He Battle Of Boston Busing And The Struggle For Desegregation:

Why Busing Failed Matthew F. Delmont, 2016-03-01 In the decades after the landmark Brown v Board of Education Supreme Court decision busing to achieve school desegregation became one of the nation's most controversial civil rights issues. Why Busing Failed is the first book to examine the pitched battles over busing on a national scale focusing on cities such as Boston, Chicago, New York, and Pontiac, Michigan. This groundbreaking book shows how school officials, politicians, the courts, and the media gave precedence to the desires of white parents who opposed school desegregation over the civil rights of black students. This broad and incisive history of busing features a cast of characters that includes national political figures such as then president Richard Nixon, Chicago mayor Richard J. Daley, and antibusing advocate Louise Day Hicks, as well as some lesser-known activists on both sides of the issue: Boston civil rights leaders Ruth Batson and Ellen Jackson, who opposed segregated schools; and Pontiac housewife and antibusing activist Irene McCabe, black conservative Clay Smothers, and Florida governor Claude Kirk, all supporters of school segregation. Why Busing Failed shows how antibusing parents and politicians ultimately succeeded in preventing full public school desegregation. Joe Moakley's Journey Mark Robert Schneider, 2013-06-11 The first biography of the popular long-serving congressman from South Boston. Suffrage at 100 Stacie Taranto, Leandra Zarnow, 2020-08-04 Suffrage at 100 looks at women's engagement in US electoral politics and government over the one hundred years since the ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment. In the 2018 midterm elections, 102 women were elected to the House and 14 to the Senate, a record for both bodies. And yet nearly a century after the ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment, the notion of congressional gender parity by 2020, a stated goal of the National Women's Political Caucus at the time of its founding in 1971, remains a distant ideal. In Suffrage at 100, Stacie Taranto and Leandra Zarnow bring together twenty-two scholars to take stock of women's engagement in electoral politics over the past one hundred years. This is the first wide-ranging collection to historically examine women's full political engagement in and beyond electoral office since they gained a constitutional right to vote. The book explores why women's access to and influence on political power remains frustratingly uneven, particularly for women of color and queer women. Examining how women have acted collectively and individually both within and outside of electoral and governmental channels, the book moves from the front lines of community organizing to the highest glass ceiling. Essays touch on labor and civil rights, education, environmentalism, enfranchisement, and voter suppression, conservatism vs. liberalism, indigeneity and transnationalism, LGBTQ and personal politics, Pan-Asian, Chicana, and black feminisms, commemoration, and public history, and much more. 1984 Manning Marable's Race Reform and Rebellion has become widely known as the most crucial political and social history of African Americans since World War II. Aimed at students of contemporary American politics and society and written by one of the most articulate and eloquent authorities on the movement for black freedom, this acclaimed study traces the divergent elements of political, social, and moral reform in nonwhite America since 1945. This third edition brings Marable's study into the twenty-first century, analyzing the effects of such factors as black neoconservatism, welfare reform, the Million Man March, the mainstreaming of hip hop culture, 9/11, and Hurricane Katrina. Marable's work brought into the present remains one of the most dramatic, well-conceived, and provocative histories of the struggle for African American civil rights and equality. Through the 1950s and 1960s, Marable follows the emergence of a powerful black working class, the successful effort to abolish racial segregation, the outbreak of Black Power urban rebellion, and the renaissance of Black Nationalism. He explores the increased participation of blacks and other ethnic groups in governmental systems and the white reaction during the period he terms the Second Reconstruction. Race Reform and Rebellion illustrates how poverty, illegal drugs, unemployment, and a deteriorating urban infrastructure hammered the African American community in the 1980s and early 1990s.

No Middle Ground Kathleen M. Blee, 1998. Assembles a variety of studies on women's role in modern US radical and non-mainstream political movements, including labor, environmental, and racial. Some are first-person accounts reflecting on the personal dimensions of political commitment; other are scholarly examinations based on interviews and document analysis. Many focus on a particular incident or time period. Six of the 15 essays have been previously published. Annotation copyrighted by Book News, Inc., Portland, OR.

Activism and Rhetoric JongHwa Lee, Seth Kahn, 2010-10-18. This volume examines the role of rhetoric in today's culture of democratic activism. The volume takes on two of the most significant challenges currently facing contemporary rhetorical studies: 1) the contested meanings and practices of democracy and civic engagement in global context, and 2) the central role of rhetoric in democratic activist practices. In presenting a variety of political and rhetorical struggles in their specific contexts, editors Seth Kahn and JongHwa Lee allow contributors to reflect on and elaborate possibilities for both activist approaches to rhetorical studies and rhetorical approaches to activist projects, facilitating better understanding of the socio-political consequences of this work. With contributors from widely known scholars in communication and composition studies, the collection offers practical cases that highlight how rhetoric mediates, constitutes, and/or intervenes in democratic principles and practices. It also considers theoretical questions that acknowledge profound voids in the rhetorical tradition, e.g., Western neo-Aristotelian liberalism, and expand the horizon of traditional rhetorical perspectives. It advocates new knowledge and practices that further promote civic engagement, social change, and democracy in the global context. Activism and Rhetoric will be appropriate for scholars and students across disciplines, including rhetoric, composition, communication studies, political science, cultural studies, and women's studies.

Boston Against Busing Ronald P. Formisano,2012-01-01 Perhaps the most spectacular reaction to court ordered busing in the 1970s occurred in Boston where there was intense and protracted protest Ron Formisano explores the sources of white opposition to school desegregation Racism was a key factor Formisano argues but racial prejudice alone cannot explain the movement Class resentment ethnic rivalries and the defense of neighborhood turf all played powerful roles in the protest In a new epilogue Formisano brings the story up to the present day describing the end of desegregation orders in Boston and other cities He also examines the nationwide trend toward the resegregation of schools which he explains is the result of Supreme Court decisions attacks on affirmative action white flight and other factors He closes with a brief look at the few school districts that have attempted to base school assignment policies on class or economic status

Aquila,1980 Children of the Dream Rucker C. Johnson,2019-04-16 An acclaimed economist reveals that school integration efforts in the 1970s and 1980s were overwhelmingly successful and argues that we must renew our commitment to integration for the sake of all Americans We are frequently told that school integration was a social experiment doomed from the start But as Rucker C Johnson demonstrates in Children of the Dream it was in fact a spectacular achievement Drawing on longitudinal studies going back to the 1960s he shows that students who attended integrated and well funded schools were more successful in life than those who did not and this held true for children of all races Yet as a society we have given up on integration Since the high point of integration in 1988 we have regressed and segregation again prevails Contending that integrated well funded schools are the primary engine of social mobility Children of the Dream offers a radical new take on social policy It is essential reading in our divided times
