Winzeler, 2004-01-01 Present day travelers visiting Borneo to see the marvelous buildings pictured in books are liable to wonder if they somehow ended up in the wrong place Much of the architecture of Borneo and other areas of the humid tropics was never intended to last and built as it is of wood and other organic materials last it has not Among Borneo's spectacular indigenous buildings the longhouses mortuary monuments and other architectural forms of the interior are some of the most outstanding and much of the renewed interest in indigenous architecture has focused on the rapidly vanishing or now extinct traditional forms of a small number of surviving examples or recreations Drawing on the author's extensive research and travel in Borneo this impressive and original study offers a more comprehensive account of this architecture than any previous work Organized into two sections the book first documents and explains traditional built forms in terms of tools and materials the environmental context village organization and social arrangements This section includes a full discussion of architecture designs and symbolism especially those dealing with life and death The author next look The

This book tells the story of the causes and legacies of a conspiracy trial featuring English Japanese and Indo Portuguese plotters against Dutch spice traders in the Indian Ocean in 1623 In the wake of the torture and execution of the accused men the incident became known in Europe as the Amboyna Massacre I trace the creation and memory of the Amboyna Massacre over four hundred years providing a new interpretation of a poorly understood episode once believed by historians to have changed the course of British history It did but not as people once thought instead it became the first English massacre and this new history of the Amboyna Massacre explains why we associate massacres with intimacy treachery and cruelty The Land of Gold Judith M. Bovensiepen, 2018-08-06 In the village of Funar located in the central highlands of Timor Leste the disturbing events of the twenty four year long Indonesian occupation are rarely articulated in narratives of suffering Instead the highlanders emphasize the significance of their return to the sacred land of the ancestors a place where gold is abundant and life is thought to originate On one hand this collective amnesia is due to villagers exclusion from contemporary nation building processes which bestow recognition only on those who actively participated in the resistance struggle against Indonesia On the other hand the cultural revival and the privileging of the ancestral landscape and traditions over narratives of suffering derive from a particular understanding of how human subjects are constituted Before life and after death humans and the land are composed of the same substance only during life are they separated To recover from the forced dislocation the highlanders experienced under the Indonesian occupation they thus seek to reestablish a mythical primordial unity with the land by reinvigorating ancestral practices Never leaving out of sight the intense political and emotional dilemmas imposed by the past on people s daily lives The Land of Gold seeks to go beyond prevailing theories of postconflict reconstruction that prioritize human relationships Instead it explores the significance of people s affective and ritual engagement with the environment and with their ancestors as survivors come to terms with the disruptive events of the past

what this means for them and for the broader world In fact they would like the world to know about their worries and their critiques of the causes of degradation Changing Pathways was inspired by that need Beyond a straightforward recounting of Batek environmental concerns this book examines the cosmological basis for those concerns the changing focus of the cosmology the stories and histories through which the Batek express their place in the world and suggests how environmental degradation might affect their knowledge perception and politics Changing Pathways is an invaluable resource not only for environmental anthropologists and hunter gatherer specialists but applied resource managers around the world

Dark Trophies Simon Harrison, 2014-05-01 Many anthropological accounts of warfare in indigenous societies have described the taking of heads or other body parts as trophies But almost nothing is known of the prevalence of trophy taking of this sort in the armed forces of contemporary nation states This book is a history of this type of misconduct among military personnel over the past two centuries exploring its close connections with colonialism scientific collecting and concepts of race and how it is a model for violent power relationships between groups

Experiments in Holism Ton Otto, Nils Bubandt, 2011-08-02 Experiments in Holism Experiments in Holism Theory and Practice in Contemporary Anthropology presents a series of essays that critically examine the ongoing relevance of holism and its theoretical and methodological potential in today s world Contributions from a diverse collection of leading anthropologists reveal how recent critiques of the holistic approach have not led to its wholesale rejection but rather to a panoply of experiments that critically reassess and reemploy holism The essays focus on aspects of holism including its utilization in current ethnographic research holistic considerations in cultural anthropology the French structuralist tradition the predominantly English tradition of social anthropology and many others Collectively the essays show how holism is simultaneously central to and problematically a part of the theory and practice of anthropology Experiments in Holism reveals how contemporary attempts to rescale and retool anthropology entail new ways of coming to terms with anthropology's heritage of holism seeking to obviate its current excesses while recapturing its critical potential to meet the challenges of our contemporary world In Search of the Rain Forest Candace Slater, 2004-03-22 Collection of essays offers a multi-layered understanding of the social complexities of rainforest practice and representation Heads of State Denise Y Arnold, Christine A Hastorf, 2016-07 Addresses the importance of the human head in political ritual and symbolic contexts in the ancient and modern Andes
