genetic processes that are involved in aging There will also be chapters that are dedicated to the study of the roles of a variety of vitamins and minerals on aging and a number of other external factors microbiological ROS inflammation nutrition This book will provide the reader with a state of the art overview of the subcellular aging field This book will be published in cooperation with a second volume that will discuss the translation of the cell biology of aging to a more clinical setting and it is hoped that the combination of these two volumes will bring a deeper understanding of the links between the cell and the body during aging

The Oldest Cure in the World Steve Hendricks, 2022-09-06 An illuminating exploration of the rich and varied history and myriad health benefits of fasting Wall Street Journal When should we eat and when shouldn't we The answers to these simple questions are not what you might expect As Steve Hendricks shows in The Oldest Cure in the World stop eating long enough and you'll set in motion cellular repairs that can slow aging and prevent and reverse diseases like diabetes and hypertension Fasting has improved the lives of people with epilepsy asthma and arthritis and has even protected patients from the worst of chemotherapy's side effects But for such an elegant and effective treatment fasting has had a surprisingly long and fraught history From the earliest days of humanity and the Greek fathers of medicine through Christianity's fasting saints and a 19th century doctor whose stupendous 40 day fast on a New York City stage inaugurated the modern era of therapeutic fasting Hendricks takes readers on a rich and comprehensive tour Threaded throughout are Hendricks's own adventures in fasting including a stay at a luxurious fasting clinic in Germany and in a more spartan one closer to home in Northern California This is a playful insightful and persuasive exploration of our bodies and when we should and should not feed them

Emotion, Social Relationships, and Health Carol D. Ryff Professor of Psychology University of Wisconsin-Madison, Burton Singer Office of Population Research Princeton University, 2001-05-03 A growing literature in humans and animals documents linkages between social integration and affiliative relationships and a variety of health and disease outcomes including mortality The actual mechanisms through which these efforts occur are however not well understood Emotion likely plays a central role in mediating connections between relational experiences underlying neurobiological processes and health outcomes Many prior studies have focused on the size and proximity of social networks thereby neglecting their emotional features When studied emotion in social relationships has also been heavily weighted on the side of negative and conflicting interactions thus giving minimal attention to the possible protective benefits of enduring love nurturing and affection This volume brings together for the first time these differing lines of inquiry to advance understanding of how emotion in significant social relationships influences health The collection integrates knowledge from those with expertise in mapping the nature of emotional experience in human relations with those who are linking social ties to health outcomes and those who explicate underlying neurobiological mechanisms A main message of the book is that full explication of how emotion social relationships and health are woven together demands multidisciplinary inquiry To this end the volume brings together leading experts from fields of affective science clinical and social psychology epidemiology psychiatry psychoneuroimmunology psychoneuroendocrinology and health to promote the above synthesis Some address how to formulate observe and evaluate social interactions in clinical laboratory or daily life contexts Others link emotional experience in significant social relationships to health outcomes or intervening biological parameters Still others manipulate social environments or exposure to health challenge to assess impact on respiratory infections and immune function Collectively each contributes different pieces to the larger puzzle that connects emotion in social relationships to health Recurrent themes include the importance of attending to 1 both positive and negative emotional experience in significant social relationships and how they influence underlying mechanisms 2 cumulative emotional experience namely the repeated chronic nature of socioemotional experience both positive and negative 3 gender differences in how emotion in social relationships is experienced and how it effects underlying mechanisms involved in health outcomes and 4 the need for multiple methodologies to advance the emotion social relationships and health agenda

Biological Basis of Geriatric Oncology Lodovico Balducci, Martine Extermann, 2006-06-14 Biological Basis of Geriatric Oncology highlights research issues that are specific to geriatric oncology in the field of carcinogenesis and cancer prevention and treatment based on the biologic interactions of cancer and age It illustrates the benefit of the principles of geriatrics in the management of cancer in the older individual This volume provides a frame of reference for practitioners of any specialties involved in the management of older patients and for oncologists involved in the management of cancer of older individuals It is a source for basic and clinical scientists exploring the interactions and emerging information of cancer and aging
