Great River Review Number 31 Fallwinter 1999:

The Life and Poetry of Ted Kooser Mary K. Stillwell, 2013-09-01 Like a flash of lightning it came to him the unathletic high school student Ted Kooser saw a future as a famous poet that promised everything glory immortality a bohemian lifestyle no more doing dishes no more cleaning his room and particularly important to the lonely teenager girls Unlike most kids with a sudden ambition Kooser winner of the Pulitzer Prize for Poetry and thirteenth poet laureate of the United States made good on his dream But glory was a long time coming and along the way Kooser lived the life that has made his poetry what it is as deeply grounded in family work and the natural world as it is attuned to the nuances of language Just as so much of Kooser's own writing weaves geography history and family stories into its measures so does this first critical biography consider the poet's work and life together his upbringing in Iowa his studies in Nebraska with poet Karl Shapiro as mentor his career in insurance his family life his bout with cancer and always his poetry Combining a fine appreciation of Kooser's work and life this book finally provides a fuller and more complex picture of a writer who perhaps more than any other has brought the Great Plains and the Midwest lived large and small into the poetry of our day Midamerica ,1983

Brown, 2024-05-21 The fascinating history of the St Louis Bridge the first steel structure in the world In Spanning the Gilded Age John K Brown tells the daring improbable story of the construction of the St Louis Bridge known popularly as the Eads Bridge Completed in 1874 it was the first structure of any kind anywhere in the world built of steel This history details the origins design construction and enduring impact of a unique feat of engineering and it illustrates how Americans built their urban infrastructure during the nineteenth century With three graceful arches spanning the Mississippi River the Eads Bridge's twin decks carried a broad boulevard above a dual track railroad To place its stone piers on bedrock engineer James Eads pioneered daring innovations that allowed excavators to work one hundred feet beneath the river With construction scarcely begun Eads circulated a prospectus offering a 400 percent return on investment that attracted wealthy investors including J Pierpont Morgan in New York and his father Junius in London This record breaking design which employed a novel method to lay its foundations and an untried metal for its arches was projected by a steamboat man who had never before designed a bridge By detailing influential figures such as James Eads the Morgans Andrew Carnegie and Jay Gould Spanning the Gilded Age offers new perspectives on an era that saw profound changes in business engineering governance and society Beyond the bridge itself Brown explores a broader story how America became urban industrial and interconnected This triumph of engineering reflects the Gilded Age s grand ambitions and the bridge remains a vital transportation artery today

Vulnerability and Security in Human Rights Literature and Visual Culture Alexandra Schultheis Moore,2015-10-23 This book responds to the failures of human rights the way its institutions and norms reproduce geopolitical imbalances and social exclusions through an analysis of how literary and visual culture can make visible human rights claims that are foreclosed in official discourses Moore draws on theories of vulnerability precarity and dispossession to argue for the necessity of recognizing the embodied and material contexts of human rights subjects At the same time she demonstrates how these theories run the risk of reproducing the structural imbalances that lie at the core of critiques of human rights Pairing conventional human rights genres legal instruments human rights reports reportage and humanitarian campaigns with literary and visual culture Moore develops a transnational feminist reading praxis of five sites of rights and their violation over the past fifty years UN human rights instruments and child soldiers in Nigerian literature human rights reporting and novels that address state sponsored ethnocide in Zimbabwe the international humanitarian campaigns and disaster capitalism in fiction of Bhopal India the work of M decins Sans Fronti res in the Sahel Afghanistan Democratic Republic of Congo and Burma as represented in various media campaigns and in photo graphic narratives and finally the human rights campaigns fiction and film that have brought Indonesia s history of anti leftist violence into contemporary public debate These case studies underscore how human rights norms are always subject to conditions of imaginative representation and how literature and visual culture participate in that cultural imaginary Expanding feminist theories of embodied and imposed vulnerability Moore demonstrates the importance of situating human rights violations not only in the context of neo liberal development policies but also in relation to the growth of security networks that serve the nation state often at the expense of the security of specific subjects and populations In place of conventional victims and agents the intersection of vulnerability and human rights opens up readings of human rights claims and suffering that are at once embodied and shareable yet which run the risk of cooptation by security rhetoric
