Mok,Maggie K. W. Lau,2013-11-07 East Asia is at the heart of the global economic transformation and the countries of the region are witnessing rapidly changing labour markets alongside the pressure to cut production costs and lower taxes in order to become successful competition states These changes have resulted in increased welfare demands which governments organizations and agencies across the region have had to address This book examines welfare regimes in the Greater China region encompassing mainland China Hong Kong Macao and Taiwan In so doing it explores the ways in which the rapid growth and internationalisation of the economy across Greater China is presenting new social policy challenges that governments social welfare organizations and agencies in the region are having to respond to Rather than simply describing and categorising welfare systems the contributors to this volume add to our understanding of how one of the major economic transformations of the contemporary era in East Asia is shaping welfare provision in the region In turn in this context of economic change they examine the new strategies and measures that have been adopted in order to reduce the heavy burden on the state in terms of welfare provision whilst also attempting to diversify funding and provision sources to meet the pressing welfare needs Based upon extensive fieldwork by leading scholars of social policy this book will appeal to students and scholars of Asian social policy comparative development and social policy social welfare and Chinese studies

Economic Development and Social Change in South India ,1962 The Concept of Social Change (Routledge Revivals) Anthony D. Smith,2010-01-14 Anthony Smith s important work on the concept of social change first published in 1973 puts forward the paradigm of historical change as an alternative to the functionalist theory of evolutionary change He shows that in attempting to provide a theory of social change functionalism reveals itself as a species of frozen evolutionism Functionalism he argues is unable to cope with the mechanisms of historical transitions or account for novelty and emergence it confuses classification of variations with explanation of processes and its endogenous view of change prevents it from coming to grips with the real events and transformations of the historical record In his assessment of functionalism Dr Smith traces its explanatory failures in its accounts of the developments of civilisation modernisation and revolution He concludes that the study of evolution is largely irrelevant to the investigation of social change He proposes instead an exogenous paradigm of social change which places the study of contingent historical events at its centre Education and
