Coombs,John Edwards,2020-10-07 This book contains a collection of papers dealing with a range of controversial issues which exercised the minds of local authority officials from 1884 1908 The 28 items reproduced cover a wide range of matters They are presented chronologically because many of the papers deal with more than one topic but also because it provides a clearer guide to the development of views on numerous inter related issues These issues are still of interest and relevant today most of the papers deal with the need to improve the level of accountability to local electors something which has been the main thrust of UK government policy since 1979 Other papers focus on the need to address internal accounting problems such as the need for improved costing procedures to measure the performance of different activities Power and Distribution Transformers; Production, Consumption, Trade United States. Business and Defense Services Administration,1962 Transforming the Countryside Paul Brassley,Jeremy Burchardt,Karen Sayer,2016-11-25 It is now almost impossible to conceive of life in western Europe either in the towns or the countryside without a reliable mains electricity supply By 1938 two thirds of rural dwellings had been connected to a centrally generated supply but the majority of farms in Britain were not linked to the mains until sometime between 1950 and 1970 Given the significance of electricity for modern life the difficulties of supplying it to isolated communities and the parallels with current discussions over the provision of high speed broadband connections it is surprising that until now there has been little academic discussion of this vast and protracted undertaking This book fills that gap It is divided into three parts The first on the progress of electrification explores the timing and extent of electrification in rural England Wales and Scotland the second examines the effects of electrification on rural life and the rural landscape and the third makes comparisons over space and time looking at electrification in Canada and Sweden and comparing electrification with the current problems of rural broadband Natal Ordinances, Law, and Proclamations ,1890
