Hayy Bin Yaqdhan Ibn Tufail:

Hayy Bin Yaqdhan J.M. Budd, 2000-07-18 Hayy bin Yaqdhan is the story of a man who reaches the age of fifty before coming into contact with another human being However despite his isolation his intuition and innate intelligence enable him to learn first about himself then about the animal kingdom then the material world then the movements and nature of the cosmos then the existence of God Finally he discovers truths about the nature of God and the Ultimate Reality which mirror those revealed to mankind through the messengers and prophets Before Hayy makes his appearance the author speculates on how he came into the world Two possibilities are considered One is that he was formed on an equatorial island when a bubble of viscous fermenting mud became charged by the Spirit which flows unceasingly from Allah the Sublime the Almighty and may be compared to sunlight which flows constantly onto the world When the spirit attached itself to the mud the resulting entity developed into a human baby which emerged onto the surface of the island when the outer shell of its mud womb dried and cracked After a time the baby became hungry and began to wail Its cries were heard by a nearby gazelle who had lost her young The other possibility is that Hayy was the child of a secret marriage between the sister of the arrogant ruler of a nearby island and a man called Yagdhan To hide the fact from her brother the sister placed her baby in a chest at dead of night and entrusted it to the waves The sea carried the chest over to the other island and deposited it in a sheltered thicket on the shore After a time the baby became hungry and began to wail Its cries were heard by a nearby gazelle who had lost her young At this point the two versions of the babys origin merge and the story of Hayy bin Yaqdhan begins The gazelle adopted Hayy as her own and Hayy grew up to regard her as his mother Yet as the years went by he gradually discovered that he was different from the animals on the island At first he felt inferior when he saw they were stronger and faster than him and that they had natural weapons like horns spurs and tusks as well as natural coverings like fur hair or feathers while he was naked unarmed physically weak and a poor runner However as he approached the age of seven he discovered that he was in fact superior to them because he had hands These enabled him to make clothes for himself out of leaves palm fronds skin and feathers and also to use sticks as weapons In time the other creatures came to fear him and he was held in awe by them The gazelle became old and frail and one day she died Hayy was deeply distressed by her death and resolved to cure her and bring her back to life As he could see nothing wrong with her external organs he decided that the problem must be due to some damage or obstruction in an organ inside her which was vital to the functioning of her whole body He felt sure this organ must be located in a central position in the body so he used some makeshift tools and cut through the gazelles breast After cutting through her ribs and lungs he reached her heart and decided this must be the organ he was looking for When he cut the heart open he found that it contained two chambers One was filled with clotted blood and the other was empty He decided that the empty chamber held the secret of life He had observed that every organ existed for a specific function so if one contained an empty space it must have been occupied at one time and then vacated by whatever it was that had lived in it This led him to conclude that the physical body was relatively unimportant and that what really mattered was the force which possessed occupied and d Ibn Yaqzan Ibn Tufayl, 2015-05-14 The Arabic philosophical fable Hayy Ibn Yaqzan is a classic of medieval Islamic philosophy Ibn Tufayl d 1185 the Andalusian philosopher tells of a child raised by a doe on an equatorial island who grows up to discover the truth about the world and his own place in it unaided but also unimpeded by society language or tradition Hayy s discoveries about God nature and man challenge the values of the culture in which the tale was written as well as those of every contemporary society Goodman's commentary places Hayy Ibn Yaqzan in its historical and philosophical context The volume features a new preface and index and an updated bibliography One of the most remarkable books of the Middle Ages Times Literary Supplement An enchanting and puzzling story The book transcends all historical and cultural environments to settle upon the questions of human life that perpetually intrigue men Middle East Journal Goodman has done a service to the modern English reader by providing a readable translation of a philosophically significant allegory Philosophy East and West Add s bright new pieces to an Islamic mosaic whose general shape is already known American Historical Review Ibn Yaqdhan Ibn Tufail,2020-03-31 Written in Arabic above 500 Years ago by Abu Jaafar Ebn Tophail Known as Ibn Tufail In which is demonstrated By what Methods one may by the mere Light of Nature attain the Knowledge of things Natural and Supernatural more particularly the Knowledge of God and the Affairs of another Life In Which the Possibility of Man s attaining the True Knowledge of GOD and Things necessary to Salvation without Instruction is briefly considered Hayy Ibn Yagzan one of the most beautiful works in the history of Arabic philosophical texts Hay ibn Yagdhan of the Arab Andalusian philosopher Ibn Tufail this text that many do not hesitate to consider as a novel given that it bears the characteristics of all fiction work We know that many researchers and historians consider that this Andalusian philosophical work has influenced a large number of writers and philosophers worldwide In fact some of them say that the text of Hay Bin Yakdhan is the first basis on which the plot of the famous novel Robinson Crusoe which is considered to be a central in European literature
