The Dynamics of Change in Higher Education Svein Kyvik, 2008-12-25 In most Western European countries higher education has to an increasing extent been developing outside universities partly through the establishment of new institutions and partly through the upgrading of professional and vocational schools into higher education colleges The main trend in countries with a binary system has been that student numbers have increased more in the college sector than in the university sector Yet there is a shortage of in depth studies on the changes that have taken place in this part of the educational system and on the processes that have driven this development The aim of this book is to improve our understanding of these processes through developing concepts and theoretical perspectives which might offer new insights of complex phenomena This book is based upon a large number of studies on college education in Norway and in other Western European countries I have studied change processes in this field over a period stretching back to the late 1970s

Kyvik 1981 and this book synthesises my former publications as well as updates the development until August 2008 and presents new analyses based on my gradual attainment of deeper insight into the processes that have taken place on curriculum problem solving and educational leadership through the practice of a synoptic curriculum study This practice integrates three influential interpretations of curriculum curriculum as deliberative artistry curriculum as complicated conversation and curriculum as currere with John Dewey's lifetime work on reflective inquiry At its heart the book advances a way of studying as a way of living with reference to the question How might I live as a democratic educator The study guidance is organized as an open ended scaffolding of three embedded reflective inquiries informed by four deliberative conversations Study recommendations are provided by a carefully selected team The field tested study based approach is illustrated through a multi layered multi voiced narrative collage of four experienced teachers personal journeys of understanding in a collegial study context Applying William Pinar's argument that a conceptual montage enabling teachers to lead complicated conversations should be the focus for curriculum development in the field's current post reconceptualist moment the book moves forward the educational aim of facilitating a holistic subject self social understanding through the practice of a balanced hermeneutics of suspicion and trust It closes with a discussion of cross cultural collaboration and advocacy reflecting the interest of curriculum scholars in a wide range of countries in this study based lead learning approach to curriculum development
