Eight Decades Agnes Repplier, 1970 Encyclopedia of the Essay Tracy Chevalier, 2012-10-12 This groundbreaking new source of international scope defines the essay as nonfictional prose texts of between one and 50 pages in length The more than 500 entries by 275 contributors include entries on nationalities various categories of essays such as generic such as sermons aphorisms individual major works notable writers and periodicals that created a market for essays and particularly famous or significant essays The preface details the historical development of the essay and the alphabetically arranged entries usually include biographical sketch nationality era selected writings list additional readings and anthologies

Catalogue of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1937 Reading for Realism Nancy Glazener, 1997 Reading for Realism presents a new approach to U S literary history that is based on the analysis of dominant reading practices rather than on the production of texts Nancy Glazener s focus is the realist novel the most influential literary form of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries a form she contends was only made possible by changes in the expectations of readers about pleasure and literary value By tracing readers collaboration in the production of literary forms Reading for Realism turns nineteenth century controversies about the realist romance and sentimental novels into episodes in the history of readership It also shows how works of fiction by Rebecca Harding Davis Henry James Nathaniel Hawthorne and others participated in the debates about literary classification and reading that in turn created and shaped their audiences Combining reception theory with a materialist analysis of the social formations in which realist reading practices circulated Glazener s study reveals the elitist underpinnings of literary realism At the book s center is the Atlantic group of magazines whose influence was part of the cultural machinery of the Northeastern urban bourgeoisie and crucial to the development of literary realism in America Glazener shows how the promotion of realism by this group of publications also meant a consolidation of privilege primarily in terms of class gender race and region for the audience it served Thus American realism so often portrayed as a quintessentially populist form actually served to enforce existing structures of class and power Wisconsin Library Bulletin , 1935 Gender and American Social Science Helene Silverberg, 2021-03-09 This collection of essays provides the first systematic and multidisciplinary analysis of the role of gender in the formation and dissemination of the American social sciences in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Other books have traced the history of academic social science without paying attention to gender or have described women s social activism while ignoring its relation to the production of new social knowledge In contrast this volume draws long overdue attention to the ways in which changing gender relations shaped the development and organization of the new social knowledge And it challenges the privileged position that academic and mostly male social science has been granted in traditional histories by showing how women produced and popularized new forms of social knowledge in such places as settlement houses and the Russell Sage Foundation The book s varied perspectives building on recent work in history and feminist theory break from the traditional view of the social sciences as objective bodies of expert knowledge Contributors examine new forms of social knowledge rather as discourses about gender relations and as methods of cultural critique The book will create a new framework for understanding the development of both social science and the history of gender relations in the United States The contributors are Guy Alchon Nancy Berlage Desley Deacon Mary Dietz James Farr Nancy Folbre Kathryn Kish Sklar Dorothy Ross Helene Silverberg and Kamala Visweswaran Routledge Companion to Ba Jin Chen Chang,Liu Tianyi,Chen Sihe,2023-09-19 Exploring the creations of Ba Jin 1904 2005 one of the most significant writers in modern China this edited volume offers in depth discussions of the writer and his works from a global perspective to initiate and advance dialogues between the Chinese and English speaking scholarly communities The four sections of the book provide readers with a detailed biography and an overview of research on Ba Jin since the 1980s to reflect on the academic achievements of several generations in China In addition it includes a selected collection of articles from Korean German and French scholars These articles cover Ba Jin s life thoughts personality literary creation editing publishing and other aspects of the research This companion aims to provide an alternative lens for Chinese literature studies in a global context It will be an essential read to students and scholars of East Asian studies Chinese studies and those interested in modern Chinese literature
