China's Green Religion James Miller,2017-05-16 How can Daoism China s indigenous religion give us the aesthetic ethical political and spiritual tools to address the root causes of our ecological crisis and construct a sustainable future In China s Green Religion James Miller shows how Daoism orients individuals toward a holistic understanding of religion and nature Explicitly connecting human flourishing to the thriving of nature Daoism fosters a green subjectivity and agency that transforms what it means to live a flourishing life on earth Through a groundbreaking reconstruction of Daoist philosophy and religion Miller argues for four key green insights a vision of nature as a subjective power that informs human life an anthropological idea of the porous body based on a sense of qi flowing through landscapes and human beings a tradition of knowing founded on the experience of transformative power in specific landscapes and topographies and an aesthetic and moral sensibility based on an affective sensitivity to how the world pervades the body and the body pervades the world Environmentalists struggle to raise consciousness for their cause Miller argues because their activism relies on a quasi Christian concept of saving the earth Instead environmentalists should integrate nature and culture more seamlessly cultivating through a contemporary intellectual vocabulary a compelling vision of how the earth materially and spiritually supports human flourishing
