Energy Wealth And Governance In The Caucasus And Central Asia Lessons Not Learned:

Energy, Wealth and Governance in the Caucasus and Central Asia Richard Auty, Indra de Soysa, 2006-08-21 Drawing upon recent progress in development economics and political science the book provides fresh analysis of the Caucasus and Central Asia CCA countries transition to a market economy by tracing the impact of natural resource endowment The book examines the synergies between energy rich and energy poor states and highlights the practical consequences of both well managed and poorly managed deployment of energy Featuring contributions from prominent specialists on resource driven economies the book argues that unless CCA elites change the way in which they deploy natural resource revenues regional development will fall short of its potential with possible disastrous consequences The contributors apply the experience of the developing market economies to demonstrate that the region still holds considerable potential to become an important stable supplier of raw materials and a source of industrial demand to the global economy However the CCA is equally likely to become a threat to the global economy as a consequence of the misuse of energy revenues to promote the interests of predatory political elites

The Governance of Energy Megaprojects Benjamin K. Sovacool, C. J. Cooper, 2013-07-01 Benjamin Sovacool and Christopher Jon Cooper have produced an astonishing and well written book based on extensive original research in twelve countries They explore the technical social political and economic dimensions of four energy megaprojects The large scale of megaprojects always appears to complicate the decision making process and often causes failures Megaprojects may even reinforce corruption and erode democracy It highlights that today's experiences can be explained by statements by Aristotle and Einstein who argue both in their own way that it is always wise to take the limits of size into account and to reduce the size of projects wherever this is possible For everybody involved in megaprojects this book must be read Hugo Priemus Delft University of Technology The Netherlands Based on extensive original research this book explores the technical social political and economic dimensions of four Asian energy megaprojects a regional natural gas pipeline network in Southeast Asia a series of hydroelectric dams on the island of Borneo an oil pipeline linking Europe with the Caspian Sea and a very large solar energy array in the Gobi desert This book investigates why energy megaprojects fail to deliver their promised benefits It offers the first comprehensive assessment of the complicated dynamics driving and constraining megaprojects initiated in the rapid scramble for energy resources and efforts to improve energy security The authors approach the assessment of megaprojects from a socio technical angle emphasizing broad issues of political leadership regulation financing interest group opposition and environmental impact as well as conventional technological factors such as engineering design and project management The Governance of Energy Megaprojects will prove insightful for academics concerned about energy policy energy security environmental impact and technology assessment But the book should prove equally compelling to those engaged in the practical management and implementation of large scale energy projects anywhere in the world
