Lament-Driven Preaching Eliana Ah-Rum Ku,2024-03-04 This book challenges Christian communities to engage in lament a mode of existence characterized by impassioned expression witnessing and personal or social protest in the face of evil and injustice reflecting a profound yearning for God s saving presence Divine lament responds to and expresses solidarity with human suffering unveiling multiple facets of God s image and demonstrating a profound sense of divine compassion Drawing on the Book of Lamentations Korean concepts related to suffering han and hanpuri the Paschal Triduum narratives and recent homiletic discourses on suffering the author investigates how complex issues related to grief and hope can be addressed in preaching without diminishing the harsh reality of affliction. Designed to assist preachers, this book encourages a more intentional approach to addressing suffering specifically by advocating for lament as a transitional space between affliction and hope. Furthermore, readers are invited to contemplate the significance of the church, which within a world in decline embodies the body of Christ manifesting both the demise and resurrection of God.

Graduate Theological Education and the Human Experience of Disability Robert C Anderson, 2012-10-12

Create pathways in theological education and congregational practice for people with disabilities. Graduate Theological Education and the Human Experience of Disability examines graduate schools of theology and their limited familiarity with the study of disability and the presence of people with disabilities in particular on their campuses. Dubbed a missing note by one theologian, this text offers critical research and illuminates new pathways for theology and practice in the community of faith. Reviews of previous literature, theology, and practices illuminate how people with disabilities have historically been marginalized by the religious community. Theologians, people with disabilities, and researchers offer suggestions for incorporating disability studies into theological education and religious life. This text contains firsthand testimony from people with disabilities who are the necessary sources of wisdom for overcoming barriers. By infusing education into existing theological curriculum, seminaries may better prepare their students for leadership and ministry in their congregations. People with disabilities number 18% of the population yet represent only 5-7% of congregational membership. This book explores aspects of theology and disability such as the challenges faced by theological schools that desire to improve both theological curriculum and facilities; a review of literature that connects theology and disability from sources such as scripture, history, faith traditions, and social theory; the various ideologies that shape the way the human body is understood; redefining normal in theological education; an overview of critical boundaries that mark the limits and possibilities for theological inquiry about the human experience of disability; creative concepts that religious communities may use to better include people with disabilities and their families; how the religious community may benefit from the gifts, talents, and leadership of people with disabilities.

Graduate Theological Education and the Human Experience of Disability contains a reprint of Dr. Harold Wilke's landmark 1978 article from Theological Education published by the Association of Theological Schools. Dr. Wilke, born without arms, was the theologian, minister, and scholar who first articulated the need to address the human experience of disability in both theological education and congregational life. With extensive biographies and inclusive liturgies, this innovative text is a valuable resource for seminary professors and leaders, clergy, and disability advocates.

Postcolonial Preaching HyeRan Kim-Cragg, 2021-02-11 In Postcolonial Preaching HyeRan Kim Cragg argues that preaching is the act of dropping the stone of the Gospel into a lake making waves to move hearts and transform the world wounded by colonial violence The ripple effect serves as a metaphor and acronym to guide to preaching that takes postcolonial concerns seriously Rehearsal Imagination Place Pattern Language and Exegesis RIPPLE Kim Cragg explains each ripple in this approach and exercise of creating and delivering sermons The author delivers fresh insights while drawing on some traditional homiletical perspectives in the service of a homiletic that takes the reality of racism migration and environmental degradation seriously Moreover Kim Cragg demonstrates the postcolonial sermon in action by including annotated homilies This book contributes to the very first wave of the application of postcolonial scholarship in preaching Given the continuing extent and influence of colonial worldviews and legacies this approach should become a staple in preaching over the next generation

Women in the Bible Jaime Clark-Soles, 2020-12-01 What was it like to be a woman in the biblical period It depended in part on who you were a queen a judge a primary wife a secondary wife a widow a slave or some other kind of ordinary woman In Women in the Bible Jaime Clark Soles investigates how women are presented in Scripture taking into account cultural views of both ancient societies as well as our own While women today are exercising leadership in churches across a number of denominations and our scholarly knowledge related to women in the Bible has grown immensely challenges remain Most of Christendom still excludes women from religious leadership and many Christians invoke the Bible to circumscribe women's leadership in the public square and in the home as well It is more urgent than ever therefore to investigate closely honestly and intrepidly what the Bible does and doesn't say about women In a multipronged approach Clark Soles treats well known biblical women from fresh perspectives highlights women who have been ignored and recovers those who have been erased from historical memory by particular moves made in the transmission and translations of the text She explores symbolic feminized figures like Woman Wisdom and the Whore of Babylon and reclaims the uses of feminine imagery in the Bible that often go unnoticed Chapters focus on themes of God's relationship to gender women and violence women as creators and women in the ministry of both Jesus and Paul Clark Soles aims to equip clergy and other leaders invested in the study of Scripture to consider women in the Bible from multiple angles and as a result help people of all genders to live God's vision of better more just lives as we navigate the challenges of our complex globally connected world
