

CREATING HEALTHY COMMUNITIES

ARTS + PUBLIC HEALTH IN AMERICA

ADVANCING CROSS-SECTOR COLLABORATION AT THE INTERSECTIONS OF THE ARTS AND PUBLIC HEALTH TO CREATE HEALTHIER COMMUNITIES.

COLLABORATION

SHARING KNOWLEDGE, PRACTICE, AND WAYS OF KNOWING

Over 300 thought leaders from the arts & culture, public health, and community development sectors convened in working groups across the country to explore current practices, priorities, evidence and policy changes needed to enable community-based practice at the intersections of the arts and public health.

TRANSLATION

TRANSLATING KNOWLEDGE AND RESEARCH INTO POLICY AND PRACTICE

The knowledge and evidence gathered was translated into an array of resources designed to advance innovation, practice and policy at the intersections of the arts, community development, and public health.

DISCOVERY

RESEARCH AND EVIDENCE SYNTHESIS

The initiative undertook a multifaceted research strategy - including surveys, focus groups, mapping and systematic reviews - to map, evaluate, and illuminate existing evidence, and to document and describe how the arts are used in public health in the US.

DISSEMINATION

SHARING RESOURCES AND ENABLING EVIDENCE-BASED PRACTICE AND ACTION

Robust and comprehensive communications and publication strategies have made the initiative's resources widely available to practitioners, educators, researchers and policy makers to advance the field of arts in public health.

procrastination The essence of development administration is to bring about change through integrated organised and properly directed governmental action In the recent past the governments in most of the developing nations have shifted their focus on development by means of planned change and people s participation With this shift of administrative concern towards developmental objectives the researchers and practitioners of Public Administration have been forced to conceptualise the developmental situation and to bridge the gaps in the administrative theory The growing welfare functions of the government have brought into the limelight the limitations of the traditional theory of administration The essence of administration in the present conditions lies in its capacity to bring about change in the structure and behaviour of different administrative institutions to develop an acceptance for the change and to create a system that can sustain change and improve the capacity of institutions to change All this calls for renewed efforts on the part of institutions engaged in the tasks of development Thus development administration as an area of study and as means to realise developmental goals assumes importance This book contains plenty of substance for scholars but the writing has the verve and clarity to seize and entertain the general reader as well Contents Role of NGOs and Voluntary Organisations Economic Policy in India Since Independence Local Self Government Meaning Nature and Scope Concept of Rural Development Centralization and Decentralization Population Urban Environment and Health in India Sports Fitness and Training Arnel Dawson,2019-07-18
