arises from the regional conference of the Commonwealth Council for Educational Administration held in Hong Kong in 1992. Efforts have been made to select papers which fulfil the following objectives: illuminate the emerging issues in educational administration; generate discussion and comments on these issues; reflect how different parts of the world are responding to these issues; guide possible administrative actions based on well informed discussion. The papers selected cover the shifting role of school leaders and their preparation; the latest trend in management of devolving administrative responsibilities to schools and the cultural dimension of educational administration. Drawing on experiences from different parts of the world, this volume explores the above issues and reflects the differences in practice. Both editors are members of the University of Hong Kong. Wong Kam Cheung is the Head of the Department of Education. Cheng Kai Ming is the dean of the Faculty of Education. The Sharp Edge of Educational Change Nina Bascia, Andy Hargreaves, 2000. The Sharp Edge of Educational Change conveys the realities of reform as they affect educators' practice. The collected chapters each focus on particular current reform and reveal the technical and logistical complications, social and political dynamics, cognitive disjunctures and limitations and emotional demands of reform. In so doing they provide new and rich conceptual perspectives on the contemporary nature of teachers and administrators' work in classrooms, schools and other educational settings. ...

Changing conceptions in educational administration, prepared by the Society's committee ... Edited by Nelson B. Henry ... National Society for the Study of Education. Committee on Changing Conceptions in Educational Administration, Leadership for Change and School Reform Kathryn A. Riley, Karen Seashore Louis, 2000. School reform is a top priority for governments today. This timely and challenging book, edited by leading international researchers Kathryn Riley and Karen Seashore Louis, offers a rich comparative perspective on leadership for change and school reform. Contributors from North America, Europe and Australia demonstrate how school leadership is influenced by global pressures, differing national and state contexts and local concerns. They illustrate the limitations of reform initiatives which focus on school leaders to the exclusion of the many other organisations which affect schools such as national and local governments, professional associations and school communities. This book raises some important questions such as: How can school leaders create intelligent thinking schools? How can leadership and learning be linked together? What are the characteristics of effective local education authorities and school districts? What is the role of teacher organisations in educational reform and change? What happens if businesses, teachers, parents and local communities have different views of what makes a good school? The text illustrates the ways in which leadership is rooted in learning and identifies new directions for school leadership. It challenges conventional notions of leadership, offering an expanded view which sees leadership just as an individual role-based function but as a network of relationships among people, structures and cultures. This lively and provocative book should be read by all those interested in education reform. Democratic Leadership Thomas A. Mulkeen, Nelda H. Cambron-McCabe, Bruce J. Anderson, 1994. Almost a decade ago a national commission formally announced a time of crisis in American education. Since then Americans have been engaged in a debate about the purpose and organization of tomorrow's schools. While the early reform reports were silent on the preparation of school administrators, recent reports have focused on the failure to turn out well-prepared administrators. The National Commission on Excellence in Educational Administration (1987) and the National Policy Board for Educational Administration (1989) called for sweeping changes in the recruitment, preparation, regulation, and evaluation of school administrators. It was argued that raising standards for admission to educational administration programs, more courses adding more rigor to existing courses, tighter certification requirements, competency-based licensing, and supervised school site internships would address the concerns raised by practitioners and numerous other critics. Educational reforms directed toward raising the quality of our schools require administrators who are collaborative, dynamic, and innovative problem solvers; administrators who can guide the educational enterprise to higher achievement; provide individuals with aspirations and dreams; and critically inculcate the young into a political democracy.

Educational Administration Frederick C. Lunenburg, Allan Ornstein, 2021-01-12. Now with SAGE Publishing. The bestselling Educational Administration: Concepts and Practices has been considered the standard for all educational administration textbooks for three decades. A thorough and comprehensive revision, the Seventh Edition continues to balance theory and research with practical application for prospective and practicing school administrators. While maintaining the book's hallmark features—a friendly and approachable writing style, cutting-edge content, and compelling pedagogy—authors Frederick C. Lunenburg and Allan Ornstein present research-based practices while discussing topical issues facing school administrators today. Included with this title: The password-protected Instructor Resource Site, formally known as SAGE Edge, offers access to all text-specific resources, including a test bank and editable chapter-specific PowerPoint slides.

Managing Change in Education Nigel Bennett, Megan Crawford, Colin Riches, 1992-11-28. This is an interestingly eclectic selection of material on the management of change in education. Managing Schools Today. A key theme of this book is that change is not just about the creation of new policies and procedures to implement external mandates. It is also about the strategies by which individuals respond to the impact of structural and cultural change; about personal change as much as organizational change; about the place of values in framing organizational form and culture, as well as those which look at individual and group responses to the pressures which they feel. This is a companion volume to Managing the Effective School, edited by Margaret Preedy. It is the Change and Secondary School Administration Glen F. Ovard, 1968. Change Processes in the Public Schools Richard O. Carlson, 1965. Educational Administration Robert Palestini, 2011-09-29. Newly appointed school administrators are often confused when faced with the prospect of having to assume a leadership role in a complex organization like a school or school system. Where does one start? An effective method would be to systematically examine the vital components that make up an organization. A system of organizational diagnosis and prescription will lead to a comprehensive and integrated analysis of the organization's strengths and weaknesses and point the way toward possible improvement The new edition of Educational Administration Leading with Mind and Heart suggests such a sequential and systematic approach Utilizing it effectively can produce dramatic results
