contributions of 16 leading psychologists as well as others who influenced the field of educational psychology from its philosophical moorings in the late 19th century to its current scientific status at the dawn of the 21st. It presents information regarding these individuals' ideas and scientific discoveries along with a sense of the historical context in which they lived. The book is divided into three sections that correspond to three eras in the history of the discipline: the founding period (1880s to 1920), the rise to prominence period (1920 to 1960), and the modern period (1960 to the present). Each section begins with an overview chapter describing the period in terms of key social, political, and historical events affecting educational theory, research, and practice. In addition, the overview chapters discuss major theoretical, methodological, and instructional contributions of the period and how they changed the course of educational psychology. The biographical chapters describe the scholar's major contribution in terms of theory, research, and practice, and his or her legacy and impact. These descriptions portray these individuals as real human beings responding to historical events and social influences of their time in personal and collective ways that changed the nature and direction of the field.

Leaders in Philosophy of Education Leonard J. Waks, 2014-11-26 In the late 1950s plans were initiated to bring a higher level of professionalism to the training of educational professionals New projects included introducing contemporary scholarship from the humanities and social sciences into colleges of education to revitalize the education knowledge base In North America and the United Kingdom analytical philosophers were recruited to inaugurate a new philosophy of education. Analytical philosophy of education soon spread throughout the English speaking world. By the 1980s this analytical impulse had largely subsided. Philosophers trained in analytical philosophy and their students turned to more ambitious normative pursuits related to problems of social justice and democracy. Meanwhile feminist philosophers opened up new issues regarding the education of women and the nature of teaching and knowing and a new wave of pragmatist philosophers turned to issues of educational policy. By the 1990s Anglo American philosophers of education welcomed a dialogue with counterparts in Western Europe and the field responded to established trends in European philosophy ranging from critical theory and phenomenology to post structuralism. New leaders emerged in philosophy of education representing all of these various strands. This volume documents the emergence of contemporary philosophy of education as seen by those spearheading these trends.
