Healthcare and Patient Communication in the Digital Era Sinikka Torkkola, Anna Sendra Toset, 2025-09-15 This book provides a social and cultural theoretical framework for the digitalization of healthcare communication from a patient centred perspective Through empirical case studies the book outlines the experiences of patients as the digitalization of healthcare communication re spatializes and re temporalizes care and reconstructs patienthood and ill health To demonstrate how changes in communication impacts health and illness the book examines the digitalization process from three viewpoints Firstly it illustrates how the digitalization of illness enhances the availability of information and peer support which increases patient empowerment Secondly it shows how the digitalization of disease transforms signs of disease in a patient s body into electronic data increases the distance between the disease and the patient and enables diagnosis without a healthcare professional touching a patient s body Finally it explains how the digitalization of sickness changes the power relations founded in health and reconfigures health citizenship Filling a theoretical gap in health communication scholarship this book will be of interest to academics and postgraduate students in the field of Health Communication Digital Communication Communication Studies and Health Sciences The book also offers healthcare professionals new perspectives to respond to the increasing communicative duties arising from the digitalization of healthcare communication      Strategic Communication for Non-Profit Organisations Evandro Oliveira, Ana Duarte Melo, Gisela Goncalves, 2019-03-28 Communication in the public sphere as well as within organizational contexts has attracted the interest of researchers over the past century. Current forms of citizen engagement and community development partly enabled through digital communication have further enhanced the visibility and relevance of non profit communication. These are performed by the civil society which is the organized expression of the values and interests of society. Castells 2008 in the public sphere Non profit communication feeds the public sphere as the discursive processes in a complex network of persons institutionalized associations and organizations whereas those discourses are a civilized way of disagreeing openly about essential matters of common concern. Jensen 2002 Despite the relevance in the public sphere non profit communication was never properly defined within communication research. The aim of the present book is to offer an overview and report on Strategic Communication for Non Profit Organisations and the Challenges and Alternative Approaches. Considering the assumption that a key principle of strategic communication is the achievement of organisational goals the majority of research developed in the field has used business environments to develop theories models empirical insights and case studies. Here we take a step towards new approaches centred on the concept of non profit in various dimensions and from various perspectives showing the diversity and complexity around this subject and at the same time the need of further theoretical and empirical work that provides frameworks and also tools for further understanding of the phenomena      Health Literacy in Medicines Use and Pharmacy Ahmed Awaisu, Emad Eldin Munsour, Parisa Aslani, Rabia Hussain, Zaheer-Ud-Din Babar, 2024-11-27 Health Literacy in Medicines Use and Pharmacy A Definitive Guide highlights issues related to the medication literacy from the context of pharmacist and other healthcare professionals. Communication Susanna Hornig Priest, 2010-07-14 The explosion of scientific information is exacerbating the information gap between richer poorer educated less educated publics The proliferation of media technology and the popularity of the Internet help some keep up with these developments but also make it more likely others fall further behind This is taking place in a globalizing economy and society that further complicates the division between information haves and have nots and compounds the challenge of communicating about emerging science and technology to increasingly diverse audiences Journalism about science and technology must fill this gap yet journalists and journalism students themselves struggle to keep abreast of contemporary scientific developments Scientist aided by public relations and public information professionals must get their stories out not only to other scientists but also to broader public audiences Funding agencies increasingly expect their grantees to engage in outreach and education and such activity can be seen as both a survival strategy and an ethical imperative for taxpayer supported university based research Science communication often in new forms must expand to meet all these needs Providing a comprehensive introduction to students professionals and scholars in this area is a unique challenge because practitioners in these fields must grasp both the principles of science and the principles of science communication while understanding the social contexts of each For this reason science journalism and science communication are often addressed only in advanced undergraduate or graduate specialty courses rather than covered exhaustively in lower division courses Even so those entering the field rarely will have a comprehensive background in both science and communication studies This circumstance underscores the importance of compiling useful reference materials The Encyclopedia of Science and Technology Communication presents resources and strategies for science communicators including theoretical material and background on recent controversies and key institutional actors and sources Science communicators need to understand more than how to interpret scientific facts and conclusions they need to understand basic elements of the politics sociology and philosophy of science as well as relevant media and communication theory principles of risk communication new trends and how to evaluate the effectiveness of science communication programmes to mention just a few of the major challenges This work will help to develop and enhance such understanding as it addresses these challenges and more Topics covered include advocacy policy and research organizations environmental and health communication philosophy of science media theory and science communication informal science education science journalism as a profession risk communication theory public understanding of science pseudo science in the news special problems in reporting science and technology science communication ethics
