Great Road The Life And Times Of Chu Teh:

Great Road Agnes Smedley, 1972 Chu Teh one of the legendary figures of the Chinese Revolution was born in 1886 He was commander in chief of the People's Revolutionary Army and this is the story of the first sixty years of his life As a supreme commanding general he was probably unique surely there has never been another commander in chief who during his years of service spun wove set type grew and cooked his own food wrote poetry and lectured not only to his troops on military strategy and tactics but to women's classes on how to preserve vegetables Evans Carlson wrote that Chu Teh has the kindness of a Robert E Lee the tenacity of a Grant and the humility of a Lincoln More than a biography this work by a great American woman journalist who took the account from Chu Teh himself is a social and historical document of the highest value The Great Road Agnes Smedley, 2022-04-26 2022 Reprint of the 1956 Edition Exact facsimile of the original edition and not reproduced with Optical Recognition Software A manuscript of this book was left by Miss Smedley at the time of her death in England in 1950 It has the greatest value both for historians and for the general reader Miss Smedley spent many evenings over a period of years with Teh probing his life history recording his reminiscences and answers to her questions As a biography of the leader of the Chinese Red Army therefore this book is and will remain unique a priceless documentary source for all historians of the Chinese Revolution present and future But it is much more than that By skillfully weaving the story of Chu Teh into the context of Chinese social and political development Miss Smedley has succeeded in making modern Chinese history come alive as no other author has done The drama of the desperately poor peasant boy from a remote region of China who became one of the two principal organizers and guiding spirits of one of the greatest revolutions of all time this is Miss Smedley's theme and she handles it superbly Moreover thanks to Chu Teh's vivid childhood recollections we have here an unsurpassed picture of Chinese peasant life and how it gave rise to the movement which finally brought regeneration to nearly a quarter of the human race Few Americans know China and its people as well as Agnes Smedley did Her career as correspondent in China started in 1929 when she wrote for the Frankfurter Zeitung and later for the Manchester Guardian When the Japanese invaded China Miss Smedley went to the front with the Chinese Eighth Route Army and later became a field member of the Chinese Red Cross Medical Corps in the war zones She spent two years on the battleground in China covering thousands of miles of that vast country She returned to the United States shortly before Pearl Harbor and here completed the first draft of The Great Road She was on her way back to her beloved China when she died The Great Road Agnes 1892-1950 Smedley, 2021-09-09 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public To ensure a quality reading experience this work has been

Daughter of Earth Agnes Smedley,1987 A precious priceless book from the foreword by Alice Walker An entire society is limned in the pages of this book The power of Daughter of Earth lies in the erotic heat which informs every page of the book erotic in the original Greek sense of life force Vivian Gornick The Village Voice Suggested for course use in U S literatureworking class studies Agnes Smedley 1892 1950 also wrote five books about China including Portrait Of Chinese Women in Revolution 0 912670 44 4 PB 1 55861 075 8 HC The Feminist Press

Choosing Revolution Helen Praeger Young,2010-10-01 Some two thousand women participated in the Long March but their experience of this seminal event in the history of Communist China is rarely represented In Choosing Revolution Helen Praeger Young presents her interviews with twenty two veterans of the Red Army s legendary 6 000 mile retreat to victory before the advancing Nationalist Army Enormously rich in detail Young s Choosing Revolution reveals the complex interplay between women s experiences and the official almost mythic version of the Long March In addition to their riveting stories of the march itself Young s subjects reveal much about what it meant in China to grow up female and in many cases poor during the first decades of the twentieth century In speaking about the work they did and how they adapted to the demands of being a soldier these women both educated individuals who were well known leaders and illiterate peasants reveal the Long March as only one of many segments of the revolutionary paths they chose Against a background of diverse perspectives on the Long March Young presents the experiences of four women in detail one who brought her infant daughter with her on the Long March one who gave birth during the march one who was a child participant and one who attended medical school during the march Young also includes the stories of three women who did not finish the Long March Her unique record of ordinary women in revolutionary circumstances reveals the tenacity and resilience that led these individuals far beyond the limits of most Chinese women s lives

The Long March Sun Shuyun,2008-05-06 In The Long March Sun Shuyun uncovers the true story behind the mythic march of Mao s soldiers across China exposing the famine disease and desertion behind the legend In 1934 in the midst of civil war the Communist party and its 200 000 soldiers were forced from their bases by Chiang Kai shek and his Nationalist troops Led by Mao Tse Tung they set off on a strategic retreat to the barren north of China thousands of miles away As Sun Shuyun travels along the march route her interviews with survivors and villagers show that the forces at work during the days of the revolution poverty sickness and Mao s use of terror propaganda and ruthless purges have shaped modern China irrevocably Uncovering the forced recruitment political infighting and futile deaths behind the myth Shuyun creates a compelling narrative of a turning point in modern Chinese history and a fascinating journey that spans China old and new

The Origins of the Cultural Revolution Roderick MacFarquhar, 1999-11 This is the final volume in a trilogy that examines the politics personalities economics culture and international relations of China from the mid 1950s to the mid 1960s It seeks to answer the central question Why did Chairman Mao Zedong launch the Cultural Revolution 1966-76 which plunged China into chaos and almost destroyed its Communist Party The Coming of the Cataclysm starts with the great famine of the early 1960s which resulted in tens of millions of deaths and set in train a series of emergency measures that increasingly divided Mao from his comrades in arms His anger that they were prepared to adopt capitalist methods to rescue the country was sharpened by his belief that Moscow had actually gone capitalist and sold out to the imperialist West From 1961 to 1966 the period covered by this volume the increasingly urgent question for Mao was how to prevent a similar revolutionary degeneration in China The Cultural Revolution was his answer Drawing upon new evidence from Party documents personal interviews books and journals MacFarquhar details the growing rift between Mao and his colleagues as they attempted to cope with domestic privation and an increasingly hostile international environment until the Chairman finally decided to smash the unity of the Yan an Round Table by unleashing society against the party state

Mao Tse-Tung And Operational Art During The Chinese Civil War Major Thomas P. Reilly, 2015-11-06 This monograph examines the nature of operational art during the third and final phase of the Chinese Civil War 1945-1949 During this period Mao Tse Tung and the Red Army fought Chiang Kai shek and the Nationalist Army for the military and political control of China The initial portion of the monograph discusses the areas of military strategy and the development of operational art This area was developed using contemporary monographs research projects and professional journal articles Professional military journals such as Parameters and Military Review publish relevant articles covering these subjects on a recurring basis The majority of the information covering Mao s thoughts and writings were drawn from The Selected Works of Mao Tse Tung published in Beijing China by the Foreign Languages Press The section dealing with the essence of operational art was developed primarily from James Schneider s theoretical paper Vulcan s Anvil The American Civil War and the Emergence of Operational Art In this paper Schneider identifies defines and argues that eight key attributes must exist for the fullest expression of operational art to be manifested These eight attributes are the distributed operation the distributed campaign a system of continuous logistics instantaneous command and control the operationally durable formation operational vision the distributed enemy and distributed deployment This monograph uses Schneider s eight key attributes of operational art as a measure of effectiveness for evaluating the use of operational art during the Chinese Civil War This monograph concludes that while Mao Tse Tung was one step removed from the operational level of war the commanders of the Red Army guided by his theory of protracted war and his controlling strategy successfully applied operational art to decisively defeat a larger better equipped and trained military force in a sequential series of battles and engagements

The Making of China's War with Japan Mayumi Itoh, 2016-10-03 This cutting edge study examines the career of Chinese politician and diplomat Zhou Enlai 1898 1976 and assesses his leadership role in the Communist Party of China's CPC strategy against the Japanese invasion of China which established the foundation for post World War II Sino Japanese relations It considers how Zhou dealt with Japanese imperialism during his midcareer from the May Fourth Movement to the formation of the second United Front between the Chinese Nationalist Party KMT and the CPC against Japan which paved the way for the Chinese victory in the second Sino Japanese War Addressing significant moments such as the Manchurian Incident and the Xi'an Incident it provides a thought provoking reexamination of Zhou's involvement in the May Fourth Movement of 1919 the first national grassroots movement in the modern history of China calling for anti imperialism and nationalism and also of his time in Europe as essential background to understand the birth of the CPC and Zhou's role in it as well as Zhou's collaboration with Zhang Xueliang the culprit of the Xi'an Incident Through an in depth analysis of primary sources including Zhou's own writings the oral history of Chinese officials and newly declassified diplomatic archives this work presents a comprehensive and accurate account of Zhou's career against the backdrop of Japanese imperialism China, Liberation and
