Engendering Wealth And Well Being:

Engendering Wealth And Well-being Rae Lesser Blumberg, Cathy Rakowski, Irene Tinker, Michael Monteon, 2018-02-19

The new international division of labor and the imposition of structural adjustment on Third World countries has necessitated a reexamination of development policies and a reevaluation of the role of gender in their success or failure. Although women often bear the heaviest burden under structural adjustment, there is also considerable evidence of women being empowered through their responses to the challenges of economic restructuring. Based on case study material from Eastern Europe, the Islamic nations, Africa, China, and Latin America, this volume explores the significant contributions women make to the wealth and well-being of their families and nations. The contributors argue persuasively that women may hold the key to sustainable development, an increasingly critical issue at a time when policymakers are reconsidering the full costs and benefits of a growth fixated development model. One of the first to embody the new gender and development paradigm, this book reports on research at the frontiers of knowledge and theory about the gendered outcomes of economic transformation, restructuring, and social change. By incorporating voices from the South, it makes a provocative addition to our understanding of the political economy of development and of the relationship between world ecology and the world economy.

Engendering Wealth And Well-being Rae Lesser Blumberg, Cathy Rakowski, Irene Tinker, 1995-04-27 The new international division of labor and the imposition of structural adjustment on Third World countries has necessitated a reexamination of development policies and a reevaluation of the role of gender in their success or failure. Promises of Empowerment Peter H. Smith, Jennifer L. Troutner, Christine Hünefeldt, 2006-11-13 How and to what degree are women worldwide gaining and using power? This book offers the first genuinely comparative assessment of this key question by exploring the conditions, actions, and accomplishments of women in Latin America and Asia. Encompassing 60 percent of the world's population and experiencing far-reaching transformations, these two regions offer a vital window into our understanding of the experiences of women globally. Revealing both basic similarities and fundamental differences, this volume offers thoughtful insights about the changing conditions of women on the one hand and on the other about patterns of social change throughout Asia and Latin America The Two-Headed Household Sarah Hamilton, 2010-11-23 The Two Headed Household is an ethnographic account of gender relations and intrahousehold decisionmaking as well as a policy oriented study of gender and development in the indigenous Andean community of Chanchalo Ecuador Hamilton's main argument is that the households in these farming communities are two headed Men and women participate equally in agricultural production and management in household decisionmaking and share in the reproductive tasks of child care food preparation and other chores Based on qualitative fieldwork and regional household survey data this book investigates the effect on women's lives of gender bias in agricultural development programs and labor and commodities markets Despite household economic reliance on these programs and markets there is extraordinary evidence of social and economic gender equality Traditional Andean kinship structures enable women and men to enter marriage as materially equal partners As seen in case studies of five women and their families the author continually encounters joint decisionmaking and shared household and agricultural responsibilities In fact it often seems that women have the final say in many decisions There is the belief that a dynamic balance of power between male and female heads provides an impetus toward mutually desired economic and social goals Despite the strong influence of the patriarchal power of the hacienda system Andean gender ideology accords women and men equal measures of physical mental and emotional fortitude The belief that maintaining traditional forms of economic collaboration helped them survive on the hacienda was reinforced under the economic and political domination of the patriarchal systems of the landed elite church and state Today these people are proud of their strong women strong families and community solidarity which they believe distinguishes them from Ecuadorean and American societies Hamilton suggests that women in developing countries should not be viewed as simply or even inevitably victims of gender biased structural or cultural institutions They may resist male bias perhaps even with the support of local level institutions The Two Headed Household demonstrates that analysis of gender relations should focus on forms of cooperation among women and men as well as on forms of conflict and will be of interest to scholars and students in anthropology gender and development and Latin American Studies Women and Gender Equity in Development Theory and Practice Jane S. Jaquette, Gale Summerfield, 2006-03-27 DIVCollection of essays on issues of women and development attempting to bridge theory and practice in the post 9 11 era to reflect debates in various realms from the environment land rights and identity to information technology employment and poverty div

Transforming Capitalism and Patriarchy April A. Gordon, 1996 Gordon analyzes the interplay between capitalism development and the status of African women Drawing on the work of both African and Western researchers she shows that capitalist development projects have mainly benefited a small stratum of African elites and proposes concrete strategies for making it more equitable for women Transforming Gender and Development in East Asia Esther Ngan-ling Chow, 2013-12-02 Transforming Gender and Development in East Asia brings together a collection of original essays from top scholars in the United States and Asia to explore the centrality of gender in the process of economic development in East Asia Contributors demonstrate through ethnography personal narratives field observation and in depth interviews the essential parts women have played in the national growth economic restructuring and industrialization of East Asian countries including South Korea Taiwan China Hong Kong Singapore and China World Social Science Report 2013 Changing Global Environments International Social Science Council, United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, 2013-11-15 This book represents a comprehensive overview of the field gathering the thoughts and expertise of hundreds of social scientists from around the world This edition focuses on the transformative role of the social sciences in confronting climate and broader processes of environmental change Social Innovation, the Social Economy and World Economic Development Denis Harrisson, Reynald Bourque, György Széll, 2009 The world of work and labour is in a permanent transformation affecting the various social groups in the different parts of the world quite unequally Social innovations related to the idea of economic progress and well being tackle the problems of employment leading to social exclusion and poverty as a consequence of the extreme positioning in favour of economic performance An alternative economy complements the deficiency of both the market and the State This volume presents contributions from scholars coming from different continents about Social Economy Labour Rights corporate Social Responsibility Social Regulations and Public Policies Social innovations have huge impacts on national and regional economies as their sources come from the citizen Many initiatives presented in this volume are a social response by civil society to poverty precarious employment job losses long term unemployment delocalisation and de industrialisation The Sociology of Development Handbook Gregory Hooks, 2016-09-06 The Sociology of Development Handbook gathers essays that reflect the range of debates in development sociology and in the interdisciplinary study and practice of development The essays address the pressing intellectual challenges of today including internal and international migration transformation of political regimes globalization changes in household and family formations gender dynamics technological change population and economic growth environmental sustainability peace and war and the production and reproduction of social and economic inequality Development in Crisis Rae Lesser Blumberg, Samuel Cohn, 2015-08-20 Development in Crisis Threats to human well being in the Global South and Global North is a provocative engaging and interesting collection of real world case studies in development and globalization focusing on under emphasized threats to growth and human welfare worldwide Created by two of America s top development sociologists it targets undergraduates graduates academics and development professionals Crises such as falling state capacity declining technological innovation increasing class inequality and persisting gender inequality are considered along with their economic and social consequences Women, Medicine, Ethics and the Law Susan Sherwin, Barbara Parish, 2020-09-10 This title was first published in 2002 A collection of articles focused on women within a general study of medicine ethics and the law Topics covered include areas where the institutions of medicine ethics and the law intersect in women's reproductive and sexual lives the impact of legal policies and dominant ethical beliefs on many aspects of women's health and the health practices and policies of bioethics and health law The editors recognise that it is important not to lose sight of social differences other than gender such as race ethnicity class age sexuality religion level of physical and mental ability and family relationships In their approach they seek to consider the lives and experiences of women as primary Hence they focus on the question of how women's encounters with the health care system are structured by gender and other socially significant dimensions of their lives rather than the question of how women differ from the male norm

Contemporary Issues in Development Economics B. N. Ghosh, 2001-04-12 This new collection of articles puts the very latest issues in economic development under the microscope exploring them from a variety of perspectives Beginning with an assessment of the current state of play in development the authors move forward to examine neglected issues such as human development gender brain drain military expenditure and post colonial theory While analysing the problems of external debts technology transfer and new theories of international trade the relationship between developing and developed economies is fully explored The book also examines the important topics of financial reform structural adjustments and the role of the IMF in the new financial architecture The highly respected contributors subject these critical issues to thorough analysis with suggestions towards resolving some of these problems making this an indispensable book that researchers and students of development economics cannot afford to miss

Handbook of the Sociology of Gender Janet Saltzman Chafetz, 2006-11-22 During the past three decades feminist scholars have successfully demonstrated the ubiquity and omnirelevance of gender as a sociocultural construction in virtually all human collectivities past and present Intrapsychic interactional and collective social processes are gendered as are micro meso and macro social structures Gender shapes and is shaped in all arenas of social life from the most mundane practices of everyday life to those of the most powerful corporate actors Contemporary understandings of gender emanate from a large community of primarily feminist scholars that spans the gamut of learned disciplines and also includes non academic activist thinkers However while incorporating some cross disciplinary material this volume focuses specifically on socio logical theories and research concerning gender which are discussed across the full array of social processes structures and institutions As editor I have explicitly tried to shape the contributions to this volume along several lines that reflect my long standing views about sociology in general and gender sociology in particular First I asked authors to include cross national and historical material as much as possible This request reflects my belief that understanding and evaluating the here and now and working realistically for a better future can only be accomplished from a comparative perspective Too often American sociology has been both tempero and ethnocentric Second I have asked authors to be sensitive to within gender differences along class racial ethnic sexual preference and age cohort lines

The Routledge Companion to Entrepreneurship Ted Baker, Friederike Welter, 2014-09-15 Research in entrepreneurship has been booming with perspectives from a range of disciplines and numerous developing schools of thought It can be difficult for young scholars and even long time researchers to find their way through the lush garden of ideas we see before us The purpose of this book is to map the research terrain of entrepreneurship providing the perfect starting point for new and existing researchers looking to explore Topics covered range from emerging perspective through issues at the core of the field to innovative methodologies Starting off with a preface by Bill Gartner each section of the book brings together a world class set of established leading researchers and rising stars This considered comprehensive and conclusive companion integrates the recent debates in entrepreneurship research under one cover to provide a resource which will be useful across disciplinary boundaries and for a whole range of students and researchers Missing Links United Nations Commission on Science and Technology for Development. Gender Working Group, International Development Research Centre (Canada), 1995 In this landmark book the UN commissioned Gender Working Group outlines its policy proposals for national science and technology programs Its goal is to ensure that women and men have equal access to and benefit equally from science and technology The proposals are supported by essays written by distinguished scholars and experts Taking Stands Maureen Gail Reed, 2003 Environmental activism in rural places frequently pits residents whose livelihood depends on resource extraction against those who seek to protect natural spaces and species While many studies have focused on women who seek to protect the natural environment few have explored the perspectives of women who seek to maintain resource use This book goes beyond the dichotomies of pro and anti environmentalism to tell the stories of these women Maureen Reed uses participatory action research to explain the experiences of women who seek to protect forestry as an industry a livelihood a community and a culture She links their experiences to policy making by considering the effects of environmental policy changes on the social dynamics of workplaces households and communities in forestry towns of British Columbia s temperate rainforest The result is a critical commentary about the social dimensions of sustainability in rural communities A powerful and challenging book Taking Stands provides a crucial understanding of community change in resource dependent regions and helps us to better tackle the complexities of gender and activism as they relate to rural sustainability Social and environmental geographers feminist scholars and those engaged in rural studies environmental sustainability and community planning will find it invaluable Remapping Gender in the New Global Order Marjorie Griffin-Cohen, Janine Brodie, 2007-06-11 This book analyses changes in gender relations as a result of globalization in countries on the semi periphery of power Semi periphery refers to those nations which are not drivers of change globally but have enough economic and political security to have some power in determining their own responses to global forces Individual countries obviously face challenges that are to some extent unique although the prescriptions for economic and social restructuring are based on a common competitive logic Remapping Gender in the New Global Order draws on examples from four countries on the semi periphery of power but still located in the top category of the UNDP s Human Development Index At one end is Norway one of the world s richest and most developed welfare states and at the other is

Mexico a country that is considerably poorer and more susceptible to the power of the United States and international agencies Australia and Canada the other two semi peripheral countries examined are in the middle Also included are comparisons with the epicentre of the core base of power the United States The individual chapters focus on the effect on specific groups of people including males and indigenous groups the mechanisms people use to both cope with dramatic social changes and the strategies and alliances that are used to affect the course of changes It covers topics that range from implications of labour migration on care regimes to globalism s effect on masculinity and the male breadwinner model

Men and Masculinity Caroline Sweetman,1997-01-01 Children Patrice L Engle Men at Work Cecile Jackson,2013-10-23 Gender analysis of development focuses on gender relations rather than women and men as separate gender categories but it has necessarily been women orientated in its concerns with subordination This work moves gender analysis towards a fuller understanding of men s diverse gendered identities and how these are implicated in their everyday working lives in developing country contexts The questions addressed in the papers range from conceptual and methodological issues of definitions and measurement of men s work to case studies of working men in specific settings but all are concerned with the recognition of gendered vulnerabilities of some men as men as well as with a re thinking of gender relations in the light of consideration of the subjectivities of specific groups of men
