Education And Disability In Cross Cultural Perspective:

Education and Disability in Cross-Cultural Perspective Susan Jeanne Peters, 2013-11-26 A radical departure from previous chronicles of education for people with disabilities this book views special education from a broader perspective Its central thesis is that cultural values and expectations play a dominant role in understanding the structure and function of special education While theories of the social construction of disability have been written about in a growing body of research since the 1960s no attempt has been made to create a cross cultural framework This work offers such a framework Eight chapters written by educators in each country s educational system cover the following nations China Great Britain Hungary Japan Iran Pakistan United States and Zimbabwe Historical discussions in each chapter provide a context for current practice An index and illustrations are also included Disability, Human Rights and Education Felicity

Armstrong, Len Barton, 1999-10-16 This book recognizes the importance of an informed cross cultural understanding of the policies and practices of different societies within the field of disability human rights and education It represents an attempt to critically engage with issues arising from the historical and contemporary domination of portrayals of the western as advanced democratic and exemplary in contrast to the construction of the rest of the world as backward primitive and inferior in these fundamental areas How human rights are understood in different contexts is a key theme in this book Importantly some contributors raise questions about the value of a human rights model across all societies Other contributors see the struggle for human rights as at the heart of the struggle for an inclusive society The implications for education arising from this debate are identified and a series of questions are raised by each author for further reflection and discussion as well as providing a stimulus for developing future research Disability Human Rights and Education is recommended reading for students and researchers interested in Disability Studies inclusive education and social policy It is also directly relevant to professionals and policy makers in the field seeking a greater understanding of cross cultural perspectives shall begin the Foreword in the same spirit by recounting an experience that is still a foundation for analysing and developing my own understanding This happened some twenty five years ago I was going with Vic Finkelstein a disabled academic and activist to a seminar on a hot summer's day making our way across the Open University campus in Milton Keynes The seminar was entitled The Problems of Integration Making conversation with Vic I suggested that the seminar sounded interesting His response was immediate and direct no it was not interesting the problems for disabled people were the problems of segregation not the problems of integration As he did often for me Vic turned understanding on its head and his seemingly simple observation carried ever increasing ripples of critical questioning Reading of international developments and of the specifics of education policy provision and practice across the widely differing circumstances found in different nation states from the majority as well as the minority world challenges deepens and confirms understanding There are not surprisingly considerable diversities and complexities and recurring themes that speak to both and fire critical questioning The complexities pretty quickly give food for thought and ring bells of caution The first for me is the lack of digestion the impossibility of comprehensive knowledge

Cross-Cultural Perspectives on Policy and Practice Jennifer Lavia, Michele Moore, 2009-09-10 This book provides a space in which struggles for indigenous knowledge within communities are articulated valued heard and responded to The volume takes change as its focus yet acknowledges that the origins and significance of change are frequently found to be unsettling Contributors explore different understandings of change that forge sustainable inclusive and just communities and examine issues related to citizenship resistance peacemaking critical literacies and second chance opportunities The authors seek to promote advocacy of change that recognises the importance of an informed engagement with cross cultural issues in order to foreground those missing perspectives that are often marginalised silenced ignored or denied All contributors are concerned with how the process of change can bridge the gap between social justice and exclusion and develop critical understandings of the implications of changing policy and practice for those within and working with the educational organisations and communities

Disability & the Politics of Education Susan Lynn Gabel, Scot Danforth, 2008 Disability and the Politics of Education An International Reader is a rich resource that deals comprehensively with the many aspects of the complex topic of disability studies in education For nearly two decades global attention has been given to education as a human right through global initiatives such as Education for All EFA and the Salamanca Statement Yet according to UNESCO reaching the goals of EFA remains one of the most daunting challenges facing the global community Today millions of the world's disabled children cannot obtain a basic childhood education particularly in countries with limited resources Even in the wealthiest countries many disabled children and youth are educationally segregated from the nondisabled particularly if they are labeled with significant cognitive impairment International agencies such as the United Nations and the World Bank have generated funds for educational development but unfortunately these funds are administered with the assumption that west is best thereby urging developing countries to mimic educational policies in the United States and the United Kingdom in order to prove their aid worthiness This McDonaldization of education reproduces the labeling resource allocation and social dynamics long criticized in disability studies The authors in this volume explore these subjects and other complexities of disability and the politics of education In doing so they demonstrate the importance and usefulness of international perspectives and comparative approaches The

Inclusion for Students with Special Educational Needs across the Asia Pacific Wendi Beamish, Mantak Yuen, 2022-10-06 This book offers a comprehensive overview of how inclusion for students with special educational needs SEN has developed and is continuing to evolve in mainstream schools across the Asia Pacific region The authors provide an applied analysis of inclusive education in 10 geographical settings covering legislative historical and cultural perspectives A diverse range of factors that influence inclusive policy to practice implementation in these contexts are highlighted and practical strategies to address some key issues are put forward The settings in focus are the Maldives Singapore the Republic of Korea Mainland China Hong Kong Macao Japan Province of British Columbia Canada New Zealand and Australia

Disability, Poverty and Education Nidhi

Singal,2014-10-29 This book is a succinct and distinctive presentation of current research addressing educational issues in relation to children and young people with disabilities in Southern contexts Even though people with disabilities are disproportionately over represented in the majority world there is a lack of texts which bring together empirical insights highlighting the unique socio economic and cultural realities of these contexts and the ways in which these have shaped developments in education This book provides a comprehensive and critical overview of a range of issues such as the dilemmas in conceptual translations analysis of international aid and national policies evaluation of various educational interventions and issues interrogating the purpose of education Bringing together various research projects conducted in eight different countries this book successfully captures a unique spread of cross cultural issues It was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Inclusive Education International Encyclopedia of Education ,2009-04-17 The field of education has experienced extraordinary technological societal and institutional change in recent years making it one of the most fascinating yet complex fields of study in social science Unequalled in its combination of authoritative scholarship and comprehensive coverage International Encyclopedia of Education Third Edition succeeds two highly successful previous editions 1985 1994 in aiming to encapsulate research in this vibrant field for the twenty first century reader Under development for five years this work encompasses over 1 000 articles across 24 individual areas of coverage and is expected to become the dominant resource in the field Education is a multidisciplinary and international field drawing on a wide range of social sciences and humanities disciplines and this new edition comprehensively matches this diversity The diverse background and multidisciplinary subject coverage of the Editorial Board ensure a balanced and objective academic framework with 1 500 contributors representing over 100 countries capturing a complete portrait of this evolving field A totally new work revamped with a wholly new editorial board structure and brand new list of meta sections and articles Developed by an international panel of editors and authors drawn from senior academia Web enhanced with supplementary multimedia audio and video files hotlinked to relevant references and sources for further study Incorporates ca 1 350 articles with timely coverage of such topics as technology and learning demography and social change globalization and adult learning to name a few Offers two content delivery options print and online the latter of which provides anytime anywhere access for multiple users and superior search functionality via ScienceDirect as well as multimedia content including audio and video files Disabled International Students in British Higher Education Armineh Soorenia,2013-12-30 A wealth of evidence demonstrates that disabled domestic students experience disabling barriers in such areas as funding pedagogy and social life in Higher Education HE Research also indicates that non disabled international students experience a wide range of cultural and linguistic difficulties throughout their university experience whilst studying in England Nevertheless there is a dearth of research concerning the specific experiences of disabled international students in English universities With the increasing internationalisation of HE in the past two decades this is highly significant Analysing disabled international students accounts in British universities appears to be all the more pertinent due to the current austerity measures which have impacted on the financial situation of Higher Education Institutions Armineh Soorenia comments on the relevance of inclusive educational theories and policies within an increasingly internationalised HE system with reference to disabled international students experiences in England The project is both timely and appropriate as there is an acute shortage of documentation on the application of policies for the inclusion of disabled students and disabled international students specifically in English universities The findings identify key barriers in the four broad categories of 1 Information Access and Funding 2 Disability Services 3 Learning and Teaching and 4 Non Disability Support Services such as accommodation and social life The study provides an up to date snapshot of disabled international students accounts and the multiple disadvantages they experience in their universities based on their identities as disabled international and sometimes mature students The author also draws on a number of insights which could contribute towards a more inclusive HE system The implication of concentrating on disabled international students experiences have direct ramifications not only for this specific group but also a wide range of students from diverse minority backgrounds who could gain from inclusive practices in education

Spaced Out: Policy, Difference and the Challenge of Inclusive Education F. Armstrong, 2006-01-02 This is an extremely important book containing a wealth of ideas and insights and raising important questions for discussion and further exploration In a lucid and cogently argued analysis the author both challenges dominant ideas and interpretations and provides some alternative innovative perspectives These include the making and meaning of policy the varied and complex ways in which inclusion and exclusion can be understood the nature and function of categorisation labelling and discursive practices within official discourse and procedures and the position and relationship between space place and identities in relation to the experience of marginalized people including disabled children and young people Drawing on concepts and insights from social and cultural geography Armstrong is able to seriously examine and discuss daily activities within institutional and social settings in England and France from several different angles In sensitive thoughtful and imaginative ways the micro politics of social settings and encounters are explored through a process of deconstruction and reconstruction Subtle overt and contradictory features of interactions are carefully identified and critically discussed This covers how meanings decisions and outcomes of such encounters are developed challenged and changed Both in relation to discussions of the history of special education and her critical self reflections on the research process the author challenges homogeneous conceptions and sanitized accounts of what she argues is an essentially messy process It is the unevenness discontinuities and contradictions of social conditions and relations that are depicted in insightful and disturbing ways
