Healing In Community Medicine Contested Terrains And Cultural Encounters Among The Tuareg:

Healing in Community Susan J. Rasmussen, 2001-07-30 Exploring the multiple communities of healing among the Tuareg people of Niger this work examines the beliefs and practices that surround healing and the quest for medicine In studying ideals of healing that face challenges from wider political and economic forces the author enables us to understand these culturally and historically constructed processes This leads us to comprehend how many Tuareg construct and deconstruct local notions of medicine and healers how patients cope with current problems in health care and more broadly how medical knowledge is constructed in anthropology and ethnography Rasmussen reveals new perspectives on healing in systems of power and symbolism bridging interpretive cultural and political economy approaches This book explores the consequences and implications of the idea that in order to obtain medicine one must submit to authority but proceeds beyond merely demonstrating this idea already largely a truism in anthropology The Tuareg data show how local residents are not passive victims but rather active agents in responding to and resisting authority structures of medicine and medical knowledge

Dynamic Process Methodology in the Social and Developmental Sciences Jaan Valsiner, Peter C. M. Molenaar, Maria C.D.P. Lyra, Nandita Chaudhary, 2009-07-09 All psychological processes like biological and social ones are dynamic Phenomena of nature society and the human psyche are context bound constantly changing and variable This feature of reality is often not recognized in the social sciences where we operate with averaged data and with homogeneous stereotypes and consider our consistency to be the cornerstone of rational being Yet we are all inconsistent in our actions within a day or from one day to the next and much of such inconsistency is of positive value for our survival and development Our inconsistent behaviors and thoughts may appear chaotic yet there is generality within this highly variable dynamic The task of scientific methodologies qualitative and quantitative is to find out what that generality is It is the aim of this handbook to bring into one framework various directions of construction of methodology of the dynamic processes that exist in the social sciences at the beginning of the 21st century This handbook is set up to bring together pertinent methodological scholarship from all over the world and equally from the quantitative and qualitative orientations to methodology In addition to consolidating the pertinent knowledge base for the purposes of its further growth this book serves the major educational role of bringing practitioners students researchers and professionals interested in applications the state of the art know how about how to think about extracting evidence from single cases and about the formal mathematical statistical tools to use for these purposes

Serendipity in Anthropological Research Haim Hazan, 2016-04-15 Challenging the idea that fieldwork is the only way to gather data and that standard methods are the sole route to fruitful analysis Serendipity in Anthropological Research explores the role of fortune and happenstance in anthropology It conceives of anthropological research as a lifelong nomadic journey of discovery in which the world yields an infinite number of unexplored issues and innumerable ways of studying them each study producing its own questions and demanding its own methodologies Drawing together the latest research from a team of senior scholars from around the world to reflect on the experience of research Serendipity in Anthropological Research presents rich new case studies from Europe and the Middle East to examine both new and old questions in novel and enriching ways An engaging examination of methodology and anthropological fieldwork this book will appeal to all those concerned with writing ethnography African Medical Pluralism William C. Olsen, Carolyn Sargent, 2017-02-27 In most places on the African continent multiple health care options exist and patients draw on a therapeutic continuum that ranges from traditional medicine and religious healing to the latest in biomedical technology The ethnographically based essays in this volume highlight African ways of perceiving sickness making sense of and treating suffering and thinking about health care to reveal the range and practice of everyday medicine in Africa through historical political and economic contexts Indigenous Peoples, Poverty, and Development Gillette H. Hall, Gillette Hall, Harry Anthony Patrinos, 2012-04-30 This is the first book that documents poverty systematically for the world's indigenous peoples in developing regions in Asia Africa and Latin America The volume compiles results for roughly 85 percent of the world's indigenous peoples It draws on nationally representative data to compare trends in countries poverty rates and other social indicators with those for indigenous sub populations and provides comparable data for a wide range of countries all over the world It estimates global poverty numbers and analyzes other important development indicators such as schooling health and social protection Provocatively the results show a marked difference in results across regions with rapid poverty reduction among indigenous and non indigenous populations in Asia contrasting with relative stagnation and in some cases falling back in Latin America and Africa Two main factors motivate the book First there is a growing concern among poverty analysts worldwide that countries with significant vulnerable populations such as indigenous peoples may not meet the Millennium Development Goals and thus there exists a consequent need for better data tracking conditions among these groups Second there is a growing call by indigenous organizations including the United Nations Permanent Forum on Indigenous Peoples for solid disaggregated data analyzing the size and causes of the development gap At Ansha's Daria Trentini, 2021-07-16 Ansha and the Spirits Rural and Urban Health and Healing Wives and Husband Demons and Spirits Insiders and Outsiders Mountains Coast Rivers and Bridges Outside the mosque Makhuwa and Maka Books and Roots Muslims of the Spirits Muslims of the Mosque Healers and the Governo Nurses and Healers Knowing and Not Knowing Patients Good and Evil Close and Open The Dead and the Living Juniors and Seniors Tradition and Modernity Spirits and Women Returns Life and Death Epilogue Persons of Courage and Renown Susan Rasmussen, 2019-01-22 Persons of Courage and Renown is a theoretically engaged ethnography by a social cultural anthropologist that explores issues of culture memory creativity and power by analyzing beloved yet vulnerable actors acting and play performances in Tamajaq speaking predominantly Muslim traditionally stratified and semi nomadic Tuareg communities in northern Mali The town and region of Kidal are the primary sites of field research This book traces how Tuareg actors powerfully negotiate cultural memory and encounters in communities caught between political violence and peacekeeping efforts in northern Mali Urban state and nongovernmental bureaucracies there seek to reshape Tuareg verbal art performances to comply with official agendas aimed at transforming local culture This book shows how acting and plays are crucial in continuing but also debating and redefining the meanings of older verbal art performances of Tuareg tales songs and epics as well as wider cultural knowledge and social practice Their arts offer important possibilities for peacemaking in a turbulent and unpredictable world

Neighbors, Strangers, Witches, and Culture-Heroes Susan Rasmussen, 2013-09-24 This book examines alleged superhuman powers predominantly associated with smith artisans in five African societies It discusses their ritual and social roles mythic histories symbols surrounding their art and changing relationships between these specialists and their patrons Needed but also feared these smith artisans work in traditionally hereditary occupations and in stratified but negotiable relationships with their rural patron families Many of them now also work for new customers in an expanding market economy which is still characterized by personal face to face interactions Rasmussen maintains that a framework integrating anthropological theories of witchcraft alterity symbolism and power is fundamental to understanding local accusations and tensions in these relationships She also argues that it is critical to deconstruct and disentangle guilt blame and envy concepts that are often conflated in anthropology at the expense of falsely accused witch figures The first portion of this book is an ethnographic analysis of smith artisans in Tuareg society and draws on primary source data from this author's long term social cultural anthropological field research in Tuareg Kel Tamajaq communities of northern Niger and Mali The latter portion of the book is a cross cultural comparison and it re analyzes the Tuareg case drawing on secondary data on ritual powers and smith artisans in four other African societies the Amhara of Ethiopia the Bidan Moors of Mauritania the Kapsiki of Cameroon and the Mande of southern Mali In the concluding analysis there is discussion of similarities and differences between these cases the social consequences of ritual knowledge and power in each community and their wider implications for anthropology of religion human rights and African studies
