Enemy In The Mirror:

Enemy in the Mirror Roxanne L. Euben, 1999-11-01 A firm grasp of Islamic fundamentalism has often eluded Western political observers many of whom view it in relation to social and economic upheaval or explain it away as an irrational reaction to modernity Here Roxanne Euben makes new sense of this belief system by revealing it as a critique of and rebuttal to rationalist discourse and post Enlightenment political theories Euben draws on political postmodernist and critical theory as well as Middle Eastern studies Islamic thought comparative politics and anthropology to situate Islamic fundamentalist thought within a transcultural theoretical context In so doing she illuminates an unexplored dimension of the Islamist movement and holds a mirror up to anxieties within contemporary Western political thought about the nature and limits of modern rationalism anxieties common to Christian fundamentalists postmodernists conservatives and communitarians A comparison between Islamic fundamentalism and various Western critiques of rationalism yields formerly uncharted connections between Western and Islamic political thought allowing the author to reclaim an understanding of political theory as inherently comparative Her arguments bear on broad questions about the methods Westerners employ to understand movements and ideas that presuppose nonrational transcendent truths Euben finds that first political theory can play a crucial role in understanding concrete political phenomena often considered beyond its jurisdiction second the study of such phenomena tests the scope of Western rationalist categories and finally that Western political theory can be enriched by exploring non Western perspectives on fundamental debates about coexistence
