Health And Mortality Issues Of Global Concern:

Health and Mortality United Nations. Department of Economic and Social Affairs. Population Division, Centre d'étude de la population et de la famille (Belgium), 1999 Nineteen papers from the November 1997 symposium examine three major issues in health and mortality the measurement of mortality and health status the state of current knowledge about the evolution of mortality and health in various economies and the analysis of risk factors associated with specific behaviors that may account for growing proportions of death Also published in Belgium under the same title by the Population and Family Study Center CBGS in March 1999 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Heart Disease Gerdi Weidner, Mária Kopp, Margareta Kristenson, 2002 Annotation This book addresses one major question Why do men get more heart disease than women Recent global trends in heart disease show that traditional coronary risk factors such as elevated blood pressure and cholesterol are poor candidates in explaining the gender gap in heart disease Changes in these risk factors also cannot explain the recent cardiovascular disease epidemic among middle aged men in Eastern Europe This book will focus on environmental behavioral and psychosocial variables as well as new risk factors of a biological nature in an attempt to understand the gender gap in heart disease It combines perspectives from numerous disciplines such as demography epidemiology medicine sociology and psychology This book features the work of a distinguished group of international researchers appearing in Richard Stone's report on Stress the invisible hand in Eastern Europe's death rates Science vol 288 June 9 2000 pp 1732-33 It combines perspectives from numerous disciplines such as demography epidemiology medicine nutrition sociology and psychology to explore the environmental behavioral and psychosocial influences on men's greater susceptibility to heart disease

International Handbook of Adult Mortality Richard G. Rogers, Eileen M. Crimmins, 2011-02-18 This handbook presents a comprehensive and up to date overview of unprecedented substantive theoretical methodological and statistical developments and insights and an in depth examination of trends and patterns in adult mortality around the world With over two dozen chapters and more than 50 authors this volume draws from top international mortality experts to provide one of the best overviews of life expectancy extant The book documents remarkable gains in life expectancy which stand out as one of the most important accomplishments of the twentieth century Individuals in more developed countries can expect to live longer now than ever before especially the Japanese who enjoy record setting life expectancies The book also explores unfortunate declines in life expectancy in selected countries brought on by such factors as infectious diseases accidents suicides and homicides and political and economic conflict and turmoil This book synthesizes the wealth of mortality information available clearly articulates the central findings to date identifies the most appropriate datasets and methods currently available illuminates the central research questions and develops an agenda to address these research questions The authors carefully examine central factors related to mortality including health behaviors socioeconomic status social relations biomarkers and genetic factors The book will prove especially relevant to researchers students and policy makers within social and health sciences who want to better understand international trends and patterns in adult mortality

The Demography and Epidemiology of Human Health and Aging Jacob S. Siegel, 2011-09-30 With this book Siegel an internationally known demographer and gerontologist has made a unique contribution to the fledgling fields of health demography and the demography and epidemiology of aging The book represents a felicitous union of epidemiology gerontology and demography and appears to be the first and only comprehensive text on this subject now available Drawing on a wide range of sciences in addition to demography gerontology and epidemiology including medical sociology biostatistics public policy bioethics and molecular biology the author treats theoretical and applied issues links methods and findings covers the material internationally nationally and locally and while focusing on the elderly treats the entire life course The methods materials and perspectives of demography and epidemiology are brought to bear on such topics as the prospects for future increases in human longevity the relative contribution of life style environment genetics and chance in human longevity the measurement of the share of healthy years in total life expectancy the role of population growth in the rising costs of health care and the applications of health demography in serving the health needs of local communities The separate chapters systematically develop the topics of the sources and quality of health data mortality life tables and the measurement of health status the interrelationships of health on the one hand and mortality fertility migration and age structure on the other health conditions in the less developed countries the concepts and theories of aging and projections of the aged population and local health applications public health policy and bioethical issues in health demography Given its comprehensiveness clarity interdisciplinary scope and authenticity this book appeals to a wide range of users from students and teachers of medical sociology the demography of aging and public health studies to practitioners in these areas both as a text in health demography and the demography epidemiology of aging and as a reference work in these fields

Challenging Inequities in Health Timothy

Evans, Margaret Whitehead, Finn Diderichsen, Abbas Bhuiya, Meg Wirth, 2001-05-31 There is a growing sense that the health gap between socioeconomic groups is getting worse in many countries To address this gap conceptual clarity and empirical evidence are needed along with a greater focus on equity in policy making This book is designed to present cutting edge research and policy analysis to a wide non specialist readership of students professionals and policy makers It brings together in one volume new perspectives on the conceptual foundations of health equity empirical evidence on the scale and nature of the inequities in health in twelve countries around the world and assessments of the associated policy developments and their implications for the future It aims to help build global capacity to measure monitor and interpret developments in health equity at a national and international level The in depth country analyses draw on epidemiology demography economics and other fields to approach health inequalities from several different angles The topics covered range from adolescent livelihoods in Tanzania to the health burden of indigenous peoples in Mexico from health equity in Japan to the gender gap in life expectancy in Russia The book is a unique demonstration of global cooperation in bringing together and giving equal weight to work on health equity carried out in the southern and northern hemispheres Health Care

Systems: Rethinking health care systems Jonathan Watson,Pavel Ovseiko,2005 This collection covers the organization financing and regulation of health care systems in four clear contexts reforming health care systems understanding health care politics financing and delivering health care rethinking health care systems Injuries and Violence in Europe

Dinesh Sethi,2006 The deaths and injuries caused by preventable incidents such as road traffic accidents drowning poisoning falls fires self inflicted injuries and substance abuse related violence have significant human financial and other costs to society It is estimated that about 800 000 people in Europe die from injuries every year and this is the leading cause of death for people aged under 45 years Using an evidence based approach this publication examines the scale of the problem the risk factors and related socio economic and regional inequalities involved It considers options for a public health policy framework designed to promote injury prevention through a multi sectoral response across all levels of government and society throughout the WHO Europe region Coronary Heart Disease Epidemiology Michael Marmot,M. G. Marmot,Paul Elliott,2005 Coronary heart disease is the leading cause of death worldwide affecting millions of people in both developed and developing countries The dual aims of this book are to review the well established and emerging risk factors in coronary heart disease and to apply this knowledge to public health approaches to disease prevention The book includes authoritative accounts of studies within a single population and international studies important areas of methodological development trials to test preventive strategies and the application of epidemiological and other knowledge to the development of public health policy for the prevention of widespread disease It is an all encompassing work containing contributions from the world authorities in the field The book is divided into four sections The introduction reviews advances in the understanding of and the current status of risk factors for CHD Section 2 looks at recent global trends and emerging patterns of CHD morbidity and mortality in several countries and includes chapters on work done under the auspices of WHO on the global burden of disease in relation to smoking and blood pressure Section 3 focuses on advances in understanding the aetiology of CHD with each chapter focused on a particular risk factor Section 4 explores measures of prevention and intervention in terms of public health policy with specific examples from around the world Demography: Analysis and Synthesis, Four Volume Set

Graziella Caselli,Jacques Vallin,Guillaume Wunsch,2006-01-03 This four volume collection of over 140 original chapters covers virtually everything of interest to demographers sociologists and others Over 100 authors present population subjects in ways that provoke thinking and lead to the creation of new perspectives not just facts and equations to be memorized The articles follow a theory methods applications approach and so offer a kind of one stop shop that is well suited for students and professors who need non technical summaries such as political scientists public affairs specialists and others Unlike shorter handbooks Demography Analysis and Synthesis offers a long overdue thorough treatment of the field Choosing the analytical method that fits the data and the situation requires insights that the authors and editors of Demography Analysis and Synthesis have explored and developed This extended examination of demographic tools not only seeks to explain the analytical tools themselves but also the relationships between general population dynamics and their natural economic social political and cultural environments Limiting themselves to human populations only the authors and editors cover subjects that range from the core building blocks of population change fertility mortality and migration to the consequences of demographic changes in the biological and health fields population theories and doctrines observation systems and the teaching of demography The international perspectives brought to these subjects is vital for those who want an unbiased rounded overview of these complex multifaceted subjects Topics to be covered Population Dynamics and the Relationship Between Population Growth and Structure The Determinants of Fertility The Determinants of Mortality The Determinants of Migration Historical and Geographical Determinants of Population The Effects of Population on Health Economics Culture and the Environment Population Policies Data Collection Methods and Teaching about Population Studies All chapters share a common format Each chapter features several cross references to other chapters Tables charts and other non text features are widespread Each chapter contains at least 30 bibliographic citations

HIV, Resurgent Infections and Population Change in Africa Michel Caraël,Judith Glynn,2008-08-12 Forty years ago the age old battle against infectious diseases as a major threat to human health was believed close to being won However by the late twentieth century the increase of emerging and reemerging infectious diseases was evident in both low and high income countries About 30 new infectious diseases have been identified in the last 20 years Among the new diseases and most importantly the Human Immunodeficiency Virus HIV epidemic with 40 million persons infected and 25 million deaths since its first description presents one of the most significant health societal and security challenges facing the global community The interaction of HIV AIDS with tuberculosis malaria and bacterial infections have increased HIV related morbidity and mortality and in turn the HIV pandemic has brought about devastating increases in tuberculosis

Understanding the population impact and the dynamics of infectious diseases in the most affected region is critical to efforts to reduce the morbidity and mortality of such infections and for decisions on where to use limited resources in the fight against infections. This book aims to contribute to these efforts by offering a demographic and epidemiological perspective on emerging and reemerging infections in sub-Saharan Africa.

Disease and Mortality in Sub-Saharan Africa Dean T. Jamison, 2006-01-01

Current data and trends in morbidity and mortality for the sub-Saharan Region as presented in this new edition reflect the heavy toll that HIV/AIDS has had on health indicators leading to either a stalling or reversal of the gains made not just for communicable disorders but for cancers as well as mental and neurological disorders.

The Demography of Europe Gerda Neyer, Gunnar Andersson, Hill Kulu, Laura Bernardi, Christoph Bühler, 2013-04-22

Over the past decades Europe has witnessed fundamental changes of its population dynamics and population structure. Fertility has fallen below replacement level in almost all European countries while childbearing behavior and family formation have become more diverse. Life expectancy has increased in Western Europe for both females and males but has been declining for men in some Eastern European countries. Immigration from non-European countries has increased substantially as has mobility within Europe. These changes pose major challenges to population studies as conventional theoretical assumptions regarding demographic behavior and demographic development seem unfit to provide convincing explanations of the recent demographic changes. This book derived from the symposium on The Demography of Europe held at the Max Planck Institute for Demographic Research in Rostock, Germany, in November 2007 in honor of Professor Jan M. Hoem brings together leading population researchers in the area of fertility, family, migration, life expectancy and mortality. The contributions present key issues of the new demography of Europe and discuss key research advances to understand the continent's demographic development at the turn of the 21st century.
