Energy Policies of IEA Countries International Energy Agency, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 2003 Hungary has made remarkable progress in liberalising its energy markets as part of the government's aim to strike a balance between energy security economic efficiency and environmental protection A new Electric Power Act was passed in December 2001 partially opening the electricity market to competition by 2003 and to full competition by the time Hungary accedes to the European Union in 2004 A new law on gas will be approved in 2003 introducing competition in the gas market Hungary still faces a number of challenges however In the electricity sector it needs to ensure that MVM the largest utility does not cause distortions through its market power Security of gas supply is vital for Hungary Opening the Hungarian upstream market to increase indigenous gas production and to facilitate competition is a positive step But domestic production is not sufficient Limited gas to gas competition uncertainty as to future gas demand and the oligopolistic structure of gas distribution companies may constrain the development of competition Finally policies which cap energy prices to address social welfare concerns discourage energy saving distort fuel choices and discourage investment by energy firms As part of the IEA's periodic review process of its Member countries this report analyses Hungary's energy sector and policies and provides proposals and recommendations for the Hungarian government Energy Policies of IEA Countries
