God the Invisible King Herbert George Wells, 2020-05-30 Perhaps all religions unless the flaming onset of Mohammedanism be an exception have dawned imperceptibly upon the world. A little while ago and the thing was not and then suddenly it has been found in existence and already in a state of diffusion. People have begun to hear of the new belief first here and then there. It is interesting for example to trace how Christianity drifted into the consciousness of the Roman world. But when a religion has been interrogated it has always had hitherto a tale of beginnings, the name and story of a founder. The nascent religion that is now taking shape it seems had no founder; it points to no origins. It is the Truth, its believers declare, it has always been here; it has always been visible to those who had eyes to see. It is perhaps plainer than it was and to more people that is all. It is as if it still did not realise its own difference. Many of those who hold it still think of it as if it were a kind of Christianity. Some catching at a phrase of Huxley's speak of it as Christianity without Theology. They do not know the creed they are carrying. It has as a matter of fact a very fine and subtle theology flatly opposed to any belief that could except by great stretching of charity and the imagination be called Christianity.
