Education and Thinking in Continental Philosophy Itay Snir, 2020-09-28 This book draws on five philosophers from the continental tradition Theodor Adorno Hannah Arendt Gilles Deleuze Jacques Derrida and Jacques Rancière in order to think about thinking and offer new and surprising answers to the question How can we educate students to think creatively and critically Despite their differences all of these philosophers challenge the modern understanding of thinking and offer original radical perspectives on it In very different ways each rejects the modern approach to thinking as well as the reduction of proper thought to rationality situating thinking in sociohistorical reality and relating it to political action Thinking they argue is not a natural automatic activity and the need to think has become all the more important as political reality seems to exhibit less thinking or to even celebrate thoughtlessness Bringing these continental conceptions of thinking to bear on the urgent need to educate young people to think against the current this book makes a significant contribution to educational theory and political philosophy one that is particularly relevant in today's anti intellectual climate
