Richardson,2007-01-01 Renaissance art history is traditionally identified with Italian centers of production and Florence in particular Instead this book explores the dynamic interchange between

European artistic centers and artists and the trade in works of art It also considers the impact of differing locations on art and artists and some of the economic political and cultural factors crucial to the emergence of an artistic center During c 1420 1520 no city or court could succeed in isolation and so artists operated within a network of interests and local and international identities The case studies presented in this book portray the Renaissance as an exciting international phenomenon with cities and courts inextricably bound together in a web of economic and political interests The Painted Triptychs of Fifteenth-Century Germany Lynn F. Jacobs, 2025-10-01 This book presents four case studies that interrogate how German fifteenth century painted triptychs engage with and ultimately blur various boundaries Some of the boundaries are internal to the triptych format for example transgressed frames between narrative scenes on triptych interiors or interconnections between imagery on triptych interiors and exteriors Other blurred boundaries are regional ones between the Netherlands and Cologne metaphysical ones between heaven and earth and artistic distinctions between the media of painting and sculpture The book's case studies which shed new light on Conrad von Soest Stefan Lochner and the Master of the St Bartholomew Altarpiece illuminate the importance of German fifteenth century painting while providing a fresh assessment of relations between German triptychs and their more famous Netherlandish counterparts The case studies also demonstrate the value of probing Mediality that is the implications of format and medium for generating meaning A coda assesses the triptych in the age of Digital Media
