The Churchman, 1904 Good Housekeeping, 1921 Body Studies in Canada Valerie Zawilski, 2021-07-20 How do we perceive ourselves and our bodies in relation to our physical geographical social cultural political psychological and spiritual environments? Body Studies in Canada uses intersectional methodological and theoretical frameworks to discuss the political and socio-historical discourses that shape body studies in Canadian society. This edited volume delves into a variety of timely topics including postcolonial othering of the body, social discourses around healthy and unhealthy bodies, intersections of aging, gender, race, class, and size, the fitness industry's promotion of the ideal body, the gendering of bodywork, symbols and expressions in carceral environments, and self-awareness of the body in social and digital media. In thirteen chapters, editor Valerie Zawilski brings together scholars from a wide variety of disciplines and expertise to provide an interdisciplinary perspective on how the body interacts reflexively with society. This collection is a foundational text for sociology of the body and body studies courses as well as gender studies, political science, and health studies.

FEATURES provides a uniquely Canadian perspective on body studies and the surrounding historical and political issues with a focus on decolonization, racialization, masculinities, engagement with critical weight scholarship, and immigration. Pedagogical features include section introductions, boxed inserts highlighting key concepts, learning objectives, questions for critical thinking, and a glossary.

Encyclopedia of the Great Plains David J. Wishart, 2004-01-01 Wishart and the staff of the Center for Great Plains Studies have compiled a wide-ranging, planned encyclopedia of this important region. Their objective was to give definition to a region that has traditionally been poorly defined, and they have.

Sport and Gender in Canada Kevin Young, Philip White, 1999 Gender is proving an important key for understanding the culture of sports. Here Canadian scholars from a number of fields including sociology, kinesiology, physical education, women's studies, men's studies, cultural studies, and gay studies examine a wide range of gender-related issues linked to how sports are played, organized, and funded The readings emphasize the usefulness of distributive and relational perspectives on sports and gender They move beyond recognition of biological differences between men and women to more significant questions of equality power meaning and change both between and within males and females The first group of essays places sports and gender in an historical and conceptual framework and includes work on the historical intersections of gender class and sport The second section which focuses on contemporary issues and research includes essays on race sports injury eating disorders and the athlete sexual harassment and sexual abuse sexuality and homophobia in sport marketing and advertising disabled athletes and hazing

The Living Church ,1910 Women's American Football Russ Crawford,2022-11 Tackle football has been primarily viewed as a male sport but at a time when men's participation rates are decreasing an increasing number of women are entering the gridiron and they have a long history of doing so Women's American Football is a narrative history of girls and women participating in American football in the United States since the 1920s when a women's team played at halftime during an early NFL game The women's game became more organized in 1974 when the National Women's Football League was established with notable teams such as the Dallas Bluebonnets Toledo Troopers Oklahoma City Dolls and Detroit Demons Today there are two main professional leagues in the United States the Women's Football Alliance with nearly seventy teams and the Women's National Football Conference with eighteen in addition to a number of smaller leagues The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics and the NFL have recently begun sponsoring flag football teams at the college level and the game is growing for high school girls as well In 2021 more than two thousand girls played on mostly boys teams and there are currently four all girls leagues in the United States and Canada in Manitoba Utah Indiana and New Brunswick In addition to the rapid growth of women playing football there have been advancements in other areas of the game Beginning with Jennifer Welter in 2015 several women have earned positions coaching the professional game In 2020 ESPN aired Born to Play a documentary on the Boston Renegades the 2019 champion of the Women's Football Alliance Based on extensive interviews with women players and focusing closely on leagues teams and athletes since the passage of Title IX in 1972 Russ Crawford illuminates the rich history of the women who have played football breaking barriers on and off the field
