Many in the world of scholarship share the conviction that open access will be the engine of transformation leading to more culture more research more discovery and more solutions to small and big problems This collection brings together librarians scholars practitioners policymakers and thinkers to take measure of the open access movement The editors meld critical essays research and case studies to offer an authoritative exploration of the concept of openness in scholarship with an overview of how it is evolving in the US Canada Europe and Asia open access publishing including funding models and the future of library science journals the state of institutional repositories Open Educational Resources OER at universities and a consortium in subject areas ranging from literary studies to textbooks and open science open data and a pilot data catalog for raising the visibility of protected data Bridging Research and Library Practice Krystyna K. Matusiak,Kawanna M.

Bright,Debbie Schachter,2023-11-20 Bridging the gap between research and practice communities is more pertinent than ever because of the need for evidence in developing and evaluating library services and programs The gap between research and library practice has been discussed in the library and information science LIS field for almost two decades The issues range from limited transfer of ideas from research into practice to a lack of education in research methods for library practitioners This book introduces new voices from international research and practice communities into the discussion and contributes to the debate about the research practice divide Education and continuing training in research methods from international perspectives are explored and the experiences of researcher practitioners from several countries highlight the issues The volume includes chapters from LIS educators academic researchers and researcher practitioners from 18 countries It features the voices of instructors who teach research methods in LIS programs and library practitioners who engage in research The book is addressed to the global audience of LIS educators and practitioners with the goal of deepening the understanding of LIS education and training in research methods through sharing case studies and approaches to teaching and conducting research in practice Beyond the Information Commons Charles Forrest,Martin

Halbert,2020-08-22 In the closing decades of the twentieth century academic libraries responded to rapid changes in their environment by acquiring and making accessible a host of new information resources developing innovative new services and collaborative partnerships and building new kinds of technology equipped spaces to support changing user behaviors and emerging patterns of learning The Information Commons or InfoCommons blossomed in a relatively short amount of time in libraries across North America and around the world particularly in Europe and the British Commonwealth This book is more than a second edition of the 2009 book A Field Guide to the Information Commons which documented the emergence of a range of facilities and service programs that called themselves Information Commons This new book updates this review of current practice in the Information Commons and other new kinds of facilities inspired by the same needs and intents but goes beyond that by describing the continued evolution This new book is an attempt to answer the question What might be the next emerging concept for a technology enabled user responsive mission driven form of the academic library Like its predecessor Beyond the Information Commons is structured in two parts First a brief series of essays explore the Information Commons from historical organizational technological and architectural perspectives The second part is a field guide composed of more than two dozen representative entries describing various Information Commons using a consistent format that provides both perspective on issues and useful details about actual implementations Each of these includes photos and other graphics

Library and Information Science in the Middle East and North Africa Amanda B. Click, Sumayya Ahmed, Jacob Hill, John D. Martin III, 2016-07-11 This volume offers up to date insights into the state of library and information science LIS in the Middle East and North Africa Covered topics include information literacy intellectual property LIS education and research publishing and more This timely contribution thus presents vital areas of research on a region that receives relatively little coverage and is currently experiencing rapid and significant changes Biographic Register of the Department of State United States.
