Healing Processes In The Cornea:

Healing Processes in the Cornea Roger W. Beuerman, Craig E. Crosson, Herbert Edward Kaufman, 1989 Corneal Regeneration Jorge L. Alió, Jorge L. Alió del Barrio, Francisco Arnalich-Montiel, 2019-02-20 This text provides expert instruction on the varying surgical techniques currently employed for the regeneration of the ocular surface Corneal Regeneration Therapy and Surgery begins with a thorough discussion of current research based on data obtained in clinical human studies and discusses the potential clinical implications for this promising new stage of eye surgery Sections devoted to the stem cell regenerative surgery and therapy of the ocular surface epithelium corneal stroma and corneal endothelium follow each section comprehensively covering applied anatomy current therapy and regenerative techniques with a look to future directions of the field including eventual cell therapy Corneal Regeneration Therapy and Surgery is the first book of its kind systematically covering the developments the medical community has achieved in corneal regeneration from all angles Written and edited by leading experts in the field researchers and ophthalmologists alike will find this to be a unique source of information on corneal regeneration as well as a thoughtful reflection on potential applications of regenerative surgery in ophthalmology as a whole Corneal Surgery Frederick S. Brightbill, 2009-01-01 Part 1 Introduction to corneal function and surgery Part 2 Testing and measuring corneal function Part 3 Ocular surface surgery and reconstruction Part 4 Techniques in corneal transplantation Part 5 Special situations in corneal surgery Part 6 Surgical correction of refractive errors

Copeland and Afshari's Principles and Practice of Cornea Robert A. Copeland, Natalie Afshari, Claes H. Dohlman, 2013-02-28 The cornea is the transparent front part of the eye covering the iris and the pupil allowing light to enter and covering two thirds of the eye s focusing tasks This two volume set is a comprehensive guide to the latest research and techniques for the cornea Beginning with basic science examination techniques and epidemiology the following chapters discuss the diagnosis and the medical and surgical treatment of numerous different conditions and diseases that may affect the cornea Written by an extensive international editor and author team this manual features more than 1300 full colour clinical and histopathological images as well as a DVD demonstrating a multitude of surgical techniques described in the book Key points Comprehensive two volume set describing diagnosis and treatment of numerous corneal disorders Features more than 1300 colour images and illustrations Includes a DVD demonstrating surgical techniques and procedures Extensive international author and editor team Foundations of Corneal Disease Kathryn Colby, Reza Dana, 2019-10-31 The field of cornea has seen tremendous advances over the last 40 years this uniquely comprehensive book will discuss the history of these advances current best practices in important diseases of the cornea and ocular surface and examine future directions in diagnosis and management Written by leading experts many of whom trained under Claes Henrik Dohlman MD PhD whose influence and many invaluable contributions have defined and shaped the field of cornea each chapter will reflect the state of the art in the various aspects of cornea Foundations of Corneal Disease Past Present and Future contains six different sections opening with an introduction which delves into the evolution of subspecialty training in cornea and provides a historical perspective of our understanding of ocular surface disease Section Two addresses perspectives on important corneal and external diseases including infectious keratitis dry eye and herpes simplex Section Three and Section Four address surgery and surgical alternatives and frontiers in corneal research Section Six closes this book with a discussion of special topics imaging the cornea corneal blindness eye banking and clinical trials in dry eye and explores future directions in this fast paced field Foundations of Corneal Disease Past Present and Future contains is an ideal guide for corneal specialists ophthalmology residents and fellows planning to enter cornea corneal scientists and to those in ophthalmology and visual science interested in a comprehensive resource on cornea and the history of this field

Inhibitors of corneal inflammation and angiogenesis Pierfrancesco Mirabelli, 2019-04-30 Pathologic angiogenesis is involved in cancer and several blinding conditions such as wet age related macular degeneration proliferative retinopathies and corneal neovascularization In these diseases the angiogenic triggers are hypoxia and inflammation and both involve the main angiogenic mediator which is Vascular Endothelial Growth Factor VEGF Among available treatments anti VEGF often shows limited or temporary efficacy while steroids are potentially responsible for many side effects This thesis presents a series of linked studies aimed at elucidating the early pathologic changes leading to inflammation and corneal neovascularization and how various treatments affect this process In this thesis anti inflammatory and anti angiogenic treatments are applied in corneal neovascularization models to identify VEGF independent pathways and other novel factors as future therapy targets as well as to investigate the endogenous modulation of angiogenesis A model of experimental neovascularization in the rat cornea was used as main model where the neovascular response is triggered by a surgical suture placed into the cornea Investigational treatments anti Vegf dexamethasone IMD0354 Gap27 or control substances were then given topically with the exception of IMD0354 which was given systemically The effects in the cornea were studied in vivo with slit lamp photography to assess and quantify macroscopic vessel growth and using in vivo confocal microscopy IVCN to study cell infiltration and limbal vessel dilation and detect microscopic vessel sprouts these examinations were performed longitudinally Genomic analysis with RNA microarray selected gene expression with q RT PCR and selected protein expression in tissue immunohistochemistry immunofluorescence Western blot were performed at different time points Moreover other experiments on cell cultures HUVEC and HCEC organ cultures human corneas ex vivo models aortic rings and in vivo studies zebrafish vasculogenesis were performed Dexamethasone suppressed limbal vasodilation and corneal neovascularization more than anti Vegf despite no difference in inflammatory cell infiltration into the cornea Five hundred eleven fewer genes were differentially expressed in dexamethasone treated corneas relative to na ve corneas compared to anti Vegf Among them several major pro angiogenic and pro inflammatory factors and chemokines were suppressed only by dexamethasone and represent novel candidate factors to target in order to improve anti VEGF treatment On the other hand selective inhibition of a single inflammatory pathway NF B despite showing similar early effects as dexamethasone in suppressing tissue inflammation was not effective enough to suppress new vessel growth The same factors suppressed by dexamethasone are also inhibited in endogenous modulation of angiogenesis Surprisingly dexamethasone activated several complement factors which could possibly be beneficial in the anti angiogenic response In a different therapeutic approach promoting cell migration to accelerate epithelial wound closure similarly was not sufficient to avoid inflammation and angiogenesis in the cornea In conclusion new and more effective treatments are needed for corneal inflammation and neovascularization with fewer side effects In this thesis several novel factors and mechanisms related to inflammation are identified factors that are not addressed by anti Vegf therapy and therefore represent interesting objects for further study as they have the potential to be targets for adjuvant therapy Specific anti inflammatory treatment as well as therapeutic activation of endogenous regulatory pathways and potentially complement modulation might represent new strategies to improve anti angiogenic therapy but when used alone they do not seem to avoid corneal neovascularization Enabling Biomaterials for New Biomedical Technologies and Clinical Therapies Hasan Uludag,Abhay Pandit,Liisa Kuhn,2020-07-14

Ocular Periphery and Disorders Darlene A. Dartt,Peter Bex,Patricia D'Amore,Reza Dana,Linda Mcloon,Jerry Niederkorn,2011-05-05 This selection of articles from the Encyclopedia of the Eye is the first single volume overview presenting articles on the function biology physiology and pathology of the structures of the ocular periphery as well as the related disorders and their treatment The peripheral structures are implicated in a number of important diseases including optic neuritis thyroid eye disease and strabismus The volume offers a basic science background of these topics rather than a strictly clinical focus The first single volume to integrate comparative studies into a comprehensive resource on the neuroscience of the ocular periphery Chapters are carefully selected from the Encyclopedia of the Eye by the world s leading vision researchers The best researchers in the field provide their conclusions in the context of the latest experimental results

Diseases of Cattle in the Tropics I. Ristic,Ian McIntyre,1981-10-31 Most of the future increase in livestock production is expected to occur in the tropical and subtropical regions of the world Cattle are the most numerous of the ruminant species in the tropics and provide the largest quantity of animal food products More than one third of the world s cattle are found in the tropics Disease is the major factor which prohibits full utilization of these regions for cattle production Various infectious and transmissible viral rick ettsial bacterial and particularly protozoan and helminthic diseases are widespread in the tropics and exert a heavy toll on the existing cattle industry there This uncontrolled disease situation also discourages investment in cattle industries by private and government sectors In Africa alone it is estimated that 125 million head of cattle could be accommodated in the tropical rainbelt if the disease and other animal husbandry factors could be resolved The potential of efficient cattle production under more favorable conditions prompted various international agencies to establish a multi million dollar International Laboratory for Research in Animal Diseases ILRAD in Nairobi Kenya Africa In South America principal sites for raising cattle are shifting to the savannah lands because the more fertile soils are being used for crop production however in the savannahs also disease remains the most powerful deterrent in implementing the cattle industry
