Tatian's Diatessaron James W. Barker, 2021-10-28
In the late second century Tatian the Assyrian constructed a new Gospel by intricately harmonizing Matthew Mark Luke and John Tatian's work became known as the Diatessaron since it was derived out of the four eventually canonical Gospels
Though it circulated widely for centuries the Diatessaron disappeared in antiquity
Nevertheless numerous ancient and medieval harmonies survive in various languages
Some texts are altogether independent of the Diatessaron while others are definitely related
Yet even Tatian's known descendants differ in large and small ways so attempts at reconstruction have proven confounding
In this book James W Barker forges a new path in Diatessaron studies
Covering the widest array of manuscript evidence to date Tatian's Diatessaron reconstructs the compositional and editorial practices by which Tatian wrote his Gospel
By sorting every extant witnesses according to its narrative sequence the macrostructure of Tatian's Gospel becomes clear
Despite many shared agreements there remain significant divergences between eastern and western witnesses
This book argues that the eastern ones preserve Tatian's order whereas the western texts descend from a fourth century recension of the Diatessaron Victor of Capua and his scribe used the recension to produce the Latin Codex Fuldensis in the sixth century More controversially Barker offers new evidence that late medieval texts such as the Middle Dutch Stuttgart harmony independently preserve traces of the western recension This study uncovers the composition and reception history behind one of early Christianity's most elusive texts
