because it causes illness to modern urban fables such as Barack Obama being a Muslim Unpacks each myth in turn explaining why it arose how it spread and why the beliefs that stem from it are questionable Includes a fascinating discussion about human nature and the main characteristics that predispose us to create and circulate myths to begin with Underpinned by a wide knowledge of academic research it is written by two respected religion scholars and experienced authors World War II, Film, and History John Whiteclay Chambers II, David Culbert, 1996-10-10 The immediacy and perceived truth of the visual image as well as film and television's ability to propel viewers back into the past place the genre of the historical film in a special category War films including antiwar films have established the prevailing public image of war in the twentieth century For American audiences the dominant image of trench warfare in World War I has been provided by feature films such as All Quiet on the Western Front and Paths of Glory The image of combat in the Second World War has been shaped by films like Sands of Iwo Jima and The Longest Day And despite claims for the alleged impact of widespread television coverage of the Vietnam War it is actually films such as Apocalypse Now and Platoon which have provided the most powerful images of what is seen as the reality of that much disputed conflict But to what degree does history written with lightning as Woodrow Wilson allegedly said represent the reality of the past To what extent is visual history an oversimplification or even a distortion of the past Exploring the relationship between moving images and the society and culture in which they were produced and received World War II Film and History addresses the power these images have had in determining our perception and memories of war Examining how the public memory of war in the twentieth century has often been created more by a manufactured past than a remembered one a leading group of historians discusses films dating from the early 1930s through the early 1990s created by filmmakers the world over from the United States and Germany to Japan and the former Soviet Union For example Freda Freiberg explains how the inter racial melodramatic Japanese feature film China Nights in which a manly and protective Japanese naval officer falls in love with a beautiful young Chinese street waif and molds her into a cultured submissive wife proved enormously popular with wartime Japanese and helped justify the invasion of China in the minds of many Japanese viewers Peter Paret assesses the historical accuracy of Kolberg as a depiction of an unsuccessful siege of that German city by a French Army in 1807 and explores how the film released by Hitler's regime in January 1945 explicitly called for civilian sacrifice and last ditch resistance Stephen Ambrose contrasts what we know about the historical reality of the Allied D Day landings in Normandy on June 6 1944 with the 1962 release of The Longest Day in which the major climactic moment in the film never happened at Normandy Alice Kessler Harris examines The Life and Times of Rosie the Riveter a 1982 film documentary about women defense workers on the American home front in World War II emphasizing the degree to which the documentary's engaging main characters and its message of the need for fair and equal treatment for women resonates with many contemporary viewers And Clement Alexander Price contrasts Men of Bronze William Miles's fine documentary about black American soldiers who fought in France in World War I with Liberators

the controversial documentary by Miles and Nina Rosenblum which incorrectly claimed that African American troops liberated Holocaust survivors at Dachau in World War II In today s visually oriented world powerful images even images of images are circulated in an eternal cycle gaining increased acceptance through repetition History becomes an endless loop in which repeated images validate and reconfirm each other Based on archival materials many of which have become only recently available World War II Film and History offers an informative and a disturbing look at the complex relationship between national myths and filmic memory as well as the dangers of visual images being transformed into reality Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals ,1986 Professional Journal of the United States Army ,1987 The Cold War and its Origins, 1917-1960 D.F. Fleming,2021-01-26 This book first published in 1961 is an analysis of the great struggle of the twentieth century the Cold War It carefully examines the conflict s origins in the Russian Revolution of 1917 and follows the thread of antagonism between west and east all the way up to 1960 These were the key years of the Cold War when it seemed that the prospect of nuclear confrontation was a real one and this book offers a close reading of the main events of those years This volume concentrates on the European theatre and Volume Two focuses on the Cold War in the East Military Review ,1987 Congressional Record United States. House. Committee on Small Business. Subcommittee on Tax, Access to Equity Capital, and Business Opportunities,1983 The Human Face of War Jim Storr,2009-05-25 Warfare is hugely important The fates of nations and even continents often rests on the outcome of war and thus on how its practitioners consider war The Human Face of War is a new exploration of military thought It starts with the observation that much military thought is poorly developed often incoherent and riddled with paradox The author contends that what is missing from British and American writing on warfare is any underpinning mental approach or philosophy Why are some tank commanders snipers fighter pilots or submarine commanders far more effective than others Why are many generals sacked at the outbreak of war The Human Face of War examines such phenomena and seeks to explain them The author argues that military thought should be based on an approach which reflects the nature of combat Combat fighting is primarily a human phenomenon dominated by human behaviour The book explores some of those human issues and their practical consequences The Human Face of War calls for and suggests a new way of considering war and warfare A Supplement (1971-1986) to Robert G.
