Heaman, 2022-08-15 Colonial Canada changed enormously between the 1760s and the 1860s the Conquest and Confederation but the idea of civilization seen to guide those transformations changed still more A cosmopolitan and optimistic theory of history was written into the founding Canadian constitution as a check on state violence only to be reversed and undone over the next century Civilization was hegemony a contradictory theory of unrestrained power and restraints on that power Occupying a middle ground between British and American hegemonies all the different peoples living in Canada felt those contradictions very sharply Both Britain and America came to despair of bending Canada violently to their will and new forms of hegemony a greater reckoning with soft power emerged in the wake of those failures E A Heaman shows that the view from colonial Canada matters for intellectual and political history Canada posed serious challenges to the Scottish Enlightenment the Pax Britannica American manifest destiny and the emerging model of the nation state David Hume s theory of history shaped the Canadian imaginary in constitutional documents much thumbed histories and a certain liberal conservative political and financial orientation But as settlers flooded across the continent cosmopolitanism became chauvinism and the idea of civilization was put to accomplishing plunder and predation on a transcontinental scale Case studies show crucial moments of conceptual reversal some broadly representative and some unique to Canada Dissecting the Seven Years War domestic relations the fiscal military state liberal reform social statistics
