This Great Unknowing Denise Levertov, 2013-10-07 When Denise Levertov died on December 20 1997 she left behind forty finished poems which now form her last collection This Great Unknowing Few poets have possessed so great a gift or so great a body of work when she died at 74 she had been a published poet for more than half a century The poems themselves shine with the artistry of a writer at the height of her powers      A Study Guide for Denise Levertov's "What Were They Like?" Gale, Cengage Learning, 2016      The Poetry of Grief, Gratitude, and Reverence John Brehm, 2024-09-17 A new anthology from the editor of the bestselling Poetry of Impermanence Mindfulness and Joy Explorations on a journey through the darkest and brightest moments of our lives the poems gathered here are explorations of loss of thanksgiving of transformation Some show a path forward and others simply acknowledge and empathize with where we are but all are celebrations of poetry's ability to express what seemed otherwise inexpressible to touch deep inside our hearts and also pull ourselves out of our selves and into greater connection with the world around us Includes poems by Rainer Maria Rilke Robert Frost Elizabeth Bishop Czeslaw Milosz Seamus Heaney Billy Collins Joy Harjo Danusha Lameris Ada Limon Kevin Young Arthur Sze Ellen Bass Li Young Lee Natasha Trethewey and many more The editor also includes an essay on appreciative attention and links to guided meditations for select poems offering us a chance to have an even deeper experience of reflection      The Letters of Robert Duncan and Denise Levertov Robert Edward Duncan, Robert J. Bertholf, Albert Gelpi, 2004 This volume presents the complete correspondence between two of the most important and influential American poets of the postwar period The almost 500 letters range widely over the poetry scene and the issues that made the period so lively and productive But what gives the exchange its special personal and literary resonance is the sense of spiritual affinity and shared conviction about the power of the visionary imagination Duncan and Levertov explore these matters in rich detail until under the stress of dealing with the Vietnam War in poetry they discover deep seated differences in the religious and ethical convictions underlying their politics and poetic stance The issues that drew them together and those that drove them apart create a powerful personal drama with far reaching historical and cultural significance The editors have provided a critical Introduction full notes a chronology and a glossary of names      Denise Levertov Dana Greene, 2012-09-30 Kenneth Rexroth called Denise Levertov 1923 1997 the most subtly skillful poet of her generation the most profound and the most moving Author of twenty four volumes of poetry four books of essays and several translations Levertov became a lauded and honored poet Born in England she published her first book of poems at age twenty three but it was not until she married and came to the United States in 1948 that she found her poetic voice helped by the likes of William Carlos Williams Robert Duncan and Robert Creeley Shortly before her death in 1997 the woman who claimed no country as home was nominated to be America's poet laureate Levertov was the quintessential romantic She wanted to live vividly intensely passionately and on a grand scale She wanted the persistence of Cézanne and the depth and generosity of Rilke Once she acclimated herself to America the dreamy lyric poetry of her early years gave way to the joy and wonder of ordinary life By the late 1960s and early 1970s however her poems began to engage the issues of her times Vehement and strident her poetry of protest was both acclaimed and criticized The end of both the Vietnam War and her marriage left her mentally fatigued and emotionally fragile but gradually over the span of a decade she emerged with new energy The crystalline and luminous poetry of her last years stands as final witness to a lifetime of searching for the mystery embedded in life itself Through all the vagaries of life and art her response was that of a primary wonder In this illuminating biography Dana Greene examines Levertov's interviews essays and self-revelatory poetry to discern the conflict and torment she both endured and created in her attempts to deal with her own psyche her relationships with family friends lovers colleagues and the times in which she lived Denise Levertov A Poet's Life is the first complete biography of Levertov a woman who claimed she did not want a biography insisting that it was her work that she hoped would endure And yet she confessed that her poetry in its various forms lyric political natural and religious derived from her life experience Although a substantial body of criticism has established Levertov as a major poet of the later twentieth century this volume represents the first attempt to set her poetry within the framework of her often tumultuous life Science as Sacred Metaphor
